ODD FELLOWS' PICNIC.

Will be held at Columbia Park and will be a Grand Event.

August 24th, and Columbia park is the time and place selected for the Odd Fellows' picnic embracing the counties of Montour and Columbia.

The picnic promises to be one of the most important and largely attended Odd Fellows' event that has ever taken place in either of the two counties. Grand Master, B. H. Hart, of Harrisburg, will be present and deliver an address. The lodges of Danville, Bloomsburg, Berwick and Millville have each arranged to be present with a band. It is worthy of note that of the 137,600 Odd Fellows in Pennsylvania 2000 live in Montour and Columbia counties.

A New Job for Scarlet.

Likely to Become Attorney for the New State Railway Commission.

The State organization is planning to obtain control of the State Railroad commission, created by the recent legislature, through personal efforts of Governor Stuart. But the governor is said to be wary, and it is doubtful if he will even consider the bosses when he makes the appointments which will not be until late in the fall, since the act does not go into effect until next January.

The prospects are that James Scarlet, chief counsel for the capitol probers, will be invited by the governor to become attorney for the commission. Stuart has great respect for the honesty, integrity and ability of Scarlet, and it is said, he has about made up his mind to ask him to take this place. He believes that this selection would at once inspire public confidence in the commission and show that it is not controlled by the corporations or politicians.—Hazleton Standard.

BOMBOY'S MARKET.

The changes at Frank Bomboy's meat market, corner of Main and Jefferson streets, are completed, and the room is now occupied. There is nothing in this section that compares with it. The ceiling is of stamped metal, the counter is of tiling, with a heavy white marble top, the refrigerator has tiling in front, and the frame for the meat hooks back of the counter is of oak. It will compare with the best in the cities.

Bomboy's market is well kept, with a selection of meats that includes everything that can be had in that line. The place is as neat and clean as a pin, and is cooled by electric fans. Mr. Bomboy's success in business is well deserved, as he has always tried to meet the wants of the public. His son Paul is in charge, and customers always receive courteous treatment. Bomboy's market is a credit to the town.

Bishop Bowman 90 Years Old.

Bishop Bowman, the oldest bishop in the Methodist Episcopal church, on Monday celebrated his 90th birthday. The bishop is now retired and makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Caldwell, the wife of the first vice president of the D. L. & W. Railroad company, at Orange, New Jersey.

Bishop Bowman was born at Briar Creek, this side of Berwick, and is well known among the Methodists of this section.

THOMAS GORREY.

Thomas Gorrey died on Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several months with Bright's disease. He was confined to his bed for the past three weeks. He was born in New York in 1848, and seven years later moved to Centuria with his parents, where he worked as a slate picker in a colliery. He attended night school, and subsequently the Millville Academy. In 1868 he engaged with John S. Sterner as carpenter's apprentice, and in 1885 he began contracting as a builder. He erected a number of the industrial plants in Bloomsburg, and was at one time largely engaged in building.

He married Miss Emma Sterner, and the following children, with the mother survive: Thomas, of Milton; Mrs. J. P. McNally, of Milton; Mrs. R. E. Moran, of Chicago; John J., Kathryn, Frances, Helen and Mary, of Bloomsburg. Four brothers and two sisters, all residing at Omaha, Nebraska, also survive.

The funeral will be held at St. Columba's Church on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, with high mass, Rev. J. R. Murphy officiating.

MRS. RICHARD STILES DEAD.

Mrs. Amanda Stiles, wife of Richard Stiles, of Secane, Delaware county, died at her home on Monday afternoon, after an illness of about a week. She was born in New Jersey, and was the second wife of Mr. Stiles. They resided in Bloomsburg for some years while Mr. Stiles was steward of the Normal School, and had many friends here. Mrs. Stiles was an earnest member of the Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Ethel and Evelyn, and the following step-children: Mrs. W. H. Brooke, of Bloomsburg; L. B. Stiles, of Benton; Mrs. Henry Waters and Mrs. Alvira Waters, of Atalissa, Iowa; Mrs. Jose Wilkinson, of Pueblo, Colorado.

CLEAN SWEEP SALE.

Hartman's Clean Sweep Sale is now at high tide, and the crowds that are visiting the store daily are evidence of the fact that these sales are very popular. A great variety of goods is offered at exceedingly low prices. It is not a stock of cheap stuff put in specially for this occasion, but a clean up of genuine regular stock from the shelves. The sale is under the direction of Mr. Wood of Philadelphia, an expert in this line, who has had charge of similar semi-annual sales at Hartman's for several years past. There are some big opportunities in this clean sweep sale. Don't miss them.

Prof. Angelo Heilprin, the intrepid little man who explored Mont Pelee during its activity a few years ago, and who has had a world wide reputation as a scientist, died Wednesday morning in New York. It was he more than any other man who influenced Congress to adopt the Panama route for the Isthmian canal in preference to the Nicaraguan. He was an authority on volcanic activity. A great many will remember the interesting lecture he gave at the Normal School two years ago, which was entertaining and instructive.

The congregation and Sunday school of St. Paul's Church are spending the day at Columbia Park.

A DANVILLE TRAGEDY.

Last Thursday morning a young woman named Agnes H. Garger was killed by falling from the automobile of Fred Owen, of Danville, while coming from the Oak Tree Inn, at about 1:30 o'clock in the morning. She was a member of a carnival company that was showing in Danville, and went out with Owen after the performance. Another young woman of the company went to the same place with Harry Cromwell in the latter's car.

Owen stated before the coroner's jury that after coming around a sharp curve on a hill he missed the girl. Stopping his car he went back a little way, and found her unconscious, having fallen on her head on a stone, and her skull was crushed. He brought her to Danville, but she was dead before he reached there.

All efforts to find any relatives in this country have failed. The girl was an Austrian, and that is all that could be learned. Her trunk was traced to a warehouse in New York, but the latter people refuse to give it up or to open it until an administrator has been appointed. Something may be found in it that will give a clue to her home and family. She joined the carnival troupe at Mahanoy City a couple of weeks before, through a New York Agency.

The remains were buried in Danville at Mr. Owen's expense.
