

HARD DAY FOR SMITH

Senate Again Discusses the Samar Incident. SENATOR TELLER SCORES GENERAL

House Passes the Omnibus Building Bill Appropriating $17,405,450. No Opportunity for an Amendment.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A spirited discussion of the Philippine situation occurred in the senate yesterday. It revolved around the order alleged to have been issued by General Jacob H. Smith to make the island of Samar a howling wilderness and to kill all male inhabitants over the age of ten years. The debate took a wide range, however, and many other points were discussed.

When the Philippine bill was laid before the senate, no one was prepared to deliver a set speech on it. Mr. Lodge (Mass.), in charge of the measure, said he felt compelled to press it for consideration. His remarks drew the fire of Mr. Teller (Colo.), who criticized the Republicans for not participating in the discussion. This precipitated the debate, and for more than two hours it continued. Mr. Teller declared that General Smith, if he issued such an order as had been attributed to him, ought to be dismissed from the service, as it was a disgrace to the American army and to the American people.

Mr. Lodge said that, while he knew little of the circumstances surrounding the alleged order, he did not approve of cruel methods in warfare, and every right minded person must regret General Smith's order. To him it was revolting. He defended the administration, however, saying as soon as knowledge of the order had come to Washington the president had directed that General Smith be court martialed.

Under a special order which allowed three hours for debate, but which cut off all opportunity of amendment, the house passed an omnibus public building bill which will distribute $17,405,450 among 174 cities. As the bill covers into the treasury $1,585,000, the total amount carried by the bill is reduced to that extent. The bill provides for seventy-seven new buildings and sites, six buildings on sites already purchased, seventeen buildings on donated sites and fifty-eight increases in appropriations for buildings already authorized. It also provides for the purchase of sixteen sites.

The majority for the bill was so overwhelming that only nine members backed a demand for the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill. There was some criticism of the method by which it was proposed to pass the bill without opportunity for amendment, which Mr. Mercer, chairman of the committee, answered by stating that if the bill had been subject to amendment the appropriations carried by it would have been increased to $60,000,000.

The consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill was resumed, but only a few pages were disposed of.

Oleo and Chinese Bills Completed. WASHINGTON, April 29.—After a brief discussion the senate agreed to the oleo amendments to the oleo bill as passed by the senate. The measure now goes to the president for his signature. An effort was made by Mr. Teller (Colo.) to amend the measure so as to levy a tax of 10 per cent on the capital or assets of any butter trust that might be formed, but it was defeated.

The conferees on the Chinese exclusion bill have reached a complete agreement on the bill. It strikes out that portion of the senate bill limiting the extension of all existing laws to the life of the present treaty and re-enacts them so far as not inconsistent with treaty obligations until otherwise provided by law and extends the laws to our island territories so far as applicable. It allows Chinese to enter for exhibition purposes and retains the provisions regarding certification in the Philippine Islands.

Exclusion Bill Signed. WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Roosevelt has signed the Chinese exclusion bill. The pen used was given to Representative Kahn of California, who has taken a deep interest in the bill.

Consul General Osborne Dead. LONDON, April 30.—William McKinley Osborne, United States consul general at London, is dead here after a long illness. Mrs. Osborne, his daughter Margaret and son Charles were at the bedside when he died. The funeral will take place on Saturday. The body will be cremated in England. Mrs. Osborne will remain in England for an indefinite period, so that her children's education may be completed. Mr. Osborne was a cousin of the late President McKinley. He was born at Girard, O., April 28, 1842.

Paris Salon Opened. PARIS, April 30.—President Loubet has inaugurated the old salon in the Grand Palais. There were 1,680 exhibits compared with 2,092 last year, resulting in an improved aspect and a higher level of merit. Chatrain's portraits of Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt attracted a large share of attention and received high praise from the critics. The Temps says, "The artist has rendered well the features, sober elegance and charm of the two ladies." The American artists were represented by many meritorious works.

Costly Blaze at Glens Falls. GLENS FALLS, N. Y., April 28.—The most disastrous fire since 1864 has visited Glens Falls, entailing a property loss conservatively estimated at over half a million dollars.

GAIL & AX NAVY Smoking and Chewing Tobacco. The ORIGINAL and MOST SMOKED long cut tobacco in all the United States, manufactured with the express purpose of blending the two qualities, that of a good smoke and a good chew. It is made of ripe, sweetened "Burley," the only tobacco from which a perfect combination of smoking and chewing tobacco can be made. Gail & Ax Navy is known by the distinctive character of its blue wrapper (which has many imitators), it being to-day identically the same as forty years ago, and it now stands for the quality that it did then. You get the very best, and take no chances, when you buy Gail & Ax Navy. Baltimore, 1859. G. W. GAIL & AX

ANIMALS WITH THREE EYES.

New Zealand Creatures That Have a Third Optical Organ on Top of the Head.

Nearly everyone has heard of the tuatara, the curious, iguana-like looking creature, now found on only one or two islands off the coast of New Zealand, and supposed to be the oldest living type of animal on the face of the globe. One of the most curious features is an organ on the head, which at one time was spoken of as the pineal gland, but which Dr. Dendy discovered to be in reality a third eye, says the Melbourne Argus. His paper on the subject caused the greatest interest in the English scientific circles, and, as an illustration of the way in which research is specialized nowadays, it may be mentioned that while Dr. Dendy devoted himself to the study of the third eye one distinguished English biologist is "working out" the skeleton, another the kidneys, and so forth. In a short time, therefore, our anatomical knowledge of the tuatara ought to be complete.

More recently Dr. Dendy has discovered another New Zealand creature possessing a third eye. This is the New Zealand lamprey, a favorite article of food among the Maoris. The third eye is situated right on top of the head and is covered with a thin coating of skin. It is doubtful whether it is now of any practical use for seeing, but Dr. Dendy believes that at one time, far back in the world's history, there were two eyes on the back of the lamprey's head. He is further of the opinion that at one time the tuatara also had two eyes where now only one remains. In the tuatara it is the left eye which has survived, while in the lamprey it is the right one.

ROYAL PURPLE IS CRIMSON.

Color Popularly Known in the United States as Purple is Vastly Different.

Any standard German dictionary will attest to the fact that the crude conventional color which is popularly known in the United States as purple has never been and is not today the royal purple in which classic tradition and the paintings of old masters robe their kings and queens, says the Chicago Daily News. Take Muret-Sanders, for instance, a standard German dictionary, and you will find under the word "purpur," which is the German spelling for our purple, the definition: "The Tyrian dye; crimson; deep red." Among the explanatory phrases attached to the definition also is one which, translated into English, means "investing the cardinal with the purple." The color of a cardinal's robes and hat is too well known, one would say, to permit one to think of them as anything but the color which is known popularly today as "cardinal."

This tallies exactly with the classic interpretation of royal purple which has been followed by royalty in its coats-of-arms and its robes of state ever since the precocious dye was first brought out of Egypt. Speaking of coats-of-arms, the colors of the royal house of Prussia, are black, white and royal purple, or what the average person is wont to think of as a deep red.

Bullet Found at Last.

The recent cremation of the body of the late Dr. Robert Grimes, of Cheyenne, Wyo., has revealed the bullet received by him at the Meeker massacre, where he distinguished himself, as in many other Indian engagements, as "Fighting Bob, the Doctor," says a report from that town. Then it was thought the wound would be fatal, but Dr. Grimes recovered, and for 20 years carried the missile which the surgeons were unable to locate.
