Quail Will be Plentiful-

There will be lots of quail this season, says a well known hunter.

"The winter season has been a good one for quail," " because it was not of extreme severity, and, therefore, there were more survivors than for a number of seasons in which hard weather prevailed and killed the parent birds. This mild season condition will also result in there being a greater number of rabbits when the gunning season opens.

"It certainly is an inspiring sound to the man with gunning proclivities and the true sportsman's instinct," continued the 'squire, "to hear the cry of the quail in the early morning. It is now about time for the young birds to come out of the shell, and it has been a common sight during the last month to see the old birds singly and in pairs running along the road in front of my horse, or perched on a fence post within touch of my whiplash. Only once did I see the birds fly at the approach of the team. They usually ran swiftly to the side of the road and made their way to the underbrush, where the nest was probably located.

"Quait usually fetch their brood out about haymaking time, and many of the nests are doubtless destroyed by the reaping machines and otherwise. It's a shame, too, how the birds are destroyed during the hunting season by pot-hunters, who ruthlessly kill and slay, devoid of any instinct save that of slaughter. Then, again, the men who use ferrets in hunting rabbits should be harshly healt with. With all the violations of the game laws, open violations, most of them, too, there does not seem to be anyone with sufficient courage to take up the prosecution of the violators. If the doings of the last few seasons are allowed to continue by this class of hunters our game birds will soon be extinct."

ORIGIN OF BICYCLE-DIVING. Feat First Performed by a Roman Youth on the Banks of the River Tiber,

The idea of diving on a bicycle originated with a bright and elever Roman youth of 22, named Umberto Diamanti a feat which called for nerve and dar ing of a high order, together with the ability of a powerful and rapid swimmer. The idea was to ride along the top of the artificial embankment of the Tiber and plunge into the river beyond. The diver must retain control over the machine, not only after leaving terra firma and plunging dizzily and breath-catching descent to the surface of the water. After sinking deep down with the machine, he must when beyond one's depth. Thus it may be seen that the contest was one which called for more than the average amount of physical endurance, as well as for a steady head and unshaker nerve, says Pearson's Magazine.

A very interesting contest was arwas easily won by the iron-nerved cyclist, both as regards time and clean jumping.

There was fremendous excitement crowds lined the high embankment was quite at fever heat when the order was given-"Go!" and both evelist and foot runner started off at a terrifie pace. It seemed hardly possible that any same man could deliberately ride a bicycle over so appaling a precipice; but, what is much more remarkable Sig. Diamanti not only did this, but actually retained his presence offmind throughout the entire descent through the air as well as on striking the water, and even beneath the surface, for he brought his troublesome mount to land with little or no exertion, amid the frantic applause of the spectators.

EDIBLE PETROLEUM.

Salad Oil Butter and Cooking Oil Ar Being Worked Upon at the Present Time,

Cottonseed oil, corn oil and linseed will probably have a rival at a not distant day in edible petroleum oil. Recently the editor of the National Provisioner was asked this question: "What is the difference in edible oils?" The question suggests the reasons for present experiments. "As a matter of fact," declares our contemporary, "petroleum has been successfully desulphurized and demineral ized. Certain other solids and ingredients have been extracted from it. and the production of a fairly good edible oil has already been produced The cost of this evolution, however, has as yet been so great as to remove the product from the field of competition and utility. Petroleum stock has, it is claimed in a wellinformed quarter, already taken its place as a soap grease. Why not? # Buckleberry Season Brisk.

There is an abundance of huckleberries in the vicinity of Shamokin and the idle men and boys who are out of work by reason of the coal strike, have discovered that picking berries for market is a profitable pursuit. Men, boys and even women in large numbers may be seen each morning scouring the mountains with buckets, baskets and other vessels. The demand for the berries in the big cities is great and the price is considerably higher than in the local markets.

The Loose Stone Nuisance-

Judge White, of Indiana county, in his talk to constables recently called their attention to the law requiring supervisors to pick the loose stones from the roads, saying it was important that this law should be enforced. A fine of ten dollars can be recovered from any supervisor who refuses or neglects his duty. The same law will apply to the neglect of boroughs in allowing loose stones to remain in the streets.

Rains Benefit Fruit.

The recent rains have been very beneficial to fruit and orchards from which extremely small crops were expected because of the drought, and will likely give a fair crop. Apples are reported scarce by the farmers and the dry weather of May and the early part of this month will result in stunted growth. The berry season is here and the market is well stocked.

A CHESS-PLAYING TOWN.

One of the Regulrements of Every Inhabitant of a Village in Hungary.

There is in Hungary a village probably unique among the world's towns, in woman and child in the place.

It is just as necessary in this out-ofthe-world spot for the inhabitants to be proficient chess players as it is for them to be able to read, write and cipher. Prizes are given to the school children for proficiency in chesse. Problems are given to the scholars that they are expected to take home and work out in their spare hours in addition to their other tasks.

Hungary has long been famous for her chess players. Indeed, this little village has, as can be well understood. turned out more than one player who has been considered fit to rank with such giants as Lasker, Steinitz or Tchigorin.

Every Christmas a great tournament is held in the village, and the burgo- in fact to kill his chances with damn master gives prizes for the best ju- ing praise. They will say that he is venile and adult players.

The Risk of Ballooning.

Considering the risks aeronauts necessarily take every time they make an ascent the science or sport or trade (for it partakes of all three) is extraordinarily free from fatal accidents, says the London Chronicle. Mr. Charles Green, who made over 600 trips, died at the age of $4 in 1870. Twenty years later M. Eugene Godard, medical fraternity. only is it certain that there is no chance for securing from the republi cans in Congress, during the short session, anti-trust legislation which will satisfy the public, but it is equally certain that a disappointed public will turn to the democratic party fo relief in 1904. By his selection of Mr. Littlefield of Maine, Mr. Roose velt has shown a disposition to ignore the leaders of his party in Congress, that it not only encourages chess as a but no one who understands the pastime, but insists that the king of situation believes for a moment that games shall be played by every man, he can either control the House without the help of those leaders or that he can produce any effect upon the trust controlled republicans in the Senate.

There is a growing belief in Wash ington that Senator Hanna is lookin to his fences with an eye on the next presidential nomination and some there are, who suggest that even Mr Roosevelt's attack upon the trusts i a trap into which he has been led by his wily friend from Ohio. The policy of those who support the Senator from Ohio is to utter no word in public, derogatory to the President "frank, courageous, a good republi
