

Resolutions by Bloomsburg Council No. 957 Royal Arcanum.

Our nation has been ruthlessly plunged into deepest sorrow by the death of President Wm. McKinley through the dastardly act of a cowardly assassin.

Resolved, therefore, by Bloomsburg Council No. 957 Royal Arcanum, that we recognize in our late President the most exalted virtues of a true Christian character, a broad and comprehensive statesmanship, and the beauty and sweetness of a pure home life.

Resolved, that this Council views with concern the establishment of anarchistic doctrines, and the toleration of unbridled speech in the United States, and most emphatically declares its purpose to aid in creating sentiment in this country for a truer American spirit and for the adoption of such legislation as will forever banish from our land all anarchists, who are ever a menace to true liberty.

Resolved, that our tenderest sympathy is expressed for the bereaved widow, and our earnest prayers offered that she may be sustained and comforted in her great sorrow.

Resolved, that these resolutions be incorporated in the minutes of this evening's meeting.

J. C. BROWN, H. P. CHAMBERLIN, J. K. MILLER.

Friday evening, Sept. 20th, 1901. President McKinley was a charter member of the Canton, Ohio, Council, and for many years has shown an interest in the objects and aims of the fraternity. The order at large deeply mourns its loss.

Memorial Life of President McKinley. A Standard Historical Work.

From the Buffalo Express, Sept. 17.

The World Publishing Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., are issuing the best of all the forthcoming books on the life of the late President McKinley. It will be a magnificent work, profusely illustrated, written by Murat Halstead, a celebrated war correspondent, the man that was selected by the Government of the late President McKinley to write the official report on the Philippine Islands. Murat Halstead has been a life-long friend of President McKinley, and it will be a labor of love for him to finish this book, which has long been in preparation. It will be complete, his boyhood, manhood, war services, political and social life, assassination, full account of the assassin and the anarchist's conspiracy connected therewith, medical treatment, death, burial and state funeral.

The work will be sold by subscription, and is so cheap and so excellent that every family should have a copy.

The Ladies' Home Journal for October is, perhaps, the best number of this magazine ever issued. The literary features include "How the Leopard Got His Spots," by Rudyard Kipling, "A Fifth Avenue Trobadour," by Ernest Seton-Thompson; the first instalment of "A Gentleman of the Blue Grass," by Laura Spencer Porter; the last of "Miss Alcott's Letters to Her 'Laurie,'" and the closing chapters of "Aileen." "Some Things the President Does Not Do," a collection of anecdotes about Whistler, the artist, and Mr. Bok's advice to a young man about to marry are important features. The regular editorial departments are supplemented by nine new ones of great interest, among which Professor Edward Howard Griggs's talks on "The Education of a Child from Eleven to Eighteen," Prof. Schumucker's "Seeing Things Outdoors," and Miss Withey's "Writing and Speaking Correctly" are noteworthy. The illustrations and art features are superb. By the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a number.

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Sept. 21, 1901.

The body of President McKinley has been borne away to his home at Canton, but an atmosphere of funeral solemnity still envelops the city. Even the skies seem reflecting the mood of the people, for every day since Monday has been wet and windy, with an autumn chill in the air. The two days of mourning, Tuesday and Thursday, have checked and interrupted business, and little save what is necessary to daily life has been done.

The informal funeral cortege which passed up Pennsylvania avenue Monday night was the most impressive that historic thoroughfare has ever seen. As the casket went by on its way to the White House, the street was lined with people, and instead of turning away and going to their homes they silently fell into line behind it, and followed it, unbidden and unheralded, to the White House gates. There was no music, and the long procession moved almost in absolute silence. Now and then some one would begin to sing "The President's Hymn," and those nearest would join in the singing till the pathetic melody of "Nearer my God, to Thee" filled the air.

There were some unhappy incidents at the public ceremonies in spite of the efforts of the police to repress all that was not in harmony with the occasion. The photograph fiend was among those present, and one of these genies had the impudence to squeeze his way through the crowd and try to get a snap-shot of President Roosevelt just as the casket was lifted out of the hearse. The flash of light startled the horses attached to the hearse, and they reared, and were only checked by prompt action on the part of the attendants.

A much more serious incident, however, was the crush which occurred on the steps of the Capitol. At 1 o'clock there was an immense concourse in front of the Capitol, covering the steps and the walks, all the way down to the Peace Monument and for several blocks beyond. There must have been several thousands in the thickest of the crowd alone. When the doors were opened—some say before they were opened—there was a rush. It is claimed that somebody said the way was clear into the rotunda, and that that started the pushing. Then some mounted policemen lost their heads and spurred their horses into the mass of humanity, and got caught in it, so that the plunging, frightened animals added to the peril. It seems as if a police department as well used to handling large crowds as is that of Washington, ought to have known better than to allow such an occurrence.

In a few minutes nearly a hundred persons were injured, many of them seriously; and the room beneath that in which the President lay had to be turned into a hospital filled with groaning, shrieking patients. Some of them had been knocked down and trampled upon.

There was, of course, much work for the detectives in catching and hunting pickpockets, who are always on hand for an occasion like this. Among those who were robbed was General Longstreet, who lost his pocket book and money while standing on the steps of the Capitol, but did not let that interfere with his attending the services, after which he reported the loss to the police.

Foreign nations have expressed their sympathy to an even greater degree than at the time of Garfield's death, which by the way, occurred on Sept. 20, 1881, just twenty years ago. The London Times suggested that it would be becoming in King Edward to request the Duke of Cornwall and York, who is now in Montreal, to attend the funeral. It was impossible for him to do so, but he sent one of his aids who represented him at Canton.

