Among those taking an active part in the proceedings were Mrs. F. E. Jenkins and Mrs. G. P. Frymire of Bloomsburg.

President Coleman is calling attention to some of the town ordinances that are not being observed. Among them are the ones limiting speed of automobiles, forbidding riding bicycles on pavements, and forbidding sale of fire works before 4th of July.

There are several more that might be resurrected to advantage, one being that relating to spitting on pavements.

The Supreme Court recently affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of Harper W. Agnew against the Albert Lewis Lumber Co. The case was tried in the Luzerne county court by Judge Terry, of Wyoming county, and the plaintiff was awarded a verdict for $3,750. The plaintiff had brought the suit to recover for timber cut and removed by the Albert Lewis Lumber Co. from twenty-three acres of land on the North Mountain.

A circular from the Department of Agriculture urges farmers to protect swallows as being the very best friend the farmer possesses. These birds are classified as tree swallows, barn swallows, bank swallows, cliff swallows and the purple martin, all of which are eating birds and the natural enemy of the weevil. From the standpoint of the farmer and orchardists perhaps no birds are more useful than the swallows. They eat nothing of value to man except a few predaceous wasps and bugs and in return for this work only ask protection and harborage.

Dietrick Appeals Again.

Peter Dietrick, convicted of murder in the second degree, at Danville for killing Corky Jones, and sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary, where he now is, has again appealed to the Supreme Court. The case will be heard in March, 1908, and Dietrick will remain in the penitentiary unless released on bail.

Prices Advancing.

Bread, Meat, Fruit and Vegetables Add to Cost of Living.

The prices of meat are advancing rather sharply as a result of the refusal of the packers to pay for cattle which afterward fail to pass government inspection, and the prices of vegetables are up as a consequence of the very backward season, new potatoes, lettuce, asparagus and so on are reported twice as high in price at New York as a year ago, and fruit from southern points is slow in coming forward, while more northern fruit sections report great damage from frosts. The price of flour has also advanced. It is not an easy situation confronting the household previously harassed for some years back by rising prices all around.

Stole Eighty Spring Chickens.

Thieves Made Rich Haul on Bloom Road.

One of the biggest chicken thefts that has been heard of in these parts was perpetrated last week on Bloom road, between Bloom and Danville, when eighty chickens, a quantity of wheat and oats were stolen from one farm house. The robbery occurred at the farm of William Fern, who lives a short distance beyond Ridgeville. The chickens taken were all young ones, and included in the loot which was gotten away with were 5 bushels of oats and four bushels of corn. Mr. Fern did not discover his loss until he rose on the morning after. The thieves left no clues behind.

New Giggling Law Dangerous.

Fish in Pennsylvania Streams May Be Wiped Out.

The adverse reports of the wardens of the State department of fisheries has led many fishermen to believe that the supply of fish in Pennsylvania streams will be entirely wiped out in the near future through the operations of the new giggling law.

Reports are pouring in that no attention is paid to the provisions of the law, which confines giggling to carp, mullets and eels. The wardens say that the giggers go out in large numbers and take any kind of a fish that they can get on the prongs.

Good Investment of One Dollar.

If you have bad breath, constipation, pain in the small of the back, discolored skin, nervousness or dizziness, your only wise course is to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. It will cleanse the blood of all impurities, regulate the Kidneys and Liver, and thus restore a healthy glow to your cheeks again.

To Make Hunters Careful.

Deer hunters all over the State are considerably agitated over a bill recently approved by the Governor, which prohibits the shooting of any except a male deer with horns that can plainly be seen. A doe, fawn or spike buck cannot be killed, but only those bucks whose horns are developed and which can plainly be seen by the hunter.

The object of this is not so much to protect the game as it is to protect the hunter. The statistics show that hundreds of men are killed by careless hunters, who see a bush waving or a movement in the underbrush, and blaze away at it, only to furnish a subject for the Coroner.

State Game Commissioner Kalbfus was instrumental in having the new law passed, and says that there will be very few accidental killings in Pennsylvania hereafter, if the hunters obey the law and hold back their fire until they are certain the target is a male deer with horns. Still, many of the hunters are up in arms concerning the new law.

ABOUT SPRAYING.

Trees in Blossom Should Not Be Treated.

Occasionally we hear of persons spraying blossoms and are surprised to know that in this advanced knowledge concerning spraying and fruit growing any person who owns even a single tree would be so blind to his own interests as to attempt to spray that tree while in bloom. The first and primary reason for not spraying while in bloom is that the spray liquid is quite liable to fall upon the very delicate and tender petal or central part of the flower and destroy it. Thus he would kill the fruit, just as would severe frost coming at the same time. If the person should anticipate a crop of fruit that would be entirely too heavy and should desire to thin it, he might use the spray pump to aid him in so doing, but this would be a very undesirable and inadvisable method of attempting to thin fruit.

The second reason for not spraying while in bloom is that by so doing bees and other insects which are depended upon to carry pollen from flower to flower are liable to be killed by such spray. At the base of flower petals are nectar glands secreting nectar for the purpose of attracting insects of various kinds and their function in turn is to carry the yellow flower dust or pollen from one flower to another and thus insure cross fertilization. In many flowers there are conditions by which cross fertilization is entirely impossible, and no seed or fruit would be produced were it not for the agency of such insects as the bees. Thus even if a person be not a bee keeper, it becomes quite important for him as a fruit grower to preserve the bees that are flying about the blossoms of the fruit trees, and avoid any action that might destroy them.

The third reason for not spraying while in bloom is that there is nothing for which to spray at this particular time, and it is too early to spray for the codling moth, and there will be no decidedly beneficial results to come from spraying at such a time. It is by all means best to wait until after the petals or showy parts of the flower drop, and then spray with the Bordeaux mixture to which is added Paris green or arsenate of lead. The Bordeaux mixture is made by dissolving four pounds of bluestone of Sulphate of Copper in fifty gallons of water and adding six pounds of lime, slacked, and made into a milk of lime and strained. To this fifty gallons of the Bordeaux mixture add either one-third pound of Paris green or two pounds of arsenate of lead. Spray well over the trees just after the blossoms fall and you will kill the codling moth, which is the insect that causes the wormy apples, pears and quinces, and also the curculio, which punctures plums, cherries and other fruits. Repeat this spray in about ten days and no other spray will be necessary for the codling moth.

An Old-fashioned Campaign in 1908.

From Leslie's Weekly.

The abounding prosperity which the country has had for several years thus stands a chance to be interrupted in 1907, and if the interruption should come it might have an influence in politics. The prosperity has made votes for the Republicans. Adversity would encourage the Democrats to make a harder canvas in 1908 than they otherwise would put up. It would also alter the issue by putting the tariff at the front. Should hard times come there would be a halt in the programme for additional legislation against railways and other big corporations, and the tariff would be assailed by the Democrats as an alleged cause of the set-back in business. The Republicans would rally round the tariff as one of the factors in the country's industrial expansion. Thus we would have an old-fashioned campaign, with the tariff as the paramount issue, and all the recent burning questions would be cast into the background.

A GREAT OFFER For You Only

Read this announcement. It is your opportunity. If you don't read it you will miss your chance. The greatest magazines in this country have combined to be offered together at a greatly reduced rate. Never before was such an offer given to the public, and it is safe to say never will be made again. This year several magazines have increased their subscription price, which shows how much greater this offer really is. The only reason we are making it to the people of this vicinity is because the magazine finds they have not as many subscribers as they desire in this particular locality. But only a limited number will be sold at this price, therefore we advise every one to accept this offer without delay. When we have received a certain number we shall withdraw the offer.
