own there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. R cures diseases of the stomach and er organs of digestion and nutrition. Many diseases in organs remote from the somach have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its allied rgans. When the stomach is "weak' there is a failure to properly digest and saminilate the food which is eaten. Hence the whole body, and each organ it, suffers from lack of nutrition, so that as a consequence of "weak" stom-ach, there may be "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" or torpid liver, "weak" nerves, etc. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovenables the assimilation of the autriment necessary for the requirements of a healthy body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of blood which is the vital fluid of the body.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery' and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing people especially those suffering from disease in its chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential.

ONLY ONE PRIVATE TRAIN.

Spring's Sole Possession of This Kind Is the Property of the Duke of Sutherland,

The only English private train is that owned by the duke of Sutherland. it was specially built at the Wolverton works of the London and Northwestern railway, to his grace's order. It contains, stowed within the smallest possible compass, a large saloon for fining, a private sitting-room, sleepng berths. luggage compartments, kitchen, pantry and lavatories, the whole connected by a series of handsomely decorated vestibules and coridors, says the New York Herald.

Viewed even from the outside, the train presents a sufficiently striking appearance, with its dark green enamsled panels, picked out with cream and gold. Internally the fittings are of the most elaborate description.

The principal saloon has a figured incrusta roof in white and gold, with dde paneling to match. All of the souches and easy chairs are upholtered in green figured tapestry, and the friezes and window curtains are of rich green silk.

Velvet pile carpets cover the floors of the principal compartments, and cork linoleum is fitted to the corridors. restibules, kitchen and lavatories. Electric lighting is, of course, used throughout, and there are also electrie bells in the attendants' compartments, and electric fans for hot weathar. For heating in winter, stoves on the hot water high pressure system are provided.

As this train has frequently to run at high speed over the Highland railway, where the grades are steep and the curves sharp, a special engine, which is also his grace's private property, has been built to draw it.

The trouble with a friend in need is that he is always that way.

NOMINATE ELKIN

Some Cogent Reasons Why the State Boss Should Be Standard-Bearer.

It is not often that the North American finds it possible to agree with the machine or its organ in any matter of state politics or local government-a fact which goes far to confirm confidence in the correctness of the North American's views-but it feels constrained by the force of logic to approve the selection of John P. Eikin as the machine's candidate for governor. By character, attainments and achievement, Mr. Elkin is pre-eminently qualified to carry the standard of the organization. The organ of the machine truly says that "his career is one that the young men might study with profit to themselves." To a young man fitting himself for the practice of medicine, the study of a well-developed case of cancer would be valuable. An aspirant for judicial honors might derive benefit from thorough acquaintance with the history of a Jeffreys or a Bacon or the career of a Potter. To the young Pennsylvanian ambitious to serve his state in political office, we heartily recommend studious contemplation of the career of John P. Elkin.

The North American's reason for endorsing the choice of Mr. Elkin as the machine candidate are not precisely those advanced by the exuberant organ in support of its action in making him not only the organization's, but its own especial favorite. The fact that he "was born in a log house in Indiana county" does not seem to be an adequate reason for nominating him; and, moreover, when the statement is coupled by the organ with the remarkable assertion that Mr. Elkin "is selfmade in every sense of the word," we must necessarily doubt that he was born in a log house or anywhere else. Interesting as we may find this theory of the autogenesis of an Elkin, it fails to appeal to us with much force as an argument in favor of a certain line of political action.

The North American favors the nomination of John P. Elkin by the machine for the single and simple reason that he is thoroughly representative of the machine, the embodiment and epitome of machine politics and machine morals. He is "regularity" personified. His record and the machine's record are written in the same hand and identical terms upon the same page of Pennsylvania's political history. When he began his political career—the career which young men might study with profit-he said to the machine: "Where thou goest I will go," and he has kept that pledge and gone along not only without hesitation, but with joyous alacrity,

As the machine candidate for governor, John P. Elkin will command the support of every political automaton whose civic creed is expressed in the word "regularity;" of every political pervert whose guiding motto is "any old thing to win;" of every retainer of the bosses, big and little: every client of the private license bureau, and every mythical voter, dead or alive, on the padded list. His name at the head of the ticket will blazon its character and leave no honest citizen in doubt as to his own duty on election

The North American is unqualifiedly in favor of the nomination of John P. Elkin by the Quay machine's state convention. He is literally the "logical candidate" of the gang and its squalid organ.

