To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties of health but who have exacting duties to perform either in the way of house-held cares or in social duties and func-tions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to uursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Pre-tription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorat-ing nervine. Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSI-TION, a full list of all its ingredients being rics, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemic-ally pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection its may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Plerce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and all-ments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the un-animous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the aliments for whick "Favorite Prescription" is recommended. WARDROBE OF METAL PIPE.

Furniture Which in Useful as Well

A piece of furniture made of metal pipe is not exactly "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," but there are times and occasions when such a device may have its good points. It will answer the purposes of prospectors and others who are compelled to move from one point to point af more or less frequent intervals. It will also fill the bill nicely for the persons in the larger cities who are compelled to live in flats where the knock-down feature of the article will be appreciated.

This article is shown in the accompanying cut. It is made entirely of iron pipe and with slip joints, and it is a comparatively easy thing to take it apart and pack it in a very small space for shipment. The criticism that it is unduly heavy

MAN HANGED TWICE.

The Rope Broke and Murderer's Body Fell.

The first hanging in Indiana county for more than twenty years, took place Tuesday.

The victim was Carmine Renzo, iged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rore, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Renzo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, al-ready half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful.

Renzo killed his sweetheart, Marian Berno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

The "Crank Button,"

Secretary Shaw has a number of electric buttons on his desk connecting with the office of the captain of the treasury watch, says Success Magazine. One of these buttons sounds what is known as the "crank bell." When that bell rings it is supposed that the secretary is being anpoyed by cranks. Recently he was conferring with Assistant Secretary Charles H. Keep, chairman of the "Keep Commission," and Controller Tracewell, whose duty it is to pare down public expenditure to the bone. The conference was one in which Secretary Shaw failed to bebutton." A minute later the captain of the watch and two of the watch force rushed into the secretary's room all heavily armed. When the captain of the watch explained his presence by saying that the crank alarm had been sounded Secretary Shaw looked first at Assistant Secretary Keep and then at Controller Tracewell. These two officials could not grasp the humor of the situation. but Secretary Shaw lay back in his chair and roared with laughter, while Mr. Keep and Judge Trace-in the nail of the forefinger, is said to have been seen for the first time after the death of a well-known lady who was in the habit of coming from hr villa near Nice to play roulet's at Monte Carlo. The forefinger of the ghostly hand, by the way always points or at least is said to, toward the next winning number.

Monte Carlo it may not be generally known, has a very peculiar pension list. On this are insoribed the aames of men and women who have lost their fortunes at the tables. Thee people are paid pensions ranging from five france to 40 francs a day, according to the amount they have lost at the tables and their social positions. A Scotchman, living at Nice, who lost a quarter of a million sterling at roulette, receives a pension of 30s. a day.

Sil ides of men and women who ose their all at the tables are not not so frequent as they were a few years ago. One or two a year is now the average.

According to M. Blanc, the founder of the Casino, "He who breaks the bank today will be broken by the bank tomorrow."

Charles Wells, the famous "plunger," who broke the bank at Monte Carlo, and who became the hero of a topular music hall song, won £60,000 within two days; but he lost it all again eventually. Wells started play with a capital of $6,000, and bet on 'runs" or "series," as they are called at Monte Carlo. He would bet the minimum stakes of 5,000 francs. or the maximum stakes of 120,000 francs. When luck was against him he would bet the former stakes.

Wells stated that, by following ints system, he was able on one occasion to take all the 100 and all the 1,000 franc bank notes supplied to the trento-et-quarante table. The croupiers had to settle one deal with small notes and gold pieces until the eachier had time to bring another $4,000 to the table.

The roulette tables have more fascination for gamblers that the trente-st-quaranto tables. It will be remembered that the earl of Rosslyn went to Monte Carlo a year or two "go with a "system" with which ha haped to win from the Casino bank the sum of £100,000 within a year. dis hopes, like those of many other men with "systems," were not realized.

Rasily Taken Apart.

is answered by the statement that it is possible to make use of a very light pipe which will answer the purpose well and yet at the same time will not be as weighty as to prove burdensome.

Binder Twine From Grass.

For seven years the Agricultural Department has been trying to flud an American substitute for the sisal hemp, from which binder twine is made.

This strong cord, with which the harvesting machines the up the bundles of wheat, is indispensable to the Western farmer. Its manufac-ture has reached meh proportions that "binder twine" plays an important part in each new tariff schedule, and has absorbed the attention of politicians as well as of farmers.

The United States has depended upon foreign countries for the raw material, and a powerful Trust controls its manufacture. These facts give peculiar significance to the successful outcome of the experiments of the Department of Agriculture.

The material which has now proved its commercial importance is the strong wire grass of the slough lands of Wisconsin. Minnesota and other Western States. The plant, known to botanists as carex stricta, is very abundant, but has always been considered useless.

The process of manufacture consists of washing the grass, combing to separate the fibers and spinning specially devised machine, in a which twists a fine protecting yarn in with the fibers, thereby insuring the evenness necessary for use in harvesting machines. The wasto is made into bottle covers, and a cheap and very durable floor matting is also woven from the grass. The new twine sells for one-third less than the old-fashioned article, and is said to do its work equally well.

How Nations Die.

Most countries which have died have gone down fighting. The Roman empire perished like that. And by the irony of fate the power of the Caesars came to an end far away from Rome.

After it had existed for centuries the Roman empire became so vast and unwieldly that it had to be divided into two, says Pearson's Weekly, the empire of the west and the empire of the east. The capital of the former was Rome.

The empire of the west became so weak at last that it could make no stand against its enemies. Rome was sacked by the barbarians , and eventually became but the city of Popes, over which the pontfils reign as kings. The temporal power of the popes lasted till 1870. while the capital of Italy was first Turin and then Milan. Finally, the city was taken without a real fight by the soldiers of the king of Italy. The empire of the east had its capital at Constantinople. For conturies it was the greatest power in the world. But it became honeycombed with vice and enervated with pride and luxury. Also it grew old and weak. Then, in 1842, the Turks made a tigerish spring on Constantinople, and took it by storm. The last of the Greek emperors died sword in hand, and his descendants are living in England to-day, in very humble situations.
