THREE SHARP FIGHTS

Engagements With De Wet and Botha Reported.

BRITISH CASUALTIES WERE HEAVY.

The Battles Occurred on Three Successive Days at Widely Divergent Points In Orange River and Transvaal Colonies.

LONDON, Dec. 25 .- Lord Kitchener h a dispatch from Johannesburg mads reports of sharp fighting in the Grange River and Transvaal colonies. The engagements occurred Dec. 18, 19. and 20 at points widely spart. The casualties, so far as known, aggrerate 150, equally divided, but heavy British losses, the totals of which have not yet been reported, have occurred in the Trunsvaal.

Lord Kitchener reports that during General De Wet's attack on the British force commanded by Generals Dartnell and Campbell at Langberg Dec. 18 the Boers charged bravely and fought desperately for several hours. De Wet was driven off with the loss of twenty men. There were twelve casualties on the side of the British.

On Dec. 20 Botha, with 800 Boers, surprised Colonel Damant's advance guard at Tafelkop, Orange River Colony. The Boers rushed a kopje commanding the main body and the guns. but Dumant rallied his men and drove. the Boers from the kopje.

The British ensualties were heavy. Damant was dangerously wounded, two officers and twenty men were killed, and three officers and seventeen men were wounded. The Boers left six dead on the field and dispersed.

The British pursued the enemy and captured a number of prisoners, ineluding Commandant Keyter. Later the Boers, under a flag of truce, asked permission to remove their dead. They admitted having buried twenty-seven men

In the fight at Tafelkop the Boers, dressed as British yeomen, engaged in a splendid race with the British in the attempt to be first in gaining the crest of the kopje. The Boers gained the commit first and opened a heavy fire on the single troop of Damant's horse which took part in the race for the kople.

These troopers took advantage of all the small amount of cover available immediately below the Boers and fought until all but four of them were killed or wounded. By that time reenforcements of Damant's horse came up and charged and captured the kople.

In the eastern part of the Transvaal Colony Colonel Mackenzie attacked Commandant Smit's force of Boers at Lake Banagher Dec. 20 and killed six and captured sixteen of the enemy. Commandant Smit escaped.

A force of Boers during the night of Dec. 19 attacked the British post at Elandspruit, but the burghers were driven off, leaving eight men killed, including Commandant Krieze. Field Cornet Mahon, who was wounded, and three other men were also left on the teld. Other wounded Boers were carried off in blankets. The British casunities were seven men killed and six officers and eighteen men wounded.

The New Year McClure's.

A splendid New Year's number is the January Mcclure's, making good, right at the start, the promises of the editors for the coming year. To a dog story is given the post of honor, and "Army Jack," by W. J. Carney and Chauncey Thomas, goes straight to the spot by virtue of its soldierly frank-ness and sincerity. "Jack" is an old white sulldog, "sergeant-major of Troop A," and the veteran of the troop. He was bred and lived and fought and died with the army, and he is buried by his comrades with mar-tial honors. "Jack" is illustrated to the life tial honors. by W R. A good many people will, doubtless, open this numler to the page with lonephine Dodge Daskam's name at the top, and they will not be disappointed. "Edgar, the Choir Boy Uncelestial," is, perhaps, the most unregenerated and irresistible of all Mies Daskam's young scamps. He is freckled, pug-noses, a great scrapper and the possessor of an angelic voice. It is easy to imagin what Miss Daskam's humor will to with a youngster like this to work on.

A very notable paper, the first of a series, is Mr. George Washburn Smalley's personal recollections of "English Statesmen and Rulers." Mr. Smalley was for many years the chief American correspondent abroad, and knew well most of the great men and women of his day. In this paper he writer of Roseberry, Aithur Balfour, Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman, H. H. Asquith, and Sir Edward Grey, discussing not their poliics, but their personal qualities and social charm. "The Forest Runners," Stewart Edward White's vigorous novelette of the Michigan forests, is continued in this number.

"Telegraph Talks and Talkers," by L. C. Hall, is a fascinating revelation of some of the mysteries of the Morse language of dots and dashes, by an old telegrapher, chock full of all sorts of apt anecdotes of the wire, unquestionably a great "find" for any magazine. Cyrus Townsend Brady writes a splendid account of David Crockett and the immortal defence of the Alamo; Cleveland Moffett tells of his explorations "In and Around the all payable in cash each Wednesday direct Great Pyramid:" Robert Barr recounts another adventure of his captivating hero, James V. of Scotland, and James Barnes has a rattling story of the Boer War. Two short poems, "Individualism," by William H. Hayne, and "Magic of the Past," by Paul Kester, complete the number.

NEW SUMEER BOOK - The Lackawann Railroad is about to issue a Summer Book for the coming season, in which each town along the line will be attractively written up For the information of those desiring summer homes it has been decided to admit a limited number of advertisements of hotels and boarding houses, and these advertisements will be placed immediately following the reading master relative to the town in which they are located.

The demand for such advertisements has been so great that the Company has decided to modify the policy established a year ago and permit a brief number to appear. It is believed that the change will be a gratifying one to those who are anxious to secure some

To the Pyramids By Trolley.

The Ride from Cairo Through a Rich Farm Land, Not, as Popularly Supposed, Over a Burning Desert.

