President Roosevelt Delivers the Principal Address.

CHECKS THE APPLAUSE

Demands that the Well-to-do Worthy Be Commended As Well as the Unworthy Rich...

Canton, Ohio, Oct. 2.—With increasing excitement...

STATUE AT MCKINLEY'S TOMBS... The principal address was delivered by President Roosevelt...

The President's personal address... He stopped short and demanded that the one sentiment have as much commendation as the other.

"Wait a moment; I don't want you to applaud this part unless you are willing also to applaud the part I read first..."

ANCIENT EGYPTIAN FESTIVAL

Celebrating the Custom of Cautying the Nile.

The festival dates from ancient times and marks the completion of the Nile. It is to say, the river has reached such a height that the water can be let into the various irrigation ditches.

The Egyptian love this occasion and it is indeed interesting to watch the greeting and style of intercourse between the natives—the khedive of Egypt, the teaching of the forehead and breast, and the murmuring of blessings.

European ideas are fast pervading Egypt, and western amusements are supplanting oriental ones. Let us hope the two surviving Egyptian fetes—Sham el Nessim (the day marking the beginning of summer, literally the smelling of the breezes), and the Cutting of the Khalig—will not follow them; for with them would disappear the last remnant of the ancient Egyptian ceremonies.

TO AVOID PREMATURE BURIAL

Presentations at Weimar—English Society Takes Up Matter.

In England there is a society whose object it is to awaken public opinion on the subject of premature burial and to work for the passage of laws which will make premature burial impossible.

Statistics have been prepared to show that in known out of every 100 supposed deaths one person is resuscitated. Although members of the medical profession refuse to take any interest in the matter it is probably true that many persons are buried while in a state of suspended animation.

It is stated that in the cemetery just outside the town of Weimar there is special provision made against the danger of premature burial. Bodies are placed in the ground until they have spent a considerable time in a cooling vault.

In the fingers of the corpse are placed strings which communicate with an alarm. The least movement will ring a bell in an adjoining chamber, where a guardian is always on the watch.

In several instances by this timely alarm persons prematurely buried have been rescued. It is said that the provision arose from the tradition that one of the princesses of Saxe-Weimar, this being their family burial place, was buried alive here.

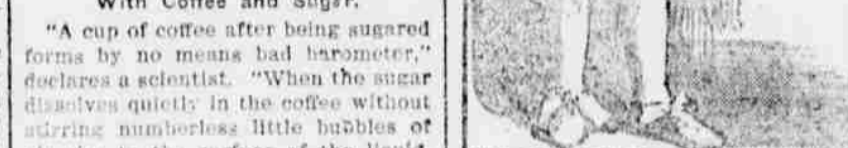

Queen Maud's Scrap Book

A rather unique scrapbook of newspaper clippings is made up by Queen Maud of Norway. Evenings are becoming less in Norway, and the court of Christiania is not only the youngest one of Europe, but at the same time one of the quietest.

The young Queen placed orders with every newspaper clipping agency, and receives from them daily those articles in which King Haakon or she is mentioned. From this mass of writings she selects those which own their origin to nothing but the imagination, the invention or lack of information of the authors and do not correspond to facts.

These are entered in an album on the cover of which she has written things we never read or did not.

The collection is already pretty voluminous and is increasing from day to day. Later on it will undoubtedly be a mine of evidence for historical researchers.

PROJECTS CHALLENGE

The New York Yacht Club Notifies Captain Wentz of Defeat. New York, Oct. 2.—The New York Yacht Club notified Captain Wentz of the Royal Irish Yacht Club. The challenge was issued on behalf of the Sir Thomas Lipton and was, as has been told a brief document.

Mr. Thomas had sent a letter to the club saying that he had disagreed with a boat of the 65 foot class under the New York Yacht Club rules.

He also asked that he be allowed to build two yachts and select the better of the two for the cup race. The challenge simply said that Shamrock IV, was the yacht and the length given was as the 65 foot rating class under the rules.

Consul-General Lefevre declared the club was willing to accept a challenge under the conditions under which the cup had been raced for any time if a 95 footer should be built.

Quincy Says He Got $217,000 From Metropolitan Securities Co. New York, Oct. 2.—That the Metropolitan Securities Company had paid out $217,000 to Quincy Quincy in the last four years was one of the things brought out at a hearing in the investigation of the Public Service Commission into the affairs of the Metropolitan Securities Company.

Mr. Quincy, who was called as a witness toward the close of the session, admitted that he had received that amount and identified several and vouchers connected with the payments. He said that he had been told, but he never saw the Metropolitan's attorney in his new railway route and shut out the Belmont interests.

PLEET IN STORM

Two Lives Were Lost and Four Seamen Injured. Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—During a storm when at times the wind blew at the rate of seventy miles an hour, the North Atlantic fleet at anchor off Cape Cod was in serious danger.

Lieutenant John H. Furse, of the battle ship Hinds, was dashed against a station and died of his injuries; a seaman, Carroll, was washed overboard from the battleship Minnesota and lost, and the cruiser USS Malaga was damaged by being run down by the supply ship Glader, which had dragged her anchor. Both vessels were sent to the Boston Navy Yard for repairs.

Four other seamen were more or less seriously injured.

GRAYS $5,000,000 IF—

Quakers Leaves That Sum to Swarthmore Conditionally. Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—When the will of Miss Anna T. Jeanes, the eccentric Quaker who had a leaning toward Buddhism and who died at the Heikala Friends Home in this city, was probated it was found that property valued at $3,000,000 had been left to Swarthmore College under the condition that all participation in intercollegiate sports be abandoned by the college.

If Swarthmore refuses to meet the condition of the gift the money will go to a new hospital, provision for the founding of which is otherwise made in Miss Jeanes's will.

Smalls Sept Pittsburg

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—The Thirteenth Ward of this city is overrun with snails, four inches long, which have become such an annoyance to the citizens that they have appealed to Dr. J. F. Edwards, Superintendent of the Board of Health, and he is trying to figure out how to get rid of them.

The snails are what is known as the hog-faced variety, and are natives of China. Just how they got to Pittsburg in such large numbers is something that Dr. Edwards cannot figure out, and he has appealed to Dr. W. J. Holland, the scientist, for information.

The Board of Health will try to drive them out.

Mighty Meteor At Sunset

New York, Oct. 3.—A meteor of majestic proportions swept the western sky at sunset. To onlookers it appeared larger and brighter than an arc light seen a block away, but was of a more bluish hue.

The heavenly visitor left a trail of sparks along his whole course as it seemed to travel from due north to due south, and the apparent slowness of its movement greatly impressed those who were fortunate enough to see it. Some declared it to have been visible for a full minute.

Editor Wounded in Duel

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 2.—It has just become known here that a duel between Editor Mazur of The Revel and Dr. Fromy was fought in the rink with swords at St. Pierre, Mi-queelon.

After ten minutes, fierce fighting the editor received a bad thrust of a sword in the right breast. His second, Dr. Thibaud, seeing the nature of his friend's wound, declared Mazur unable to continue the fight.

The duel was the result of an article in The Revel questioning the honor of Dr. and Mrs. Fromy.
