FENCE POSTS.

What Treatment With Creosote Will Do.

The United States Forestry Commission have sent out the following ; circular: Fence posts of many kinds of cheap woods which ordinarily would soon decay if set in the ground can be made to last for twenty years by a simple treatment with creosote. Most of the so called "inferior" woods are well adapted to the treatment, and this is especially true of cottonwood, aspen, willow, sycamore, low-grade pines, and some of the gums. When properly treated, these woods outlast untreated cedar and oak, which are becoming too scarce and too much in demand for other uses to allow of their meeting the demand tor fence posts. Impregnation with creosote has been greatly cheapened by the introduction of the "open John Atherholt and Lillie Ather- tank," which can be installed at a cost of from $30 to $45, or much less if an old boiler is used. A tank with a bottom twelve square feet in area will suffice for treating forty or fifty six-inch posts a day, or double this number when two ruus per day can be made. The absorp-tion of creosote per post is about as follows: Eucalyptus, one-teuth gallon; willow, two tenths gallon; sassafras, ash, hickory, red oak, water oak, elm and maple, fourtenths gallon; Douglas fir, quaking aspen and black walnut, six-tenths gallon; sycamore, cottonwood and lodgepole pine, seven tenths gallon. The price of creosote is about ten cents per gallon in the East and Middle West, sixten cents per gal-lon on the Pacific coast, and twenty-seven cents per gallon in the Rocky Mountain States. The cost of treating a post therefore vary from four to fifteen cents. Properly treated, it should give service for at least twenty years.
