ITS CARE.

A good watch is like a good horse. Treat it right and it will serve you well for years. Neglect it and you will shorten its days of usefulness. Good treatment consists of regularity in winding and cleaning and oiling. Always wind it in the morning. Your time of rising is more regular than your time of retiring. You carry your watch during the day and it needs the full strength of the mainspring. Don't let it run without attention till it stops. Choose some day of the year [your birthday is easy to remember] und have it cleaned and oiled regularly on that day. It doesn't take much oil to satisfy a watch, but when it does need, it needs badly. Carry a good dust proof case and never open the back. Always have a watch maker regulate it. He won't charge movement will last you a life time. When you're done with it it will still be a good time keeper for your boy and your boy's boy to carry in turn.
