CENTENNIAL FUND.

The Accounts Audited and a Large Surplus is Found.

LIBRARY GETS IT.

After numerous unavoidable delays the funds arising from the celebration of Bloomsburg's Centennial last August have been marshaled, and the books of the treasurer and secretary were examined on Monday evening by Prof. G. E. Wilbur, H. A. McKillip and E. F. Carpenter, the auditors appointed by the Centennial Committee. They found that the books had been carefully kept, and had no difficulty in arriving at the results, the bills, orders and checks all corresponding to a cent, and the auditors make the following report:

To the Centennial Executive Committee:

The undersigned, appointed by your committee to examine and audit the accounts of the Treasurer of the Centennial Fund, have performed that duty, and submit the following report:

There were several causes for the delay in settlement, one of which was that all the subscriptions were not paid in until recently. It is worthy of note that of the large sum subscribed all was paid except eleven dollars, and there were satisfactory reasons in each case why payment was not made.

COMMITTEE MEETING.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the Council rooms on Wednesday evening to determine what should be done with the surplus. There were present John R. Townsend, chairman, Geo. E. Elwell, secretary, Louis Cohen, Col. J. G. Freeze, W. P. Meigs, W. O. Holmes, A. Z. Schoch, H. B. Clark, C. C. Peacock and R. E. Hartman. Communications were received from the Civic Club and the Public Library, both asking that the fund should be appropriated to the library. Other objects were suggested, among them being the paving of Market Square, and the erection of a tablet or stone to commemorate the centennial. After a lengthy discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the whole amount of the fund remaining from the centennial be appropriated to the Public Library, under certain restrictions, and that it be known as the "Centennial Fund."

The fund is to be placed in the hands of three trustees consisting of the President Judge of this district, the President of the Town of Bloomsburg, and the President of the Library Co. The interest is to be paid for the maintenance of the Library, until such time as the latter shall have shown itself to be established on a permanent basis, when the principal may be used towards the purchase of a lot or the erection of a building. Should the library scheme fail for want of support the money is to be disposed of as may be hereafter provided by the Centennial Committee. Col. Freeze, Geo. E. Elwell and C. C. Peacock were appointed a committee to draft the necessary papers for the appointment of trustees and defining their duties and powers.

In the discussion there was no difference of opinion as to the usefulness and desirability of the Library. The only fears expressed were that it might not be established on a permanent basis, and unless the money were safe-guarded it would be lost in a short time and there would be nothing to show that we ever had a centennial. It was further suggested that the library ought not to be dependent on selling tickets for some sort of show every few days, and on old rubbers and bottles for its support. There should be at least two hundred names secured of persons willing to subscribe five dollars or more a year, and this will insure the current expenses of the library. Otherwise, the sentiment seemed to be, that the constant appeals now necessary to get money for its needs, would soon tire the people out, and kill all interest in the project.

MILLVILLE WANTS THE TROLLEY.

That the people of Millville want the trolley is evident by the action of the Borough Council taken at a meeting held Monday. C. W. Miller attended the meeting and made a report which was favorable to the construction of the road. He asked the council to adopt the "T" rail as his report was based on that style of rail. The council took up the matter and after thoroughly considering it voted unanimously to grant the request and passed the ordinance in that way. There is every assurance now that work on the proposed road will be commenced as soon as the company accepts the ordinance.

A HEINOUS CRIME.

James McAndrew of Centralia, was found unconscious on the road leading from Centralia to Arestes Monday morning of last week. His skull was crushed from the forehead to the base of the brain. He was removed to the Miners Hospital, at Fountain Springs. He remained in an unconscious state until Saturday night when his life departed. An operation had been performed, but it was unavailing.

The circumstances surrounding the crime are of the most malignant and atrocious villainy. He had received his pay at the Midvalley colliery, and was on his way home, when he was assaulted, robbed and then left to die along the road. All his money was gone and his watch had been torn from his vest.

The remains were removed from the hospital yesterday to his home at Centralia. Funeral services were conducted in St. Ignatius church and interment was made in the parish cemetery.

The authorities are thoroughly aroused and no effort will be spared in discovering and punishing the guilty parties. There will be, it is expected, some developments in a day or two which may aid the authorities in their hunt. There are already stories afloat which connect a certain man with the crime, and he is under police vigilance.

Deputy Coroner D. H. Welsh of Centralia, on Monday empanelled a jury, composed of D. Z. Curran, foreman, Frank Miller, James Flynn, D. C. Black, William Laughlin and Edward Gallagher. The body was viewed, but an adjournment taken until last evening, when the jury visited the scene of the murder. They then adjourned, to meet again on Monday when testimony will be heard. District Attorney A. W. Dwyer will attend the meeting on Monday.

A vitrified brick crossing has been laid across Iron at Main, near the Episcopal church.