As a rule, anarchists are not sons of America; they are sons of tyranny. The significance of the Babcock iron and steel bill is not affected by the fact that there is little chance for its becoming a law at this session of congress. The bill, coming as it does from a protectionist, is the entering wedge of free trade. It marks the beginning of the end of the high tariff system. Mr. McKinley recognized the drift of public opinion in his last speech in Buffalo the day before his assassination. The Babcock bill is in line with the policy suggested in that address. SHORT TALKS

Brief Comment on Political and Other

Matters of Public Interest. If Treasurer-elect Harris can find any consolation in the verdict in his libel suit against Hon. P. Gray Meek, he is satisfied with the thinnest sort of a husk. We admit that it looks rather rough for a man to take the treasurership of a great state like Pennsylvania while resting under the charge of being the prince of thieves and the chief of crooks, but it looks far worse to have it practically proved in open court. Mr. Harris evidently depneded on the favor of the court to convict Mr. Meek without incriminating himself. The jury must have concluded that Harris was guilty of all that Meek charged him, but disliked to make him pay for it besides. If the witnesses who were on hand had been called and testified to what they knew, the jury would have felt that the whole gang should be hanged .as high as SHORT TALKS

Brief Comment on Political and Other Matters of Public Interest.

Ex-Postmaster Hicks, of Philadelphia, declares that Ashbridge said to him at the beginning of his term of office that he proposed to get all there was in it for Samuel H. Ashbridge. Ashbridge denies that he ever said anything of the kind, and the people of Philadelphia have been by the ears for a week or two as to which tells the truth. It doesn't seem to make very much difference whether Ashbridge gave notice in advance of his intentions. He has made his word good, whether he ever gave it or not. He ought not kick about anybody's saying that he once told the truth.

The Army and Navy Register hauls Roosevelt over the coals for his shabby treatment of General Miles, and declares that it is not possible to justify it or excuse it even on the ground that Teddy has fallen into the habit of losing his temper. We predict that Roosevelt will go out of office one of the most unpopular presidents the country has had. When a man would rather be called colonel than vice president it shows an acceedingly vain streak in his make-up. His intense egotism and his I-am-the-whole-thing style of dealing with men and measures is not likely to last him through his term. Of course, there are toadies who are willing to applaud any act of the president, no matter what it may be, but the sober second thought of the people will not long tolerate a man whose conceit is his strongest characteristic.

General Wheaton declares that 50,-000 soldiers will be needed in the Philippines for at least five years yet. As each soldier costs a thousand dollars a year, and the officers who have charge of the butchering a great deal more, the cost of the Philippines will be $350,000,000 in addition to what they have already cost, and to the pension roll that will, in the light of past experience, be with us for at least 75 years. There is no doubt that General Wheaton is right. The Filipinos are at home in the tropical sun and are fighting for liberty and country. Our soldiers suffer all sorts of afflictions from the climate; those of them who have sense enough to go in when it rains must feel ashamed that they are conducting a murderous crusade against a people who are as much entitled to their freedom as we are. It is safe to predict that twice $350,000,-000 will not subdue the Filipinos sufficiently to withdraw our soldiers and leave them to the tender mercies of the greedy politicians and capitalists.

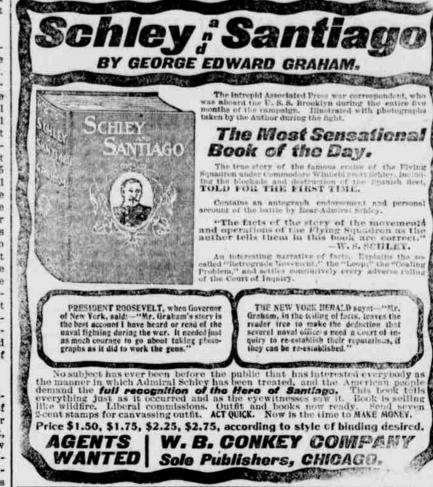

General Taft, who enjoys the distinction of trying to be governor of the Philippines, like all the other prominent men who have mixed in it. are having a very hard time to show just how he and God are working diligently for the interests of the Filipinos whom they love so well. He says that they have no thought of establishing reconcentrado camps in the usual sense of the term. Of course not. The ordinary sense of the term and the sense of every man who knows anything understands that such a camp is a place where the captured women and children of the enemy are placed to be starved to death in order to force their fathers, husbands and brothers to give up their land to the invader. This is what concentration camps meant in Cuba, this is what they mean today in South Africa, and it is exactly what they mean in the Philippines, where we are doing missionary work for the cause of the lowly Nazarene, who never did the slightest violence to man, woman or child, and every one of whose precepts declare against all such treatment of any of God's creatures. No matter what Taft may say that he and God propose to do, the whole business is damnable from the start and will be to the finish unless the American people have a much needed revival of the spirit of freedom.

