The N. Y. World—Thrice-a-Week Edition. The Most Widely Read Newspaper in America.

Time has demonstrated that the Thrice-a-Week World stands alone in its class. Other papers have imitated its form but not its success. This is because it tells all the news all the time and tells it impartially, whether that news be political or otherwise. It is, in fact, almost a daily at the price of a weekly and you cannot afford to be without it.

The Evangelical congregation had the pleasure Sunday evening of listening to an able sermon delivered by Rev. J. W. Beckley a minister of United Brethren faith residing at Lebanon.

Lloyd Sterling has quit the dairy business. He sold his route and good will to Austin Ohl. The new dairyman made his first trip on Monday. Mr. Sterling will remain in Light Street.

Berwickians are very jubilant over the outlook for base ball in that town the coming season. The team is on good footing with sufficient money subscribed to play the whole season through. Smith and Chamberlin will be the battery.

Mrs. Mary E. Gearhart, relict of the late Daniel Gearhart, died at her home in Milton on Friday after a protracted and painful illness. She was about sixty-seven years old. The remains were laid to rest in the old cemetery at Catawissa.

Rev. Edward Henry Eckel, of Williamsport, has resigned the provisional rectorship of the new mission of the Episcopal church at Jersey Shore. Bishop Talbot has appointed the Rev. Lewis Nichols, of Lock Haven, to fill the vacancy.

The display in some of the store windows attract the attention, and remind one of the approach of St. Valentine's day. A great many of the pictorial tributes are decidedly unsaintly, and it is very likely that the dispositions of many will be ruffled on Friday.

Death came suddenly to Jacob Maier, in Danville early Monday morning. He was in the eighty-fourth year of his age, and for the past several years, he and his wife, who is also quite aged, have resided with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Louis Block.

The Wheelmen went down before the Williamsport Y. M. C. A. boys Thursday night by the score of 27 to 15. If the locals could only realize how much a victory would arouse the drooping spirits of their friends in town, they would get together and win a game.

Bloomsburg is to have a new daily, the first issue of which will make its appearance in the early part of March. The home of the new publication is to be in the Dentler building. Several of our representative young men are connected with the enterprise. They have our best wishes.

The English Lutheran Church of Minersville has just celebrated its first anniversary of the occupation of their new church. The last Sunday of this month the congregation will celebrate their 50th anniversary by a jubilee service. Rev. C. E. Smith, is the pastor. Rev. Smith was formerly assistant principal of the High School, this town, and his wife also lived here, being the daughter of Andrew Creveling, of East Fifth Street.

Conscious of the approach of death and desiring that his relatives should see him before the end came, friends of Samuel H. Kostenbauder, of Catawissa, who has been very ill at Laranac Lake, New York, for a month or more past, telegraphed his uncle George Reifsnnyder, of Catawissa, Monday. Mr. Reifsnnyder and wife departed at once, but death outstripped them. The deceased was twenty-one years of age and was highly esteemed.

Bell telephones have been installed in the Sheriff's office and the jail. This will greatly facilitate the business of that official.

The alterations recently made at Tooley & Co's store have added wonderfully to the appearance of that well known provision house. It allows the requisite space for the proper showing of the firm's large stock, and suggests a prosperous condition.

The members of the Twentieth Century Club have presented Rev. Dr. Hemingway with three volumes of books on England, Scotland and Ireland. He recently lectured to them and the Ivy Club on Westminster Abbey, and the gift was a token of appreciation of his services.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, N. Y., delighted a good sized audience in Normal Auditorium Tuesday evening. His subject "John Ruskins Message to the 20th Century" was handled in a masterly manner and the audience would willingly have stayed an hour longer.

Death threatened Frank Kressler, of Catawissa Valley, on Saturday. He was cleaning the barn, when, without any warning, he was attacked by a vicious cow, which gored him fiercely. Exhausted he dropped to the floor, and would have been killed, had it not been for the arrival of a farm hand.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bennett are now living in Cumberland, Md., they having recently moved there from Du Bois, Pa. Jas. L. Goodall, has spared neither time or money to make this combination the most successful double company on the road. He carries such well known artists as the Stokes family, singers and dancers. Clemo and Flora Harris, European contortionists, Gibbs and Maylor, eccentric comedians, Arthur Wallace, monologue (just off the Keith circuit) Mr. and Mrs. Downs, comedy sketch, and the famous DeAco's champion shots of the world, being one of the highest priced acts in vaudeville. Everything is new and up to date. At the Opera House to-night and tomorrow night.

One of the season's most notable theatrical events for Danville was the appearance Monday evening of Mr. Robert B. Mantell. The attraction proved to be a box office magnet, and the spacious theatre was nearly filled. The seats in the parquet were all taken. The eminent actor this season is presenting a list of classic plays. The play Monday night was Lord E. Bulwer-Lytton's "Cardinal Richelieu." The accessories, costumes and scenery were sumptuous and historically correct and the portrayal of the part of Cardinal Richelieu by Mr. Mantell, was excellent. The supporting company however was not up to what was expected, several of the roles being handled in a too harsh and indelicate manner. Bloomsburgers to the number of twenty-five drove down and witnessed the performance.
