

THE NURSE WAS ATTER MONEY.

Nurse Who Visited Bloom Calls on Williamsport Clergymen.

A woman representing herself as a trained nurse from Detroit, Mich., called on the Rev. Edward Henry Eckel, rector of Christ Church, at 2.30 Friday afternoon and gave an appealing recital of her troubles...

Williamsport clergymen are charitable, but the Rev. Mr. Eckel, at least, is not "caught with chaff." He proposed searching questions and finally asked the name of the nurse's rector in Detroit.

The woman had not visited there nor had she sent a message. By phone he communicated with the Rev. G. C. Foley, rector of Trinity church, thinking she may have visited him.

The woman may have been a nurse for she displayed to Mr. Eckel a badge bearing the name of the Farrand Training School of the Harper hospital, Detroit, Mich.

This woman was in Bloomsburg a few weeks ago. She called on Rev. D. N. Kirby and told her usual story, claiming to be an Episcopalian.

Can't Pry Into Wife's Letters.

The gratification of a husband's idle curiosity in receiving and opening his wife's letters against her protest, will no longer be afforded.

The ruling is as follows: "A husband has no right to receive the mail addressed to his wife against her wishes."

As to mail addressed to the children, the father has the prior right to receive it unless there be some particular circumstances in the case.

Game and fish wardens throughout the State will no longer be hampered as they have been for the past two years in bringing prosecution for violations of the game laws on account of the lack of funds.

HISTORIC LANDMARK.

Old Capitol of Northwest Territory Still Standing in the City of Vincennes, Ind.

Within a short time the most historic building in Vincennes, Ind., will be torn down to make room for a modern home, unless some action is taken toward buying it as a relic, or as an ornament for a city park.

No nails were used in its construction, it being put together by wooden pegs. Since that time improvements have been made on it which have changed its appearance, but it is still the old capitol building in the eyes of Vincennes people, and efforts are making to interest the city or state to buy it and transform it into a museum, placing it in one of the parks.

The building is now used as a residence and unless it gets some attention it will soon begin to decay. It is owned by Thomas Kilfoil. It could be bought, it is believed, for about $350. For many years it stood in the principal street in the city and has been used as a business house, as well as a home for numerous families.

Gov. William Henry Harrison read his first message in the old building, and in the message he worked for the passage of a measure that would prevent the sale of intoxicants to the Indians. The measure, it is said, was never passed.

At the session of the legislature in this building in 1807, laws were made attaching the death penalty for crimes of treason, murder, arson and horse stealing. Burglary and robbery were made punishable by whipping, fine and imprisonment.

Between August 12 and 22, 1810, the Indian chief Tecumseh with 75 warriors appeared daily before Gov. Harrison in the old building, and it was in that building that Tecumseh lost his temper and gave the lie to the governor.

Hundreds of historic instances occurred in the old building, and almost every prominent man in the country at that time set his foot inside of it. The last session of the legislature ended in it on March 13, 1813, and it is said that the last law passed in it was that which required the capitol to be moved to Corydon, Ind.

PORTRAIT BY SULTAN.

Ruler of Morocco Is a Failure as an Artist Just as He Is a Failure as a Ruler.

Funny, isn't it, and very like the scrawl of a five-year-old? Any American school boy of ten would be ashamed to own such work; but the artist is no less a notable than his royal highness the sultan of Morocco.

THE SULTAN'S PORTRAIT. (Work of Art Produced by the Eccentric Ruler of Morocco.)

recco to act as the sultan's instructor in drawing, and found his new pupil an impatient, willful, grown-up child, who regarded the American artist as something of a magician, able to impart the power to paint without any long course of drudgery if only he would. The drawing here shown, reproduced from the Century, was a sketch portrait of the artist-teacher made during one of the lessons; and it, to be inferred, does not flatter an American citizen. Mr. Schneider remained in Morocco until March of 1902, and his royal pupil, all adverse conditions considered, really made surprising progress.

WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, June 8, 1903. So great is popular interest in Washington in the Postoffice investigation that it is difficult to find anyone willing or prepared to talk on any other subject.

There are indications that the army is being gradually purged of the unfit officers who, through political influence, obtained commissions during the war with Spain.

Postmaster General Payne, after characterizing the charges of ex-Cashier Seymour Tulloch as "hot air," "wind," a "stump speech" etc., has hastened to publish the replies of Smith, Heath and other officials who deal in generalities and fill in every instance to "make good," as Mr. Payne expresses it.

According to the most confidential reports received from Columbus this week there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth in the Hanna camp at the State convention. The Gridiron Club of Washington once greeted Gorman with a song which ran, Arthur Pue, Arthur Pue, what in the world is the matter with you? We've heard of you downed, unseated, uncrowned," etc.

With Hanna out of the way, the nomination of Roosevelt by the republicans is regarded as certain, and the fight of the democrats is all out. They must nominate a man who can beat the President.

Representative Richardson of Alabama talked interestingly of the situation this week. He said, "I do not believe Mr. Cleveland will be a candidate and I feel sure that he will so declare himself in due time. On the other hand, I believe the wave of popular sentiment in favor of Mr. Cleveland should be regarded as an indication of the kind of man who could win and that this wave of popularity can be turned to good purpose in making stronger the actual nominee."
