Eagles Mere Chautauqua.

Sixth Annual Assembly—A Choice Program. Improvements at the Inn.

The sixth annual assembly of the Eagles Mere Chautauqua begins today and promises to be quite successful.

The program will give variety and novelty and prove both pleasing and instructive. Each person has been engaged because what he or she has to offer will be of interest to the people. The program this season is made up almost entirely of talent which has never before appeared at Eagles Mere, but, nevertheless, come highly recommended.

The Chautauqua Inn has been greatly improved since last season, and guests will find many conveniences not had previously.

The parlor has been covered with a handsome brussels carpet and refurnished, while two fine planos have been placed in addition to the one formerly in the reception room.

A first-class orchestra has been engaged to furnish choice music during the season, and our readers will find the Inn an enjoyable place to spend a portion of the heated season.

Edgar R. Kiess and Will A. Kitchen look after the comfort of the guests of the Inn, which is a guarantee that nothing will be lacking in that line.

Murder Suicide at Wilburton.

Carmel Friday morning, wrote some letters at the Commercial Hotel, and went to Midvalley, where about 8:30 he found his wife busy with the family wash.

He, without giving her any warning, shot her in the back and running into the next room shot himself in the stomach, and later went to the garret and finished the job by putting a bullet in his heart.

His wife, Lena, 28 years, old, is a daughter of Samuel Yoder, of Mt. Carmel.

The cause for the deed is the usual nature, he charging her with infidelity and had at different times threatened to shoot her; on the other hand the dead man was addicted to drinking heavily.

Competitor for Company Store.

Working people at Pittston, who have been howling over the company stores, will now have a store of their own: Application will be made for a charter for the Pittston Equitable and Co-operative Association, which has for its object the establishment of a workingman's store on a scale similar to that carried out in Scotland. The idea is arousing considerable interest, and the promoters have secured 400 stockholders. A large building will be visitor to Bloomsburg, and was, direct the music. Rev. C. M. Death on Saturday saddened the home of W. H. Snyder, near Roaringcreek, when his wife, after a short illness, was called from earth. She was in the thirty-fifth year of her age, and leaves a family of seven small children. She was a kind neighbor and highly esteemed. The funeral took place on Tuesday morning, interment at Hendrickson's church.

The season for poison ivy having arrived again, our readers are reminded that the plantain found in every yard is one of the surest remedies known. When poisoned by ivy, gather some plantain leaves and steep them in water, then bathe the afflicted parts with the liquid at frequent intervals. The plantain "tea" can be bottled and carried about for several days without detriment.
