

MESSAGES FROM THE DEPARTED

May Be Seen Through a Medium and Sir Oliver Lodge is Now Convinced

EXISTENCE AFTER DEATH'S CALL

Hollandrones Got Them From Departed Searchers When Her Mind Was a Blank—Hints From Myers Were Hard to Send.

London.—When Sir Oliver Lodge started the public some time ago with the grave assertion of his belief that messages had been received from dead members of the Psychical Research Society by living members...

They consist of messages transmitted through the pen of a medium known as Mrs. Hollandrones. As she sat with her mind a blank, her pen moved and she wrote what purported to be a communication from beyond the grave.

The nearest simile I can find to express the difficulties of sending a message is that I appear to be standing behind a sheet of frosted glass, which blurs the sight and deadens sounds, dictating feebly to a reluctant and somewhat obtuse secretary.

"A feeling of terrible impotence burdens me. I am so powerless to tell what means so much. I cannot get into communication with those who would understand and believe me. You need much training before you can ever begin to help me as I need to be helped, and I do not know how that training is to be arranged. It is like entrusting a message of infinite importance, to a sleeping person."

Living personality is declared to be on a lower plane of spiritual development, which does not receive near impressions from the higher plane of those who have quitted the life of the flesh.

Some of the messages, of which a large number are printed, assume to give some account of existence after death. Immediately after dissolution there is an "obscuration of consciousness," which has led to many failures in attempts to communicate with living persons.

The distinguished writer F. H. W. Myers is quoted as telling that at the hour of his death he became completely unconscious. He added: "The period of oblivion was unusually long with me. There was no link between my utter consciousness of things of the earth. The last thing I felt was the touch that closed my eyes and my passage to the plane I now occupy."

"The transit was absolutely unknown to me, and I am not conscious of a return journey, as it were. When I communicate in this way I am conscious of strain and effort, but I cannot note the stages of the way."

William Stead announces that he obtained through a "lady who often received messages from the beyond" a communication from Mr. Myers to the effect that he had made many discoveries annulling some of the conclusions of his book, "Human Personality," and he intended to make these discoveries known to the utmost extent of his power.

BURIED $10,000 ROTTED.

But Uncle Sam Redeemed Fortune of Man Who Feared Banks.

Washington, D. C.—O. D. Earl left here satisfied that he had practically saved his fortune of $10,000. He buried the money in the earth in 1904 and recently discovered that the tin pail in which the bills were placed had rusted and worn away. Earl, who had aversion to banks, began to have an aversion to everything else when he beheld his $10,000 looking like a lot of withered and broken leaves.

He gathered the fragments and with Lloyd Rainwater, cashier of the Bank of Morrilton, Ark., came to Washington with an affidavit of how the bills became damaged. He learned to-day that his visit was unnecessary, as the Treasury is constantly receiving mutilated bills from all parts of the country for redemption.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, the veteran "redeemer," who is handling Earl's money, managed to account for more than $9,000 of the bills.

Train Wrecked by a Cornstalk.

Enterprise, Kan.—A fast stock train on the B. & M., was wrecked a mile east of here by a cornstalk which had fallen across the track. The engine was demolished. Several similar accidents have narrowly been averted near here recently, and the trains have been given slow orders when passing corn fields.

PLANT HAS EYES BOTANIST SAYS

Outer Skins of Leaves Are Lenses Much Like Eyes of Insects.

London.—The interest aroused by the contention made by Francis Darwin, son of the author of "The Origin of Species," in his Presidential address before the British Association in Dublin, that plants can remember and can develop habits, has been increased by a paper read by Prof. Harold Wager, the well-known botanist. Prof. Wager declared that plants possessed an organism corresponding to the brain in animals, and further demonstrated that they have eyes with which they can see and see well.

Prof. Wager showed that the outer skin of many leaves are, in fact, lenses, very much like the eyes of many insects, and quite as capable of forming clear images of surrounding objects. This is the case with most leaves, but especially in the case of those that grow in the shade.

