

THAW FACES NEW ORDEAL

His Second Trial Starts Before Judge Dowling With a Rush.

NIGHT SESSIONS NOW

And They May Be Continued Indefinitely if Lawyers Don't Hasten Matters—Nine Provisional Jurors Selected on First Day—Evelyn Thaw Looks Better.

New York, Jan. 9.—There were many indications when the work of picking a second jury for the trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White began on Monday, that an effort will be made to make the trial move more rapidly than the first which took almost three months. There will be night sessions until the jury box is filled and maybe night sessions while the testimony is being taken if the lawyers do not hasten matters of their own accord. Justice Dowling who is presiding at this trial in the Supreme Court, Criminal Branch, showed that he is adverse to any unnecessary delay or long drawn out arguments and speeches which characterized the first trial.

When the first day's session ended at 10 o'clock at night nine jurors, who may be called provisional jurors, for they may yet be challenged preemptorily by either side, had been selected. The proceedings of postponing the peremptory challenges is departure from the usual custom of criminal cases in this county. It was accepted after consultation between District Attorney Jerome and Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Thaw. Justice Dowling approved.

Aside from a few changes in the arrangement of the court room and the absence of several familiar faces, the scene was very much like the opening day of the first trial.

Thaw has changed little. His straight black hair is as wild as ever and accentuates the natural pallor of his face. His queer smile is still in evidence and he did as much talking to the lawyers as ever, although Mr. Littleton paid no attention to him. Thaw's mannerisms, so noticeable at the first trial, seemed a bit more pronounced and he strolled into the court room with the same upward tilt to his left shoulder.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw arrived early in her electric brougham, dressed in the same school girl garb she wore during the first trial. She is a sturdier looking young woman than she was a year ago.

Japs Slash White Man.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 9.—Allan Anderson, fireman, is dying, and two other young men, also members of the city fire department, are badly wounded in the hospital as the result of a fight they had on New Year's morning in the Japanese quarter with an overwhelming number of subjects of the Mikado.

The fight was the worst in the city since the September riots, but it shows that the Japanese are at times ready for trouble and eager to fight with knives that have blades as keen as razors.

Mormon Party Attacked.

Valparaiso, Chile, Jan. 9.—The residents of the districts lying outside the towns recently have formed themselves into bands for protection against bandits who are prowling over the country. The residents of a hamlet about midway between Valparaiso and Santiago attacked a pleasure party composed largely of Mormons, whom they had mistaken for bandits. One of the party was killed and five wounded.

CARNEGIE AIDS POOR WOMAN.

Her Name Is the Same as that of the "Ironmaster's" Mother.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—Because of her name Mrs. Margaret Morrison Carnegie will never want as long as Andrew Carnegie is alive.

Several weeks ago at his home in New York, Mr. Carnegie received a letter from a little town in the State of Indiana, the name of which the Carnegie agents will not divulge. It was signed by Mrs. Margaret Morrison Carnegie, which is the same name as that of Mr. Carnegie's mother.

She did not claim any relationship—in fact she explained that it was impossible that they could be related—but she thought that he might be interested in knowing that a woman who bore the same name as his mother was in actual want.

Diamond Firms Embarrassed.

New York, Jan. 8.—The diamond and jewelry trade of this city received something of a surprise on Monday when it was announced that temporary embarrassments had overtaken four of the largest diamond dealers in Fifth Avenue. The concerns involved, all of them corporations, are as follows:

Joseph Frankel's Sons Company; Joseph Frankel's Sons; Gattie, Ettinger & Hammel, all of 576 Fifth Avenue, and E. M. Gattie & Co., of 420 Fifth Avenue. All of the concerns, it is said, are absolutely solvent.

An incident of the troubles of the Joseph Frankel's Sons Company was the importing by the firm about five years ago of the Hope diamond. The big stone has been unsalable. It was bought by Henry Thomas Hope, a London banker, for about $20,000.

Woman "Financier" & Suicide.

New York, Jan. 6.—The death of Mrs. John Van Ness Roberts of morphine poisoning at her home, 227 Riverside Drive, on Friday night, revealed the fact that the District Attorney's office was about to investigate a transaction involving several thousand dollars in which she was one of the principals. Mrs. Roberts who was known to Wall Street sometimes as Katherine Stuyvesant Roberts, was one of the "financiers" of the social political type.

Two Killed on Warship.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 8.—In an accident on the battleship Nebraska, now at this port, several men were injured.

Mob Japanese in Utah.

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 6.—With cries of "Hang the Japs!" 200 men invaded the Japanese quarters here on Friday evening, and but for the timely arrival of the police a riot would have resulted. The trouble was brought about by the replacing of a number of white laborers with Japanese in the railroad yards.

Skiff Overturns; Seven Drown.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 8.—As the result of the overturning of a skiff containing nine men near Kickapoo, Kans., on Monday, seven men were drowned in the Missouri River.

The men were employed by the Kansas Natural Gas Company, in constructing a pipe line under the river, and the accident happened when they were rowing to the Kansas side, preparatory to returning to their homes.

BELT WILL NOT SLIP.

An Arrangement Especially Designed for Sewing Machines.

In order to overcome one of the most serious drawbacks encountered in the operation of the sewing machine, that of slipping belts, an arrangement has been patented recently which has some novel features. The pulleys of both rotary shafts are supplied with a series of peripheral pins arranged in two or more rows with those of one row disposed of intermediate those of the adjacent row. The flexible belting connecting the pulleys are provided with rows of apertures adapted to receive the rows of peripheral pins. This makes a positive drive which will run easily and at the same time renders slipping positively impossible.

Both the belt and frictional drives are a source of annoyance to ladies operating machines, as they are not usually sufficiently versed in mechanical matters to keep these parts in order.

Bridal Finery.

The bridesmaids' dresses for a coming wedding are wonderfully picturesque.

They are of soft yellow crepe de chine, with Watteau overdresses in chiffon, fleecy, diaphanous; sleeves over with yellow roses. These dresses like sun-brightened gossamer glow the well-hung skirts, each bordered with a band of fringed pompadour silk, with touches of pink roses, a fine artistic touch.

The manner in which the folds at the back pass through a large Louis XIII silver motif is admirable, and a silver tress of the same period forms vest and sleeves, both draped with the chiffon in very graceful folds. The two child bridesmaids' gowns are cleverly adapted to their age and are perfect pictures.

A woman's beauty may be forgotten by the men, but it is never forgiven by the other women.

THE U. S. GOVERNMENT in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well-known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.

The Spirit of Winter.

The Spirit of Winter is with us, making its presence known in many different ways—sometimes by cheery sunshine and glistening snows, and sometimes by driving winds and blinding storms. To many people it seems to take a delight in making bad things worse, for rheumatism twists harder, twinges sharper, catarrh becomes more annoying, and the many symptoms of scrofula are developed and aggravated. There is not much poetry in this, but there is truth, and it is a wonder that more people don't get rid of these ailments. The medicine that cures them—Head's Sarsaparilla—is easily obtained and there is abundant proof that its cures are radical and permanent.

At the average boarding-house table the gossip is always much fresher than the butter and eggs.

Treating Wrong Diseases.

Many times women call on their family physicians suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.
