ORATOR QUAY.

The Pennsylvania Boss Turns Author to Boom Boss Quay the Orator, Cousin Sam Assists in Setting Forth Matthew's Claim to Greatness.

Pennsylvania Politics: The campaign of 1900 as set forth in the speeches of Matthew Stanley Quay. This, according to a circular received from Daniel E. Pennypacker, 34 Dewey St., Philadelphia, is the title of what he no doubt considers the greatest work ever issued from the press of this or any other planet. The public is very familiar, indeed, with the deals and dickers, tricks and general all around cussedness of Quay's political career, but as to his speeches it knows but little. His classic expression at the last state convention about his being the last Buffalo bull on the plains, and the one similar to it made a year ago that he is a dying oak among saplings are perhaps, the only two really great soul-inspiring thoughts that the public can recall from Mr. Quay's oratorical repertoire, while "shaking the plum tree" is famous as his greatest effort with the pen.

If the book had been named "The Unspoken Speeches of the Most Corrupt Political Boss that ever Disgraced the State" it would be more appropriate and fully as suggestive, nor would it have been necessary to give the author's name for anyone familiar with Pennsylvania politics would have recognized him instantly without further description. "A Work on Graft by the Prince of Grafters" would also be a good title and secure a large sale for the book among the worshippers of the last Buffalo bull and the dying oak.

PENNYPACKER AND PENNYPACKER. The preface of this great work, we are informed by the circular, was written by Judge Pennypacker, and the language of the circular so much resembles the phraseology of Pennypacker's fulsome eulogy of Quay, one is led at once to the conclusion that Daniel and Samuel are closely related. Pennypacker and Pennypacker differ as much in sound as Quay's lackeys differ in practice, for they must all either obey him or fight him as Curtin did as Hoyt did, as Hastings did and as Stone, Elkin and others have done. Of course, Pennypacker will not raise voice or finger against his patron saint, for he is so far gone on the Old Man as to be blind to his devilry; and so forgetful of his self-respect as to try to make the public believe that Quay is a sort of Webster, Shakespere and Michael Angelo all in one.

HON. SAMUEL SLATER'S CLAIM. The circular gives some fulsome extracts from the preface, among them one declaring Quay to be Pennsylvania's foremost citizen. If this thing of putting Matthew at the head of the procession doesn't stop, the Hon. Samuel Slater, late of Mexico, but again among Philadelphia's most respected and revered statesmen, may rise in indignation and dispute Quay's right to be considered highest in the kingdom. Was not the Hon. Samuel for three terms the honored member of the honorable Pennsylvania legislature? Did he not stuff, at least one ballot box as full as a Christmas turkey? Did he not hastily, quietly and discreetly withdraw himself from the vulgar public gaze and patiently await the hour of his vindication? Did he not walk boldly into the hall where "justice is judicially dispensed with" and then march out defiantly with a certificate from a Philadelphia court, four years before the statute of limitations expired? In view of all this, if Judge Pennypacker cannot revise his opinion and say that Hon. Samuel Slater is the foremost citizen of the state, he ought at least in the interest of harmony as well as for the sake of justice declare that he is one of the most distinguished and useful citizens of Philadelphia; and next to Matthew Stanley Quay the greatest statesman, scholar and diplomat of the age. The Hon. Samuel Slater may be of great service to the Hon. Samuel Pennypacker in the present campaign as Major General of the ballot box brigade.

WHAT THE BOOK MIGHT SAY. The preface of the book itself ought to describe how Emil Petroff and W. H. Kemble were sentenced to prison for bribery in one of Quay's schemes, and how the Old Man worked the Pardon Board to have them pardoned before entering on their term of sentence. It may tell what caused Blake Walters to commit suicide. It may have a new version about Don Cameron's payment of $100,000 to the state treasury to save Pennypacker's patron saint from exposure. It may have an interesting tale as to what drove A. Wilson Norris, Auditor General, to a drunkard's death, and what caused A. F. Lynch, W. D. Hart, State Treasurer and Wm. Livesy, cashier of the treasury, to retire in disgrace from public life. It would be interesting too to have it tell who so entangled Benjamin J. Haywood, a most worthy gentleman, in the meshes of Quayism as to cause his arrest for conspiracy and hastened his death in advance of trial. There are many other matters in connection with Quay's control of the state which should find a place in this book.