These lenses are so good and focus the light that falls on them so carefully that photographs can be taken by means of them. Prof. Wager has taken a great many such photographs and he showed some of the more remarkable. These included a reproduction of a photograph of Darwin, in which the features were distinct and unmistakable, as well as direct photographs of landscapes and people. Even colored photographs were exhibited, and, like the rest, they are remarkably clearly defined.

Not only do plant eyes see well, but the rays of light which by means of them are focused on the interior of the leaf are carried to the interior of the brain of the plant and direct its subsequent movements. It has long been known that the leaves of plants move so that they can get a maximum of light. It is now suggested how this movement is made possible, and the process is almost identical with like movements in the case of animals. A close analysis of the eyes of plants, moreover, proves them highly developed organs.

THE LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

All Through the Night the Surfmen Patrol the Beach.

All through the night the surfmen are patrolling the beach at Monomoy, as they do from Quoddy Head to Cape Florida, meeting in the little shanty on a sanddune called Half-way House to tell one another the news of the hour, and to exchange the numbered brass tags by which the captains may know that the watch has gone faithfully to the end of his post. For ten months in the year the vigilance is not relaxed. During June and July the crews are rewarded for their year's labor by the gift of a generous vacation—without pay. They may fish or farm or do what they will for a living. The captains then sit, each one alone, in the life-saving stations, and of any ship is foolish enough to get wrecked at this time, when, according to the rules of Uncle Sam, there should be neither storm nor wreck, the nearest captain picks up a scratch crew of fishermen and other longshore folk and does the best he can to save lives. Storms and wrecks do occur now and then in these periods, but they really should not, and therefore, Congress in its wisdom refuses to keep the lifesavers on duty. From the wisdom of Congress there is no appeal.

Truly, there must be all the fascination of a game in this serene and still-ful contest with raging Death. It cannot be the bait of wages that attracts these heroes to the service. The surfmen receive $800 a year, and the surfmen $50 a month. During the two months of unpaid vacation they get $3 apiece for each occasion of service. No; there is no money lure in this game. The service requires men of perfect health and strength. Whenever the surgeon discovers surfman or captain to have fallen below perfect condition, he is incontinently put out, no matter how many years he may have spent in life-saving. And there is no pension. Mr. Kimball, the superintendent of the department has tried again and again to persuade congress to grant pensions to these men, but congress in its wisdom has always said no. And from the wisdom of congress there is no appeal.—W. O. Inglis in Harper's Magazine for January.

Shirt-Waist Suggestions.

In making yokes, long cuffs, etc., of rows of lace insertion, or alternating ribbon and lace, this plan gives a smooth, firm and quickly made piece, writes a Canadian woman. I cut from a fairly firm piece of paper, an exact pattern of the section I wish to make, and stitch upon this paper with the machine the ribbon and lace as desired. When finished and trimmed to the pattern, the paper may be easily torn away from the stitching.

To save work in making a shirt-waist I always use a ripped waist which fitted well, for a pattern. It is very easy to lay in any tucks or other differing design before cutting the new material upon the old lines. In this way it is possible to make a new waist without going through the tedious "trying on" processes, and yet one is assured of a perfect fit.

The Yellow Peril Overcome.

In putting away white goods from season to season, to keep from yellowing, take a bag made of any old sheet, wash, dip in strong bluing water, and dry. Put clean, unstarched clothes in it loosely, and hang in dark closet.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond that simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure. Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

Standing out in bold relief, all alone and a conspicuous example of open, frank and honest dealing with the sick and afflicted, Dr. Pierce prints on the bottle wrapper in plain English a full list of the ingredients. Therefore not a "patent medicine," but a medicine of known composition.

The fact that money cannot buy happiness doesn't make anyone crave poverty.

MANY SUFFERERS from nasal catarrh say they get splendid results by using an atomizer. For their benefit we prepare Ely's Cream Balm. Except that it is liquid it is in all respects like the healing, helpful, pain-allaying Cream Balm that the public has been familiar with for years. No cocaine nor other dangerous drug in it. The soothing spray is a remedy that relieves at once. All druggists, 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.