General Wheaton, an American officer who is trying to subjugate a people who ask that we simply attend to our own business and let them alone, says that men have been imprisoned for such speeches as the one recently delivered by Professor Schurman in Boston. The professor in this address took exception to the rigid military rule that is prevailing in the Philippines. This serves Schurman about right, for no intelligent, high minded man as he is popularly supposed to be. should not be guilty of mixing up in this infernal business of trying to finish the dirty job begun by Spain of butchering the Filipinos in order to get their territory. Schurman, like any other man possessing the instincts of true civilization, was at first opposed to the whole business and did not hesitate to say so; but the big dose of pap in the shape of a good job on the Filipino commission was too great a temptation and he became a mild apologist for our conduct in trying to crush out a liberty loving people. His apologies, however, do not suit General Wheaton and he tells what has been done with men for saying a word in favor of liberty and in criticism of wholesale murder. It must be rather humiliating to Schurman to have a two-for-five military satrap insinuating that he should be arrested for disloyal utterances. If he will now rise to the occasion and wash his stained hands of the whole murdefing business he would sleep more soundly and earn the heartfelt thanks of every right-minded American as well as of the Filipinos who are struggling for freedom as earnestly and deservedly as did our forefathers in 1776.

SCHLEY VS. LEMLY.

Malice Towards Santiago's Hero Not To Be Tolerated .- Sehley Won the Battle and Destroyed the Spanish Fleet and Lemly Can Not Change That Fact.

(Special from Commercial Ass'td Press.) One of the most outrageous attacks that has as yet appeared comes now from Judge-Advocate-General Lemley. To read the dispatches as they come from Washington, and which are given publicity in the daily press, shows a very deplorable condition on the part of cliques, at the head of one of which Advocate-General Lemley seems to be.

Laying aside all personal animosities and reading Lemley's attack on Admiral Schley's appeal, no reasonable mind can overcome the impression that malice is the gist of the

Speaking of the Texas, the commentators declare: "The question is not so much one of possible credit to, but of possible censure of Admiral Schley in connection with the work of that vessel in the battle of Santiago, The plain truth is that Admiral Schley did not during that battle in any way direct or control the splendid performance of the Gloucester and the three battleships Indiana, Iowa and Texas. The officers in command of these ships neither received nor obeyed a solitary order from him."

Next the commentators turn their attention to what they declare were persistent efforts by Schley's attorneys to show that in some manner the Oregon at least was under his orders during the battle, first by answering the signal, "Close up," and afterward by firing its thirteen-inch guns under signal from the Brooklyn, and they

"But that attempt, as the testimony to be quoted below shows, was a failure.

They quote, therefore, passages from Captain Clark's testimony, in which he said in regard to the order, "Close up," that that was a standing order in the squadron to attack the enemy at once if they appeared, and to keep the heads of the ships always toward the entrance," and "I remember a teeling of satisfaction that there was an order to close in, in case any accident had happened-and colliding with other ships."

Mr. W. B. Conkey, the Chicago publisher of "Schley and Santiago," was interviewed, and here is what he

"The fact remains that Admiral Schley was in command at Santiago, controlled and directed every move of the squadron, that won the battle and destroyed the Spanish Fleet.

"It strikes me that no amount of quibbling or political wire pulling can take that glory from Admiral Schley. At least that seems to be the opinion of the American public and a great many of the leading men of that great public. The Milwaukee Sentinel, one of the leading papers of the West, in reviewing the book, gives it a twocolumn notice, and in closing says to this effect:

" 'No patriotic American citizen can afford not to read George Graham's great book-Schley and Santiago. It gives the facts, and proves that Sampson was at Siboney and Schley at Santiago, where the battle was fought and won."

The book contains nearly 500 pages of authentic facts and fifty instantaneous photographs taken by Graham during the battle.

Read this, a quotation from the book, and then say, if the fleet did not work with Schley, and appreciate him as the Commander-in-Chief. After the battle, Schley compliments the Oregon, Texas, in fact all the fleet which took part in the battle:

"Somebody raised a broom at our (the Brooklyn) masthead on one of the pennant halyards, and the crew of the Oregon followed suit, and then gave three cheers for Commodore Schley. On the Texas the men all lined up on the forward deck and at request from somebody aboard-I presume Captain Philip himself-gave three cheers for Commodore Schley. The little Vixen circled around us three or four times, her crew yelling themselves hoarse for the Brooklyn, for Schley, and for the victory.

"But from the New York there came never a sound of joyfulness and never a cheer!

The New York was Sampson's flagship, and had just returned from Siboney after the battle, and Advocate General Lemley is Sampson's friend.
