Death by hanging is the sentence imposed on Prince Yi, the charge being that he pretended to be an official intrusted with a government mission.

"The Japanese, of course, are responsible for this," Prince Yi said. "I do not blame them so much, however, as I blame the traitorous Koreans who have sold themselves to the Japanese."

SUFFRAGE IN NEW ZEALAND.

Women's Influence Felt in Legislation With Good Results.

Women suffrage works well in New Zealand, according to a letter received from Sir Joseph Ward, premier of the country, which was read at the meeting of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage association in Boston.

"The women care for the vote and use it. In 1893, when women were enfranchised, 83 per cent. of them went to the polls, while less than 70 per cent of the men voted.

It appears, however, that this awoke the men to a sense of their duty and the percentage of male voters has consistently risen, until at the last election approximately the same percentage of men and women went to the polls.

The statement that the right to vote renders a woman less attractive and companionable is nonsense. It is useful to provide intelligent topics for men and women to talk about apart from their own private affairs.

It enlarges their mental horizon. A point that has especially struck me in the behavior of women in relation to politics is the absence of wrangling and bitterness.

Altogether, we take our politics more good-naturedly in New Zealand. The woman's influence is felt in all legislation and it is a sane, healthy influence, which makes for purity in politics.

Woman suffrage was granted by a majority of only two votes. Now it is doubtful if in the whole house there would be two to oppose it."

AN Economy.

Paul Merton, in a recent address on insurance, said of a certain proposed economy:

"That would not be an economy but an extravagance, in the long run. It reminds me of the boy and the jam."

"My son," said the boy's mother, "Isn't it rather an extravagance to eat butter with that superb jam?" "No, ma'am, it's an economy," the boy answered. "The same piece of bread does for both."