EARLY SUBSCRIPTION DESIRED. The price of the book is $1.50 and now is the time to subscribe, for, according to the circular, this edition will be limited to 1,000 copies, but, of course a million can be had if people will buy them. The book will be delivered to any part of the civilized world. Even the heathen Chinese who professes Christianity will be supplied at the regular price. Nothing is said of the Hottentots, but no doubt, as soon as providence gives us the tip to begin firing our civilization into them with maxim guns, Quay's book will follow to teach them the beautiful lesson to be learned from one whose life has been devoted strictly to the public service for the good of himself and his son Dick. It will be a great disappointment to Judge Pennypacker, no doubt, if he fails to make enough out of his book to pay his campaign expenses in which case the Old Man might be obliged to give the plum tree another jerk.

Should we receive a copy of the book for this notice, as we doubtless shall, we may have occasion to quote some of the soul inspiring addresses. Some of Mr. Quay's burning words on ballot reform may be timely.

ANDREW J. PALM.

The dredging of coal in the river is growing, owing to the length of the anthracite strike. A Sunbury man is having an additional dredger built. This will give him a capacity of seventy tons of coal daily from the river. The most of his product is shipped to Catawissa and Berwick, while a considerable quantity is purchased here in Bloomsburg. A number of persons in Danville and South Danville are doing river dredging on a small scale and are laying in a winter supply of coal.

REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE.

The Republican congressional conference for this district met at Berwick on Tuesday. A special trolley car was run from here with a delegation who went to "whoop it up" for C. C. Evans, the candidate of this county. The other candidate was Fred Godcharles of Milton. Over a hundred ballots have been taken at meetings in Sunbury and Milton, without result, Columbia and Montour voting for Evans, while Northumberland and Sullivan stood by Godcharles. It is said that Mr. Godcharles considered the conference only a matter of form, and he fully expected to be nominated on the first ballot. When Mr. Evans showed fight and said he was in the field to stay, it was quite a surprise to Godcharles and his friends.

Mr. Evans withdrew however, and Godcharles was unanimously named. This was a peculiar fight, and the various phases of it were quite amusing to outsiders. It is generally conceded that the Republican candidate for congress in this district cannot be elected, and the empty honor does not seem to be worth what it is costing.

It was claimed by some Republicans that Godcharles voted for Rufus K. Polk four years ago when William H. Woodin was the Republican candidate, and that Woodin was now making the fight against Godcharles as an act of retaliation. It was also claimed by Godcharles' friends that as C. H. Dickerman, who will be nominated by the Democrats, is a relative of Mr. Woodin, and voted for him instead of Polk, that Woodin was trying to nominate Evans so as to secure a candidate against Dickerman who would not put up a strong fight, thus making it easier for Dickerman.

On the other hand it was claimed by Evans' friends that as Dickerman did not support Woodin, that the latter would help Evans to make a hot campaign against Dickerman for going back on his relative four years ago.

Of course Mr. Dickerman was no party to any arrangement, be it what it may. He is the only Democratic candidate in the field, and will receive the unanimous nomination of the district, and will be elected by one of the largest majorities ever given by the four counties.

COURT DOINGS.

Court was in session for a brief period Monday morning. Hon. Robt. R. Little and his two associates were on the bench.

W. E. Summers vs. Bloomsburg & Sullivan Railroad Company. Motion for a new trial. Order and opinion of Court filed. Rule discharged.

A. B. Herring appointed guardian of Dora Leidy, minor child of Sarah M. Leidy. Bond approved.

M. B. Patterson appointed guardian of Charles and North Leidy, minor children of Sarah M. Leidy.

Millard F. Bowman appointed guardian of Lizzie Leidy, minor child of Sarah M. Leidy. Bond approved.