I fear geographies and picturebooks have half-spoiled the pyramids for many of us by making them seem commonplace, just as children's readers have spoiled some good English poetry. Then Mark Twain has set the fashion of being funny about these venerable piles, and, between the two influences, first impressions are apt to be disturbed. There are tourists who arrive with a flippant "Hello, Cheops, old boy!" There are others who give only tolerant interest, as if they had seen it all before. Yet many of both classes go away finally in reverent silence, wishing people had taught them less-or more-about the pyramids. For one thing, take the matter of dust and heat, in which the picturebook makers have surely misled us, for do they not represent the pyramihs as standing out on a burning waste, with only a naked palm tree every mile or so to keep the glare off, and individuals in queer hats gasping about, halt smothered in the sandstorm? As a watter of fact, the seven-mile drive from Cairo to Cheops comes off as pleasantly as a carriage ride out of Long Branch, and is over as good a road. In the whole world there are no richer fields than these that reach beyond the pyramids, fields giving three or four crops (one in this county required) to represent a year-wheat. rom our Regular Correspondent. Washington, Dec. 21, 1901.

As was to be expected the House of Representatives passed the Philippine Tariff bill as reported by the Ways and Means Committee, despite the protestations of the Democrats who pointed out that it was a meritricious measure from every point of view, and of a small number of Republicans who were unwilling to blindly submit to the fiat of the party leaders. The fact, however, that Representative McCall, Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, and a small number of followers had the courage to oppose the imperialistic measure, is taken by the Democrats to be a good sign and it is hoped that before this session of Congress has come to a close Mr. McCall may have succeeded in organizing a considerable taction that will stand by the Democrats in their opposition to the extreme and unwar ranted subversion of American principles which will be the object of the tee on Naval Affairs, Republican leaders.

A Rich Uncle's Will Provided For a Wedding on Short Nutice and the Bridegroom Was Sick in the West.

> To save an estate a peculiar wedding was solemnized at Williamsport when Miss Mina Harris was married by proxy to Carleton Wells, of Dekalb, Ill., a picture being used to represent the bridegroom. Wells is a prosperous young farmer of Dekalb county and a second cousin of Miss Harris. The young people were engaged to be married Christmas, but recently an uncle of the bride died, and it was found that he had left a large part of the estate to Miss Harris on condition that she marry Wells within thirty days. The wedding accordingly was set for last Monday, but Wells was taken ill of pneumonia on his way east and could not attend. As the thirty days expired Saturday it was arranged that Willis Johnson, 1 friend of the groom, should act as proxy. The bride had a large photograph of the groom, on a table in front of which the ceremony was performed and beside which stood Johnson and answered the questions addressed to the photograph. At the conclusion of the ceremony the Rev. Mr. Clements pronounced Mina Harris and Carleton Wells, represented by the photograph, husband and wife.

John Luther Long's new novel, "Naughty Nan," is published entire in the January number of Lappincott's Magazine. After awhile it will be brought out in book form, costing four or five times the price of the Magazine form. In this tale Mr. Long proves that he is a master hand at love-making in other lands than Japan, and in picturing the tender passion of a wilful New York girl he excels himself. Nan's aunt calls upon a favorite nephew to save Nan from a flock of matrimonially inclined men, so that the girl may "remember Cawdor," theological student to whom her aunt has allotted her. Cawdor writes "lady-like letters" from accross the sea, which fill his sweetheast with a desire to give him a severe shock. The comedy that follows is deliciously witty yet is tender throughout, while the title of the closing chapter sums it all up days, Thursdays and Saturdays, commencing a the words "And my arms opened-and osed upon-Nan."

Lippincout's short stories all deal with ome specially human subject of the times. Louis Zangwill writes about a woman whose husband has deserted her and their child After a struggle the woman makes a secure place for her son, who believes his father to be dead. Whether this woman should have taken a different course when the husband reappears is a nice question for the reader to answer. It is called "The Mother." "A Fair Exchange," by Will N. Harben, is the story of a would-be suicide in Paris. "The Seal of Silence," a brief tale of much dramatic power, is by Albert Payson Techune. With rumors of the Pope's declining health, people look forward to what will happen when the Church shall be called upon to accept a successor in the chair of St. Peter. guests are gone the smile slips from the face of the hostess and she gives up to the pain which racks her body. Many a woman entertains and wears a smile while her back aches and her nerves quiver with pain. Surely any medicine which offers relief to women would be worth a trial under such conditions. But when the woman's medicine, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, is offered with the proof of efficacy in thousands of well attested cures, what excuse can then be offered for suffering longer? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"It is with the greatest pleasure I write you the benefit my mother has received from your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' "says Miss Carrie Johnson, of Lowes-ville, Amherat Co. Va. "She suffered untold misory with uterine discase and nervousness, and had a constant roaring and ringing noise in her head. After taking six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Med-ical Discovery,' she wa5 entirely cured."

There has been an effort made in the Senate to replace Senator Morgan by Senator Hanna, as chairman of the Mrs. John Belice, of Easton, and Committee on Interoceanic Canals, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, of but the better judgment of the Re-Pottstown. For fear that they might publicans has prevailed and confidence in Senator Morgan's extensive knowl edge of the subject together with an appreciation of his long devotion to the cause of an isthmian canal have won for him anew that important chairmanship even at the hands of an overwhelming majority. There has been some criticism of the promptness, not to say precipitancy, with which Senator Morgan has accepted the recommendations of Admiral Walker in favor of the Panama route, but it is more than likely that there is method in the Senator's madness, which will develop later on. It is worthy of note that in both the Morgan and Hepburn bills the President is authorized, but not "directed" as is usually the case, to proceed with the construction of the Nicaraguan Canal.

The decision of the Schley Court has left the question of the Admiral's vindication still a matter to be sought after and it seems probable that Congress will pass a resolution thanking Admiral Schley for the services he rendered to the country at Santiago