President Roosevelt has done nothing thus far, except to express his determination to carry out, in a general way, the policy of President McKinley. In fact, the chances are that he has not had time to think of much else. He is a man who usually thinks of but one thing at a time, and all the indications are that he is very deeply moved by the recent tragedy, and that his plans for the immediate future have not yet been formed. There are some predictions, however, which are even now made, based on promises and intentions ascribed to him in the past. For example, it has been stated that a long time ago there was an understanding between him and Senator Lodge that the latter should have the position of Secretary of State in the event of Roosevelt's becoming President. On the strength of this it was positively asserted that Hay would resign. But it now appears that Lodge does not want the State portfolio, or at least, that he would rather have the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations. This to one who knows that most of the work of the Senate is done in the Committee rooms, appears quite intelligible. The Cabinet minister works in the arc light of publicity; the chairman of a committee pulls strings which move other people to come out in the electric light and talk and dance. He has the responsibility and the power of a Secretary, minus some of the annoyances. So the fact that Senator Lodge wants the place which Davis, of Minnesota, once honored, shows his sagacity. But there is an interesting little story in this connection.

Senator Cullom is the lion in the way of the Massachusetts Senator, a mild-appearing and white-whiskered lion, but not to be despised for all that. Senator Frye of Maine would be the natural successor of Davis, but he is well satisfied with his present chairmanship of the Committee on Commerce, and Shelby M. Cullom is next in succession. A considerable number of Republican Senators object to him partly because they believe Lodge the better man for the place. He is backed, however, by several influential men of his own party, and most specially by Senator Hanna. Now, the question is, can Lodge, with Roosevelt backing him, make Senator Cullom budge from his firm position on Senatorial etiquette and under the wing of Senator Hanna? It is a political problem, for the future to solve. Meanwhile, it is said that Root will be moved over into the place of Secretary Hay should the latter choose to resign. It is also said that Roosevelt will not be candidate for the Presidency in 1904, but it is too soon to speculate on that matter.

Columbia County Fair at Bloomsburg, Pa.

The 47th annual fair of the Columbia County Agricultural Society, will be held October 8, 9, 10 and 11th, 1901. The management have spared no pains to make this the best exhibition in the history of the Association. We invite not only citizens of our own County, but the world to compete for the handsome premiums offered for the products of the farm and household. The Railroads leading to this great Fair, will run special trains at reduced rates during the three big days of the Fair. The grounds are in excellent condition, conveniently located and well equipped to accommodate the thousands of annual visitors. The track has been covered with good clay soil since last Fair, and is now in the pink of condition and lovers of sport may expect to see the track record of 2:14 lowered.

The races for Wednesday will be 2:17 class pace, 2:27 class trot, 2:25 class pace, and 2:40 class for county horses.

Thursday the 2:13 class pace, 2:20 class trot, 2:21 class pace and colt race. Friday 2:15 class trot, 2:09 class trot, or pace and 2:24 class trot.

New features in the way of attractions will appear daily before the Grand stand between heats of the races. Premium lists will be forwarded upon application made to the Secretary. A. N. Yost, Secretary.

Street Cars Must Wait.

An interesting supreme court decision in New York holds that a woman in getting off a street car must be given time to gather up her skirts, in addition to time to step down from the car platform. It is further held that it is the conductor's duty to see that her skirts are clear of any car fittings or attachments before he starts the car. If he starts before he assures himself that they are free he is guilty of negligence. The court, on the other hand, does not consider that a woman is negligent to travel upon a car with a dress so long that it will be more than likely to catch upon such appliances as necessarily extend above the platform, such as bell plungers, etc.

Exposure

To cold and stormy weather opens the way to an attack of bronchitis. The man on the wagon, be he farmer, milkman or truckman, needs to pay special heed to the first symptoms of weakness or disease of the organs of respiration.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure bronchitis, deep-seated coughs, bleeding of the lungs, and other conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate fatally in consumption.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

"For seven years I had been troubled with what the doctors called 'bronchitis,'" writes Mr. Arthur Manie (general merchant), of Niles-ton, Middlesex Co., Ontario. "A year ago, after I had been taken sick with a severe attack, I began taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I rapidly recovered from the attack and felt no more of it that fall. This season I began taking the 'Discovery' in August, and have so far been perfectly well. I can go out in all kinds of weather and feel the bronchial trouble at all. Let me say to all who are suffering from such complaints to give Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a fair trial, and I am convinced that good results will be obtained."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper-bound, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only, or 31 stamps for the book in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A writer in an educational journal strikes a very forcible truth when he says: "Thirty years ago if a young man made up his mind to go to college the first question propounded to himself was, 'How can I earn the money?' With the ordinary young man of today such a question would be, 'To whom can I look to get the money?' The writer's line of thought tends to show that nowadays too many of the growing generation depend almost entirely on the influence of friends rather than on their own resources. That is all right to a certain extent, but one can never make an indelible impression on the world by using another as his mark. To have influential friends is very acceptable, but to be wholly dependent on them is a mark of weakness an energetic young man should not tolerate.

The city of Scranton is to erect a monument to the memory of President McKinley. The money will be raised by popular subscription.

Let it Alone.

Scott's Emulsion is not a good medicine for fat folks. We have never tried giving it to a real fat person. We don't dare. You see Scott's Emulsion builds new flesh. Fat people don't want it. Strong people don't need it.

But if you are thin Scott's Emulsion is the medicine for you. It doesn't tire you out. There is no strain. The work is all natural and easy. You just take the medicine and that's all there is to it.

The next thing you know you feel better—you eat better—and you weigh more. It is a quiet worker.
