STANDARD OIL GUILTY.

Government Wins Victory in Prosecution of Big Corporation.

Chicago, Ill., April 16 .- On a verdict returned Saturday night by a jury in the Federal Court, presided over by Judge Kenesaw, M. Landis, the Standard Oil Company may be fined from $1,400,000 to $28,000,-000 for violations of the Elkins law.

After a trial that has been long drawn out and bitterly contested by Government attorneys and counsel of the Standard Oll Company the case went to the jury late in the afternoon, and at ten o'clock to-night a verdict was returned in which the corporation was found guilty on every one of 1,463 counts in the indictment that had not been quashed by Judge Landis.

As the matter now stands, it is one of the most sweeping victories yet scored by the federal government in its campaign against corporations that violate laws. The end is not yet, however. The defendant filed a motion for a new trial, and the arguments on this motion will be heard probably early next week.

Evelyn's Mother Declares that Daughter Did Not Tell Her.

MRS. H. THAW SILENT

Mrs. Holman says she believed Stanford White was an honorable man -Affirms that her love for her daughter is as deep and intense as ever.

Mrs. Charles J. Holman, mother of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, in a 6,000word statement printed in Pittsburg. gave what purported to be the history of her acquaintanceship with Stanford White, and the interest the architect took in her daughter, and vehemently denied the assertion made by D. M. Delmas in his summing up that she was an unnatural mother, willing to barter her child for gold. Evelyn read the statement but offered no reply or explanation. Daniel O'Reilly, counsel for her and her husband, called on her at the Lorraine, and they discussed the statement, but neither had anything to say afterward. Mrs. Holman, in her statement, denied that she was aware that her daughter had been wronged by Stanford White, and continued:

"Had she told me what she told the Thaw jury, it would not have been neccessary for Harry Thaw to kill White, I would have done it myself."

"I was told that Mr. White was a married man. I was worried about it and spoke to him of it, but he passed it off with:

" 'Mrs. Nesbit, my wife is not interested in my little charities. She has charities of her own to attend to. There is no reason why she should not know, but she does not care; it would not interest her.

Mrs. Holman closes her statement with these words:

"As solemnly as though these words were uttered with my last breath I wish here to affirm that my love for my daughter is as deep and intense as it was when I first held her in my arms a helpless babe. Resentment I may have felt, but never hatred, or vengeful sentiments. My heart beats as responsive to her sorrows as though they were woes of my own. Regardless of all that has transpired, my affection is unaltered. A word from her would bring me to her side. The door of my home is open to her. It will swing wide at her lightest tap, to-day, to-morrow and always while
