Tells of Sending a Lock of His Hair to President Lincoln-Latter Enjoyed the Jest and Laughed About It.

John S. Mosby, well known as the commander of a guerrilla band in the service of the confederacy during the war of the states, and who is now a special employe of the department of branch and that section which rethe interior, showed a willingness to talk about his wartime experiences to a Washington Star reporter a day or two ago. The latter inquired into the truth of a story that he had entered Alexandria in disguise and had engaged in some daredevil trick.

"Oh, that story is all nonsense," said Col. Mosby. "I never went to a place in disguise in my life. These stories arose because of the rapid movements of my command. Why, there is an official telegram on file in the war department, stating that I was in Washington in conference with winter rest and pleasure seekers that Wilkes Booth the night of the killing of President Lincoln. # WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent. Washington, November 17, 1902.

The congressional forces are rapidly lining up for what promises to be one of the liveliest and most interesting short sessions held in recent years. The republicans have good working majorities in both houses of Congress and there is nothing to prevent them from having their own way, except the fact that the party is split into several factions and that the two important branches, the tariff revision gards the Dingley bill as sacred and "inspired" are as far apart as the antipodes.

In addition to the tariff question, there is the great "trust problem" which the President would meet with a law under the provisions of which the Attorney General could, when he saw fit, bring action against any trust. Even this moderate extension of the powers of the administration will be opposed, however, by a large number of republican statesmen who owe their political being to the very corporation against which the law might easily be made to operate. That it would be so made to operate under a republican administration is not feared, but the "businessmen" of the country are taking no chances on republican victory in 1904.

Another factor which promises to contribute largely to the prospective gavety is the speakership contest. As the champion of "high and higher" tariff schedules, Representative Dalzell is gaining many supporters in the east. Representative Babcock, who says that the republican victory in the west was gained on the positive pledge that the tariff would be reduced, expects to gain the support of the western delegations who recognize tariff revision as the only element which can save them from utter defeat two years hence. Representative Cannon of Illinois, whose position on the tariff is not well defined is making a strenuous fight on his own account and hopes to be the compromise candidate. A report has reached Washington to the effect that he has entered a combination with Governor Yates, Representative-elect Lorimer and prospective Senator Hopkins to sidetrack Senator Culiom and control the Illinois patronage, but the report is discredited by Senator Cullom who does not believe his friend capable of such treachery.

Secretary Wilson says that the position of the western voters, among whom he has been working for some weeks, in regard to the tariff is one of inquiry, that they are "questioning whether the great combinations of capital may not have got beyond con. over 40 years, the only successtrol and whether certain industries ful remedy. $1 pervial, or speclonger need the protection of the ial package for serious cases, $5. The notorious ship-subsidy bill is again heard of on all sides. It is said that the advisability of its passage will be considered by the republicans in a caucus to be held early in the session.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the car. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an iaflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

"I found out afterward that she rode El Paso. The train will arrive at straight to the white house and gave the hair to the president personally, refusing to give it to anyone else. The president was amused and laughed heartily. No, I was not afraid to do this, because I knew that by the time the president could attempt to catch me I would be 30 miles away. President Lincoln never made an attempt to catch me, because he knew that I would be somewhere else when his men arrived. Many people took information of me into Washington for the purpose of trying to bring about my capture. "I covered the entire south side of the Potomae for many miles each way. and the largest number of men I had meals on the Golden Gate special in 1864, when Sheridan was in the Shenandoah valley, was five troops of cavalry, a total of 250 men. With that command we captured all the arms we needed, all the ammunition, food and clothing, and had a wagon train running to Lee's army frequently with supplies we had captured. No, I was never a general. I was a private in the First Virginia cavalry for the first two years after the war, and began raising my command after that time, beginning with one troop of cavalry. Each man was armed with two pistols and a saber. We had no carbines."

Some Long-Lived Popes.

But two popes have lived longer than the present occupant of the fisherman's throne. St. Agatho, who died at the age of 107 in 682, and Gregory IX., who died in 1241 at the age of 99 years. The list of those who have surpassed the reign of Leo XIII. is longer, and is headed by St. Peter, who reigned (33 to 68) 34 years 6 months and 17 days; Adrich I. (771-795) 24 years 10 months and 17 days; Alexander III. (1151-1181), 30 years 11 months and 23 days; and Pius 1X. (1846-1878), 31 years 7 months and 22 days.
