BERWICK STORE COMPLETED. JOHN H. BRUGLER, THE ARCHITECT.

The new building of the Berwick store company which has been in course of erection for many months past is now completed. It is one of the largest and most finely appointed store buildings in this section; and it was built under the supervision of and over the plans turnished by Architect J. H. Brugler of Danville The building, which is a four story structure of brick and stone, 100x180 feet, consists in part of the old store building, which was thoroughly remodeled, and a large annex. It is equipped with hydraulic passenger and freight elevators from the first to the fourth floor, in addition to a "pavement drop" from the sidewalk to the cellar. On the first floor, in the centre of the room, near the elevator, is a large and very ornate soda fountain.

It is distinctively a department store, and as such will compare favorably with many of those in our larger cities.

The store when rightly down to business will employ 125 clerks. The American Car and Foundry company alone employs some 3000 men and the store does a business of $300,000 annually. On a single day recently business to the amount of $16,000 was transacted. The store is under the superintendence of Ray H. Daven-

HOW THE WOMAN WHO WON THE NA-TION'S HEART SURPRISED A NEW VORK BRAKEMAN.

A lady who knew Mrs. Cleveland quite well met her at the Grand Central Station in New York, recently, fairly laden down with parcels.

"You look a real old-fashioned Santa Claus," she said to Mrs. Cleve-

"Oh, no, not quite that," was the reply, "for I have no toys in my parcels; they are filled with fruit that I am taking out to where I am staying, because they are very fond of these particular things and they can't be

The Night Before Christmas-

The secret of the popularity of plays which picture the simplicity of country life is unquestionably due to the fact | spring. that we are only children at heart and none of us are so callous and worldly wise but that we love to live over again those happy days of early childhood amid the tranquil scenes of leafy lanes and breezy fields. It was with this object in view that the latest pastoral play "The Night Be-fore Christmas" was written and produced and its instant success shows how true was the aim of its projectors. Crowded audiences have laughed and wept with the lovable, true to nature characters in the play and it is claimed that no one can see it wi hout feeling better and purer for it. The date for the appearance of "The Night Before Christmas" in this city is next Thursday Jan. 30th, at the Bloomsburg Opera House.

Her work consists chiefly of short stories. You may recognize her work almost anywhere by its humor, but nowhere else does this quality seem quite so spontaneous, quite so all of its own variety, as in the stories about children which she has contributed to Mc Clure's Magazine. The latest of these is "Ardelia in Arcady," in the here on February 12 and 13. February number. Little Ardelia is the subject of a philanthropic experi-ment of the "fresh-air" type, but does not take at all kindly to it. Her sojourn in Arcady is cut very short. On her return she voices her disgust at Arcady with the one cockney comment, "Gee! N' York's the place." Miss Daskam is now giving readings from some of her stories which have come out in McClure's and which will appear in book form in the

Will Install Blood Hounds-

Francis Woll, who recently estabished a skunk tarm on Montour Ridge, has ordered two large blood hounds to keep away intruders. It will be remembered that some miscreants recently invaded his premises, slaughtering and carrying away the pelts of all the skunks installed.

The skunks hereafter will be confined in a central inclosure, which will be surrounded by a circular range, also enclosed, for the hounds. Under the circumstances it would require an individual with a good deal of nerve to trespass upon the premises so as to interfere with the skunks. -Montour American.
