Orchard and Garden

What a joy is born of Spring, When the birds begin to sing, And you smell the apple-blossoms In the orchard down the lane.

After each rain stir the ground; once in ten days whether it rains or not.

Seeds can be tested in the house with a pan of water and some cloths, and this is cheaper and better than testing them in the garden.

Remember, the current and gooseberry worms can easily be killed by spraying the bushes promptly with one ounce of white hellebore dissolved in three gallons of water.

If you have a patch of briars to kill, don't undertake to dig them out, but set them on fire; then when the young briars come up, let the cattle and sheep pick them off. This will effectually kill them in a year or two.

Asparagus for market should be properly bunched. To do this well you will need one of the inexpensive "bunchers" sold by seedsmen and implement dealers.

Remedy for aphid or plant lice: These tiny black, green or red insects are easily killed by using a strong solution of tobacco in water. Or kerosene emulsion, or whaleoil soap solution. Apply remedy early, when lice first hatch out and before they are hidden by the curl of infested leaves.

Seed for late cabbage should be sown early this month. A good way is to sow the seed in a well prepared seed-bed in rows twelve to fourteen inches apart. It is much easier to cultivate and protect the young plants from insect enemies in the seed-bed than when they are scattered over the field where they are to grow.

Drags Make Good Roads.

The simple device known as the split-log road drag is working wonders on the dirt roads of Lycoming county. Since the frost has exuded from the ground over 100 of these drags were made and used on the country roads by farmers and by Boards of Township Supervisors.

As a result of the campaign the most glowing reports concerning improved roads are being received. The wide use of the split-log drag is the result of the efforts of the Good Roads Association of Lycoming county, organized last winter, and under whose aggressive leadership a strong good roads sentiment has been aroused.

The Good Roads Association, to add still more ginger to the work, offered prizes aggregating $1000 to Township Boards of Supervisors for the best roads built under the operation of the drag. Fifteen Boards of Supervisors have already entered the contest. One township has had eight drags at work. The new scheme will not only vastly improve roads, but will also be economical.

Horseradish.

Horseradish grows so easily that very few words are sufficient to assist anyone to produce a crop. It does best in soils that are rather moist, but not wet, as that would produce soft roots, while dry soil produces woody roots.

In most gardens horseradish grows a some distant corner with other crops, from year to year, some of the roots being taken up for using and the rest left to propagate.

Must Use The Knife

Said the Surgeon, but Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was taken and the Knife Avoided. The Union and Advertiser of Rochester, N. Y., recently published the following interesting account of how William W. Adams of 127 South Avenue, that city, was saved from a painful operation by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Mr. Adams said: "Three years ago I was taken with kidney disease very badly; at times I was completely prostrated; in fact, was so bad that the day was set for the doctors to perform an operation upon me. But I decided I would not submit. I had been put in hot water baths, and, in fact, nearly every means was tried to help me. Upon the day set for the operation I commenced the use of and from that moment began to gain, and it was not long before I was entirely cured and have had no return of the trouble since. My weight has increased and I never was so well as I am now. I have recommended Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to many people, for it saved my life."

"A Good Name at Home"

"Is a tower of strength abroad"—and the excellent reputation of C. I. Hood Co. and their remedies in the city of Lowell, where they are best known, inspires confidence the world over, not only in the medicines but in anything their proprietors say about them. "If Made by Hood It's Good."

ANNALS OF FORT JENKINS, COLUMBIA CO.

Mountain, from the Delaware river near Stroudsburg in Northampton county to the river Schuylkill in then Berks, now Schuylkill county, in which service I entered as substitute for Jacob Reedy. In May, 1780, was appointed orderly sergeant in Capt. Conrad Rafter's company, in which situation I served that season six months, as follows: two months under Capt. Rafter; two months under Capt. Deal; during this two months the Indians made an attack upon our blockhouse, at which engagement some of the Indians were killed; and two months under Capt. Smeathers. During the winter it was considered unnecessary to continue the service. In May, 1781, the forces were reorganized at the blockhouses, where I served four months. In September of the same year I entered the French service in Philadelphia as wagoner, with Capt. Goshu, wagon master, and was attached to the hospital department; arrived at Yorktown, Virginia, the last of September, about three weeks before the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. I remained with the army in the neighborhood of Yorktown until June, 1782, at which time the French army left Virginia for Boston, arrived at Providence, State of Rhode Island about November, remained there until the first of February, 1783, when the army marched to Boston, and embarked on board of their fleet. I then returned to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, was discharged and returned home after an absence of about eighteen months. I was born, says our family register, July, 1763, near a place now called Hudson, on the North River, in the State of New York. Have continued to reside within Luzerne county from September, 1769, to the present time, excepting five years as before stated."

The first public road that led to Fort Jenkins was located nearer the river than the present one, and was obliterated by the canal when the present road took its place. The Beach family built their log cabin on the site of the canal at Fort Jenkins just below the canal bridge and it was from this cabin that young Nathan Beach then less than sixteen years of age joined Ensign Thornbury's command to fight the Indians who had planned to decoy the garrison out of the Fort by the attack made upon the Rameys and Farrows, settled at where the old Ferry house stood on the bank of the canal and which may have been built by the Rameys who had erected a saw mill on the creek which enters the Susquehanna near Columbia Park. The mill was removed by the building of the canal and the last visit the writer made to the place the remains of the dam and race of this first saw mill were still in existence. The saw mill stood on the site of the canal which wiped it out of existence. Visitors to Columbia Park can find amusement in looking up and tracing out the dam and race of this saw mill built by the Rameys. If the writer had the naming of the Columbia Park he would have called it Ramey Park in memory of those old hero settlers who died on or near its site in their struggles and encounters with the Indians.
