From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., May 4, 1908. Senator Culberson, Democratic leader of the Senate, is making an earnest effort in the closing hours of the session to secure action by the Republican majority on some measures which he regards as of vital importance to the welfare of the people and, if he can secure the hearty co-operation of his party colleagues, the next weeks of Conboth ends of the Capitol with post them ultimately into accepting the sibly a postponement of the final Aldrich bill, whether they like it or date of adjournment. A peculiar drama is being enacted by Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon with regard to the financial legislation recommended by the President. The House has indicated its great unwillingness to pass the Aldrich bill, but Mr. Cannon has promised that it shall, and he is carefully making his preparations to coerce the majority into doing his bidding. He has caused the Public Building bill, popularly known as the "Pork Bar'l," to be held up and he will not permit its final passage until the majority have voted as he tells them to on the financial bill. The Public Building bill contains provision for postoffices, customs houses and similar buildings which will reach an aggregate cost of $20,000,000. The passage of this bill is of vital importance to some members and its failure would probably defeat cer-tain members when they stand for re-election. They dare not do anything to defeat the measure and consequently it seems probable that by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free.

Flies and Mignonette.

"For those who object to wire netting in the windows during the summer, a new idea has been found to prevent flies and such annoying pests from entering the house. This preventative is a window-box of mignonette. It seems that the insects do not care to face the odor of this charming flower, so that it is an effectual barrier against their invasion. It sounds like a very pretty idea, and we may expect to see ugly wire screens entirely discarded and the windows decorated with dainty boxes filled with the sweet blossoms."

The above is clipped from an exchange, but we don't take any stock in it. The mignonette scheme may work all right early in the season, but later on when the flies wake up, the old wire screens will go in just the same. A fly can revel in a manure heap and feast on carrion of the rankest kind, and it is absurd to say that he will turn his nose up at a sweet little flower.

Mignonette is all right in its place, but don't depend on it to keep the flies out.

PILLOWS FOR THE SICK.

Have Plenty of Little Ones to Tuck in Around an Invalid.

There is no problem more difficult of solution than how to make a long stay in bed or a convalescing period comfortable for the patient.

Pillows, pillows, pillows, a score or more of them is the solution, says the Circle. Not full sized heavy feather pillows, but small light wool, down, hair, or even balm cushions are the comforts which ease the patient's tired muscles.

They should be in sizes ranging from ten to eighteen inches in length and from eight to twelve inches wide, or they can be made square. The larger ones are excellent if made of hair and tufted like a mattress.

These little comfort cushions can be slipped under the neck, at the small of the back, under the knees or heels, and placed where a tired arm can rest comfortably upon them; this for the patient in bed.

When the patient is sitting up the pillows can be tucked in all the hollows, and are especially useful in preventing that awful ache where the bend of the knees rests against the chair.

These small pillows also fit nicely in the hollows of the regular bed pillows when the patient sits up in bed, and they are convenient for the nurse to rest her elbow or neck upon if she has to support the patient for any length of time. good round dozen of these cushions will not be too many and they will be found an invaluable ald to both nurse and patient.

Maine Man Up on Turnips.

The lobby of the Saco court room has its usual number of story tellers. A venerable member of the bar told the following story recently: A young lawyer of the village of Marshfield once came to Danlel Webster and asked him what he had better study to build himself up in his profession. "Turnip seed," was the laconic reply. The disciple of Plackstone followed his advice. He studied up everything that bore upon the subject of turnips, until he became a master of the principles of that vegetable. A year or two afterward a neighboring farmer originated a new turnip, from the sale of whose seed he expected to make a fortune. Another neighbor began to raise and sell the same seed and a lawsuit resulted. The originator of the seed came to retain Webster to prosecute the case. Webster replied: "I am not as well booked upon turnips as I ought to be, but there a young fellow over at who knows all about them. Go and get him. He will win your case.' The farmer posted off and engaged When the trial came off the lawyer, astonished the judge, jury, and audience, by his profound learning on the subject of turnips. The case was triumphantly won, and the young lawyer started on the road to fame and fortune.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Thumb Bells.

The thimble was originally called a thumb bell by tre English, because worn on the thumb, then a thumble, and finally its present name. It was a Dutch invention, and was first glass and pearl. In China beautiful carved pearl thimbles are seen, brought to England in 1695.

Thimbles were formerly made out of iron and brass, but in comparatively late years, they have been made of gold, silver, steel, horn, ivory, and even glass and pearl thimbles are seen, bound with gold and with the end of gold.

The first thimble introduced into Siam was a bridal gift from the king to the Queen; it is shaped liked a lotus bud, made of gold and thickly studded with diamonds arranged to spell the Queen's name.

DOG, GIRL, AND SALOON.

The Little Maid Wes Forced To Give Year To Her Feelings:

The little girl doubtless thought hat she was taking the dog out for in airiug, but the big animal himself present to have the impression that he was the leader of the expedition, and, beyond question, the balance of power was entirely on his side. He dragged the girl along, despite her scolding and expostulation, at a pace which kept her breathless.

Suddenly, either from a whim of his own or because somebody had been in the habit of taking him there, he darted through the swinging doors of a corner saloon. The little girl looked horrified, but, clinging determinedly to her end of the leash, she followed her charge, and as the doors swung shut behind her the casual pedestarian heard this exasperated remonstrance:

"Oh, darnfound it! Don't you know ladies don't go there? It's only a place for mans!"

Pays For Stolen Apples.

Horace Richardson, for many years a leading grocer, but now retired, is in receipt of a letter mailed in this city from an unknown writer, reading: "Mr. Richardson-When I was a girl, a few years ago, I was in your store, with other girls. I took some apples unknown to you, which we ate. I didn't know it was wrong, but I have learned since I grew older, and I inclose 25 cents in stamps, which will fully repay you for all loss by my act."

No name is signed to the letter, but the writer adds: "You do not know who I am but if we both go to heaven then you will know."-Indianapolis News.

The Quality of Hay.

The value of your hay depends upon its quality, and quality depends upon when you cut it and how well you put it up and store it. Black or musty hay shows careless work. The object should be to get the crop cured and in mow without the loss of any of the good qualities it had when standing as grass. Good hay is nothing but grass, with the water squeezed out,