Sarah E. Johnson et al. vs. Simon S. Beyer. In equity. Hearing continued to August 11, 1902, at 9:30 a. m.

Estate of Frank N. Turner. Petition for order to modify order of sale as to purport No. 3. Petition granted.

Petition of Morris E. Michael for adoption of Ella Michael Hower. Petition granted.

Estate of Abram Lockard. Order of sale granted.

The D. L. & W. Railroad Company shipped a car load of hard coal to Bloomsburg on Tuesday for use on the switcher. Just as soon as a sufficient quantity can be mined the company will abandon the use of soft coal on its locomotives.

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough.

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Three sizes: 25c, 50c, $1. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows. Leave it with him. We are willing. J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected. The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

Hood's Sarsaparilla which strengthens the whole digestive system

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.

Authorities on the Hunt For Hank Ernst, the Terror.

Hank Ernst, the terror of Columbia county, is again a fugitive from justice, says the Milton Standard, and by this time is probably many miles away from his old stamping ground in Brush Valley.

It will be remembered that Hank and Aaron Trexler fought a duel with pistols last winter on the public highway at Aristes. Both men were seriously wounded, but finally recovered. The court placed both under heavy bail to keep the peace.

Several weeks ago near Kline's stone tavern, in Brush Valley, Hank's bad side asserted itself. He became angry at Butcher Fetterman and opening a clasp knife made for one of the horses with the idea of cutting out the animal's entrails.

However, Fetterman understood the brutal fellow's idea and used a cleaver effectively upon Hank's head, almost sending him to kingdom come.

For some time Hank was courting a widow near Kline's tavern and she was on the point of marrying the fellow, when to her horror, it is alleged, she discovered that he had betrayed her thirteen-year-old daughter. The child's grandparent who is very wealthy, swore out a warrant for the betrayer's arrest, but he had skipped out. A determined effort will be made to capture this terror of Aristes and vicinity, and if he is ever caught in the web of the law, he will be given a full dose of justice in its sternest sense.

TABARD INN LIBRARY.

A Branch Station Will be Established in Our Town—a Chance to Read the Latest Books.

Patrons of good literature will be pleased to learn that through the efforts of Prof. Joseph H. Dennis a branch station of The Tabard Inn Library will soon be established at Bloomsburg in a central location. The Tabard Inn Library is under the management and control of The Book-lovers Library, with central offices in Philadelphia. It is something new, and at its rapid rate of growth bids fair to fulfil the prophecy of the company that there will soon be 20,000 stations in the United States.

The manner of securing books is as follows: At each station (and it is the purpose of the management to have a station in every town and city) is placed a revolving book-case which will hold about 125 volumes. In the larger cities the contents of the cases will be changed twice a week and in the smaller places once or twice a month.

A membership fee of $4 is required from every patron, which is good for life and is transferable. There is an additional charge of five cents a week for the use of books. A Tabard Inn book will be the only identification necessary to procure a book from any of the stations. The member selects his own book. When he has read the book he returns it, not necessarily to the same station, for the books are returnable at any city where there is a station, and pays his five cents for every week he has kept the book.

Exchange tickets may be obtained in packages at 6 for 25c. or 25 for one dollar. The exchange fee is the only expense beside the membership fee and this is paid only as books are used. There is no charge when books are not in use.

Prof. Dennis has been authorized by the Tabard Inn management to accept subscriptions handed in before August 15th at a special rate of $3.50. This offer will positively expire on the date mentioned and as the membership fee will be advanced on Sept. 1st to $4.50 and on Oct. 1st to $5.00 it is unnecessary to remind those desiring to avail themselves of the advantages offered by this progressive library that they should communicate with Prof. Dennis promptly.

"Farmer" Kulp has Gone to a Hospital.

Hon. M. H. Kulp, of Shamokin, who has been seriously ill for several weeks with rheumatism, is somewhat improved. He was taken Saturday to the Medico-Chi at Philadelphia and by the treatment there he hopes to be restored soon to perfect health.
