

THE COLUMBIAN. BLOOMSBURG, PA.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1905.

BLOOMSBURG 23 YEARS AGO. (Continued from 4th page.)

acquisition he has labored hard, and made ventures, the very boldness of which surprised people, and there were plenty of predictions of failure, but through good management and sagacity he has succeeded. And there are few but wish him continued success, as he has not only benefited himself by his bold operations, but given the town a boost which has sent it booming along the highway of improvement. The next man of wealth is Matthias S. Appleman, an extensive owner of ore lands, who is worth fully half a million. David Stroup, an industrious and acquisitive small dealer, is worth $100,000. The Moyer Brothers, extensive wholesale and retail druggists, are worth fully $100,000, having acquired their wealth within a few years. There are others whose fortunes range from $50,000 to $75,000, but the foregoing will suffice to show that Bloomsburg, although small, has within her borders men of greater wealth than are often found in larger and more pretentious places and that a prosperous future evidently lies before her.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

Bloomsburg has a number of representative men, also, who are distinguished for their abilities as statesmen, jurists and politicians, who should not be overlooked in his sketch. The first deserving attention is the Hon. William Elwell, resident judge of the Twenty-sixth judicial district, composed of the counties of Columbia and Montour. As an advocate he early distinguished himself at the bar, and when elevated to the bench he did not disappoint his friends, who claimed or him superior qualifications for that high position. For years Judge Elwell has been regarded as one of the ablest common pleas judges in the State, and so well satisfied are the people of his district with him that he was renominated unanimously a few weeks ago and will be supported at the polls irrespective of party.

As a politician and a statesman, the Hon. Charles R. Buckalew, who also resides here, stands deservedly high. He served with access and ability as a United States Senator, as well as the representative of his government to one of the South America republics. He is a lawyer of ability and long since made his mark at the bar. He ran for Governor a few years ago but was defeated. Among the literary men of the town may be mentioned Colonel John G. Freeze. He is also a lawyer, but his mind runs largely to literary pursuits, and he has recently prepared an exhaustive history of Columbia county, which is ready for the press. That it will be a valuable work everybody admits, because the industrious and careful author is not likely to have omitted a single item worthy of being embalmed in history. Among the representative men, too, may be mentioned the members of the press. Bloomsburg has three excellent weekly papers. The COLUMBIAN, conducted by Elwell & Bittenbender, is an able exponent of the principles of Democracy. The office is neat, well equipped, and Colonel Freeze's great local work will be printed there. The Republican, conducted by D. A. Beckley & James Brown, is the Republican organ of the county, and a paper of ability. Mr. Beckley has been postmaster since 1865, excepting two years during the administration of Andrew Johnson. On the accession of President Grant he was reinstated and has been kept in office ever since. Mr. Brown, who is a graduate of Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, divides his time between editing the paper and surveying. He stands high as a civil engineer, and is often engaged in running lines and locating proposed railroad routes. The Sentinel, another Democratic paper, is conducted by C. M. Vanderslice, who displays considerable energy in the publication of his journal.

JOHN OF LANCASTER.

Good Prospects for Oysters.

From the oyster beds in Rhode Island and elsewhere comes the information that the recent long period of hot weather has resulted in good prospects for a record crop of oysters during this fall and winter. Dealers say the water has been so warmed by continued hot weather that oyster "sets" have been unusually successful, and a seasonable weather will insure an immense crop.

Welliver, Danville; Chas. M. Clement, Sunbury; secretary, F. R. Slifer, Milton; treasurer, Clyde B. Kaufman, of Williamsport. W. P.
