IMMIGRATION STATIONS TO BE DRY

The Shattuck Bill Passed—Some of Its Provisions—Fruitless Effort to Fix a Voting Date on the Philippine Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The house yesterday passed the Shattuck immigration bill. The feature of the day was a lively debate on the question of prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors at immigration stations.

The bill brings together into one act all the scattered legislation heretofore enacted in regard to the immigration of aliens into the United States.

Among the more important changes are those increasing the head tax on aliens coming into the United States by land transportation from $1 to $1.50.

A fruitless effort was made just before the adjournment of the senate to secure an agreement on a time for a vote on the Philippine bill.

The night is intensely dark, and the stars are only faintly visible.

ACTION DISAPPROVED.

Acquittal of Waller and Day Not Warranted. MANILA, May 26.—The official findings of the court martial which tried Major L. W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John H. A. Day of the marine corps for executing natives of the island of Samar without trial have been made public.

The reviewing authority of the court has expressed its disapproval of the court's findings in both cases.

Referring to the case of Major Waller, the reviewing authority says: "The sending of the natives in question to their death partook more of unlawful retaliation than a justifiable act of war."

In justice to the American military service, the findings of acquittal demand that they shall not meet with unqualified approval.

The marines in Samar underwent great suffering before their rescue, and their officers from their sickbeds voiced the revengeful anger of the men, who telephoned to Major Waller advising that the stevedores be killed.

Major Waller received this message while he was still prostrate from a fever, suffering acute pain of body, due to exposure and his exertions in behalf of his men and mental anguish concerning their fate, which had long been in doubt.

Major Waller was at the time in telegraphic communication with General Smith, who commanded the American forces in Samar, but he deliberately chose not to consult General Smith regarding his contemplated action, and rather than forego the execution of his unrestrained will he assumed the power the laws of war and the customs of the service confer upon commanding officers only in time of war.

"Giving heed to the mental attitude of Major Waller, as much of the findings of the court as are to the effect that Major Waller is not guilty of murder is approved, but the reviewing authority is at a loss to understand why the court did not find against Major Waller in the minor offense. With the exception noted the acquittal as it appears in the record of the proceedings is disapproved."
