Postoffice Department Makes a Stringent New Ruling.

Affects All Newspapers.

A recent ruling of the Postoffice department at Washington, which becomes effective on Jan. 1, 1908, makes it virtually impossible for a newspaper publisher to send out his paper without payment in advance from the subscriber. This result is accomplished by declaring that a daily more than three months in arrears, or a weekly paper a year in arrears, shall not be classified as a legitimate subscription entitled to be mailed as second-class matter at a cent a pound, but that all papers in arrears shall pay postage at the rate of four cents per pound and that stamps must be affixed.

It will readily be seen that this imposes a burden upon the publisher that cannot be borne. The one way out would seem to be to require payment in advance, all subscriptions to stop at the expira-tion of the time paid for.

When once in operation the pay in advance plan will work no hard-ship to either publisher or sub-scriber, but on the contrary will be of positive benefit to both.

"A reasonable time will be allowed publishers to secure renewals of subscriptions, but unless subscriptions are expressly renewed after the term for which they are paid, within the periods:

"Dailies within three months. "Weeklies within one year.

"They shall not be counted in the legitimate list of subscribers, and copies mailed on account thereof shall not be accepted for mailing at the second-class postage rate of one cent a pound, but they may be mailed at the transient second-class postage rate of one cent for each four ounces, or fraction thereof."

Under the old ruling the great majority of newspapers circulated virtually free of postage. The new rate on subscriptions in arrears of four cents a pound is prohibitive. The moral is plain-pay your subscription arrearages and in advance, or the publisher will be forced to discontinue the subscrip-

If the proposed Soldiers' Monument can be placed in Market Square without obstructing travel too much, we believe a large majority of the people are in favor of putting it there.

A practical demonstration, however, has shown that a monument with a base eighteen feet square cannot be placed between the trolley tracks without making the street impassable for vehicles when two cars are standing on the tracks at the same time. Could not a monument be selected with a smaller base that will go there without was found that the profits on obstructing the street?

Other places have been suggested, at the Town Hall being one; but where can a monument with an eighteen foot base be placed there that will not obstruct the street?

To decide on a monument of certain dimensions, and then find a place to put it, seems like hitching the cart before the horse, and the county commissioners are acting wisely in not making a selection until the location is decided.

It has also been suggested that the location be left to a vote in Bloomsburg, the question to be put on the ballots at the February election. If it is left to a vote it must The publisher of this paper there-fore calls upon all its subscribers it is a county matter and not the

Again, it would be in the nature of a special matter to be voted on, and the commissioners would have no authority to put it on the ballots except by an order of the court.

We remember having taken part in a public entertainment about thirty-five years ago to start a fund for a soldiers' monument. Now the monument is in sight, but nobody seems to know what to do with it.

Why not move the fountain down to the town park, and put the monument where the fountain is now?

LIBRARY BENEFIT CONCERT.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

There are 130 applications for liquor license in this county. The court will sit as a license court next Monday. Only two remonstrances have been filed, in the cases of Wil-liam Derr who has applied for a hotel license at Forks, and Annie Howell who wants a hotel license at Almedia.

There are two new applicants in Bloomsburg, Geo. Wright having applied for a license for the Fowler restaurant, and the other one being

FIRE IN AN OPERA HOUSE.

While the members of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School of Boyertown, Pa., were attending an entertainment in the opera house at that place on Monday night the explosion of a gasoline tank started a panic, and when the actors on the stage tried to quiet the audience the coal oil lamps used as foot lights were kicked over, setting the place on fire. The loss of life reported from the panic and stampede which followed is 160. The local fire apparatus became disabled, and the building was entirely destroyed. Boyertown is about midway between Pottstown and Reading.

The office of Representative in the legislature is still uncertain. John G. Harman is reported as saying he will not be a caudidate, and W. T. Creasy has not yet decided. The name of W. C. Johnston has also been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Alex. Knouse of Benton has been appointed Mercautile Appraiser, by the commissioners, and was in town on Tuesday to get the necessary blanks and papers for his office.

BERWICK IS ADVERTISING.

Already over 1,000 letters have been sent out by the Berwick board of trade to manufacturers all over the country, giving the prospectus of the town and its possibilities and as a result of these letters many replies have been received showing considerable interest on the part of the manufacturers. A considerable number of these have been deemed worthy of further examination and representatives of some of them have promised to come to Berwick and look over the situation.

Two large sign boards have just been erected and will be lettered in a few days. These sign boards are placed in conspicuous places along the railroads leading to Berwick and will attract attention of the traveling public.

The address of Fred Ikeler, Esq. in the Methodist church on Sunday evening attracted a congregation of 1800 people. It is unnecessary to say that it was an eloquent and convincing address. Mr. Ikeler never makes any other kind.
