conceived the idea of supplementing

each stock bottle with a transparent graduate attachment from which the fluid can be drawn off in the desired quantity without much effort. The graduate tube is connected to the stock or storage bottle proper by a tiny tube, which terminates in a spout fitted with a valve manipulated by a handle. The valve handle is necessary air may enter. In turning the valve the liquid is not discharged from the spout until two small holes

Bathing in the Dead Sea.

Is bathing in the Dead sea in Palastine different from bathing in and dispensing drugs is by the use any other body of salt water? Some of a graduate, into which the liquid writers say it is not, but the Rev. is poured from the bottle and meas-Haskett Smith, author of "Patrollers ured, and necessarily the graduate of Palestine," says that it is. "No has to be washed after each action, sooner has one plunged into the creating considerable disagreeable water than one is whipped off one's feet and goes bobbing helplessly about like a wretched cork. In the effort to regain one's footing and to get back to shore one's feet and shins are barked by the jagged stones and pebbles, and when at length one does emerge from its treacherous bosom. with the lower limbs bleeding and torn, one becomes aware of a horrible tingling and burning sensation in eyes, ears, nostrils, mouth and almost every pore of the skin, from the brine and bitumen which have penetrated everywhere. Unless great care is taken the bather in the Dead sea is liable to an eruption, which breaks out all over the body, and which connected by a wire, or rod, to a is commonly known as the 'Dead sea rash.' The best antidote to this is to hurry across as quickly as possible to the river Jordan and to take a second plunge therein. The soft and muddy waters of that sacred but dirty stream will effectually remove the salt that has incrusted the body."

Keeps Tab on the Bootblack.

To a certain extent the bootblack business has taken the form of a monopoly and the most desirable locations are controlled by a comparatively few persons who are compelled to entrust the different establishment to the care of subordinates, and in order that the properhaps more closely watched in prietors may get their share of the Kentucky than anywhere else, and it profits it is often necessary to put may be called the Kentucky weather some check on the employes. A device of this character which has been recently invented consists of a recording apparatus placed under one leg of the chair and every occupant automatically registers his visit. This apparatus is locked up, so that it is accessible only to the proprietor or his authorized agent and cannot

MIXED THEIR MODELS UP. Men Have Posed for Pictures of Women and Vice Versa.

It is an interesting fact that artists have used women as models from which to paint men and men as models from which to represent women. One of the most striking instances is the well-known picture, 'Napoleon on Board the Bellerophon." A woman friend of the painter was the model of the "Little Corporal." Landseer's famous picture, "The Naughty Boy," was really painted from a little girl, little Lady Rachel Russell. As a matter of fact, says the Strand, the child's mother had taken her to have her portrait painted. When, however, she arrived at the studio she refused to pose in the way the artist suggested and became so sulky and naughty that it was impossible to do anything with her.

At length her mother put her in the corner as a punishment. Then she turned with such a sturdy, defant look that she impressed Landseer, who sketched the recalcitrant little one as she stood. A sense of chivalry toward the child caused him to change the sex of the subject, so he added the broken slate, the rumpid lair and the undone boots, while keeping the disheveled dress, and gave a title to the canvas which has removed it from any suggestion of portraiture.

Wilkle's "Blind Fiddler," which created a furor when it was exhibited at the Royal Academy, furnishes another instance, for the artist actually sat to himself for the figure of the old woman.

Wilkle used to say that one day Bannister the actor called and was shown in while he was sitting on a low seat, dressed as a woman, with a looking glass before him, performing the part of a model for himself. Wilkle was not a man to be in the least discomposed at being found in such a plight. Bannister gazed on him for a moment or so, and said. "I need no introduction."

graduate without lifting the bottle "Truly, no," said Wilkie. "I know you very well, but, you see, I can't move lest I spoil the folds of my petticont. I am for the present an old woman." A Chinese marriage is a solemn ceremony-no talk, no levity, and

On one occasion Guido painted the head of a Madonna, using his porter as a model.

Epidemic is Killing Bees.

Within the last few days State Economic Zoologist Surface has received a number of complaints about the havoc being played among bees in various parts of the State by a disease which he had diagnosed as "foul blood." The complaints have come from half a dozen widely separated counties, including Franklin, Venango, Wyoming and others, showing that the disease if local now, may spread. The bees speedily die from this sickness, which is bacteriological and is propagated among the bees by honey, although persons are not affected by eating honey which may be fatal to its makers.

The Truth About Starving.

Novelists write a lot of nonsense about the extreme suffering that accompanies starvation. It is all poppycock, says Dillon Wallace, in the Outing Magazine. Any healthy person, with a normal appitite, after missing two or three meals is as hungry as he ever gets. After awhile there is a sense of weakness that grows on one, and this increases with the days. Then there comes a desire for a great deal of sleep, a sort of lassitude that is not unpleasant, and this desire becomes more pronounced as the weakness grows, The end is always in sleep.

Successful Women Drummers. "There are numbers of them in Philadelphia," said a well known traveling man, speaking of women drummers, "and they are most successful-more successful than the men.

"One of the most successful drummers I know is an old lady who lives here. She is a grandmother, and through reverses of fortune was obtiged to take to the road, carrying on her husband's whisky business. She's old and comparatively feeble, but she can sell more goods than any man in that line, and I know many men in the business.

"I understand that to-day she has bought a fine house, and sends a grandson and granddaughter through college by her work. There are lots of women on the road who make a business of selling liquors, and, though it does not seem to be a strictly feminine field, they succeed in the work."-Philadelphia Record.

Celebrating Weddings.

Goose Bones and Prophecies.

To celebrate three weddings, more than 3,000 persons recently assembled in a village in Brittany, and for three days kept up a feast, during which they consumed 75 barrels of wine and cider, 15 oxen, 10 cows, 30 calves and 1,000 fowls and rabbits.

Timber for Wine Casks.

"The growing scarcity of timber suitable for the manufacture of staves is a problem that confronts two continents and in which all the wine drinking world, and therefore the civilized world, is concerned," said I B. Goldman, a stave grower and shipper of Hope, Ark.

"Timber best suited for manufacture into staves come from Arkansas and small portions of Louisiana, Texas, Alabama and Tennessee. The timber has been cut in larger amounts every year to meet the growing demand. Prices have advanced, of course, but the demand still advances, or no other wood can take the place of that produced in our section.

"Most of the staves are shipped to Barcelona, Spain, where they are used in the manufacture of wine casks. Both Europeans and Americans have tried to invent something to take the place of the stave, but so far without success. Glass and earthen casks have been tried, but wine does not age the same in these receptacles and it has quite a different

First Waving Flags.

Waving flags are said to have been first brought to Spain by the Saracens. The present Spanish colors red and yellow, came from the old shields of Castile and Aragon.

The Austrian black and yellow were the colors of the Holy Roman Empire. They were adopted, so the story goes, by Frederick Barbarossa, whose fancy was captred at a ceremony in Mainz by the black and gold flooring of the hall.

The crescent was originally the special mark of Constantinople, where for centuries it was used as a Christian symbol. There it was that the Turks first found it when they captured the city in 1458. To-day it may be found side by side with the cross on the churches in Moscow and other Russian cities, where it is used to indicate the Byzantine origin of the Russian faith.

Inked by ribbon, as in $100 machine Visible writing-no carriage to lift. Style of type changed if desired in few seconds.

Light, easily carried-weighs only 101/2 pounds.

The lowest priced practical typewriter.

Every machine fully guaranteed. Why pay $100 for a typewriter when the Postal, which will do just the same work as well, as easily and as quickly will cost you only $25. Why tie up that $75 where you derive no benefit from it ?
