Pure Food Bill Passed by Senate, with Drugs.

Useless Protests Against Benzoate, Though House Will Give it Hard Test.

Senator Murphy, of Philadelphia, called up and had passed finally in the Senate Monday the "Pure Food" bill which permits the use of benzoate of soda in the adulteration of foods.

This bill was killed last week on final passage, the vote reconsidered and it was on the postponed calendar.

Mr. Murphy called it up and made the first set speech of the session in the Senate, while Clarence Wolf, "Jim" McNichol and "Bill" Keyser, who never made a speech in their lives, crowded about and listened in rapture.

Mr. Murphy read letters and documents from distinguished scientists and chemical experts to show that benzoate of soda is not injurious, and he quoted from the report of Roosevelt's Pure Food Commission, which went into the subject thoroughly, to support his contention. He declared that as a friend of the workmen, representing the largest Senatorial district in the State, he would not think of doing anything to injure them. Here the three listeners above mentioned looked at each other and grinned.

Senator Dewalt, of Lehigh, who originally voted against the bill, said that when home he made inquiries and found that a great many physicians and merchants wanted the bill, and the doctors pronounced benzoate of soda harmless, unless taken in large quantities. On this account he had changed his mind and would vote for the bill.

Senator Gerberich, of Lebanon, who opposed the bill, said he had gotten his information regarding the injurious effects of the drug from the United States dispensary. Hulings, of Venango, wanted to send the bill back to committee with instructions to strike out all reference to benzoate of soda, but the Senate voted down his motion, and then passed the bill.

All the Philadelphia Senators voted for the bill except Durham, who was absent.

The bill now goes to the House, where it will have hard sledding.

No Quail for Two Years.

State Game Commission Urges the Passage of the New Game Law.

The State game commission is ending to each member of the legislature a circular letter asking him to support the new game bill that was prepared by the commission, and not permit it to be amended or naimed so as to destroy its efficiency. The bill is an attempt on the part of the commission to modify the game laws of the State and to place them all under a single title and is alleged to be in accordance with the wishes of the great majority of the sportsmen of the State.

The principal changes between the present law and the new bill relate to the open season for killing game. The new bill opens the ruffed grouse season October 1st; wild turkey, October 15th to November 15th; rabbits, November 1st to December 15th. The quail season is closed for two years. If the fall falls the season will remain as they are now and be most unsatisfactory to sportsmen in certain sections of the State. The game commission says that it feels certain it is voicing the sentiment of the great majority of the sportsmen of the State in asking that the bill be passed.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

Local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Chestnut Farm in Cleveland Township.

Coleman K. Sober, of Lewisburg, known the world over as the "Chestnut King," has secured a place which he considers ideal for the developing of one of his well known chestnut farms. The property was bought from Martin Luther Sober, last week and consists of 165 acres of timber land, in what is known as "Pine Swamp," in Cleveland township, this county.

It is his intention to take off what timber is marketable, and then to clear the plot of all underbrush, and rotten limbs, etc. After this is done, he will commence the planting of his "Paragon" chestnut trees, with which he has won fame and fortune. It is his intention to make this chestnut farm the equal of his Northumberland county property.

In Irish Valley near Shamokin, he has planted thousands of native chestnut trees, upon which he has grafted the Italian or "Paragon" chestnuts. Last year he harvested 3,000 bushels, all of which were sold in the State of Washington for the average price of $6 per bushel.

This year he has 300,000 grafts started, and expects to graft 100,000 trees on his farm there. The balance he will sell to Glen Bros., a nursery firm, in Rochester, N. Y., which has contracted to take all the grafts he can raise. With new trees coming on this year, and a good crop, there is no present reason, he says, why the crop ought not to exceed 5,000 bushels on the farm.

The intention of Mr. Sober is to eventually sell his chestnuts in all parts of the country. He has had his farm in Irish Valley about 10 years, and has made a great success of it.

Your 1909 Advertising.

If it is to appear in Philadelphia should be placed in The Philadelphia Press, The Great Home Newspaper of Philadelphia. The advertiser in The Daily Press makes the most direct appeal it is possible to make to the purchasing power of Philadelphia. Because The Press is the paper that goes into the majority of the better class of homes. It is the paper the wife insists upon having. It is the paper the thoughtful parent puts into the hands of son and daughter. It is the paper the men of the household want for its dependable news. Its character, its prestige, its reliability are the reasons why. There's no scattered-shot circulation, no hit-or-miss advertising with The Press. There's no guess-work either about The Press circulation; it is the one morning paper in Philadelphia which issues a detailed statement sworn to. The present rate of The Philadelphia Press, for the quantity and quality of its circulation, makes it the biggest value in advertising in Philadelphia. For rates, etc., write to The Philadelphia Press, Philadelphia.

Luzerne county's $2,000,000 Court House is being destroyed more rapidly in proportion than it took to construct it. The Dorrance breaker, owned by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, is causing the destruction by sending down coal dust by the ton. This is fast blackening the exterior and doing great damage to the interior by settling on the beautiful marble pillars and fine furnishing. Because of this damage proceedings are to be started in the course of a short time to have the breaker condemned as a nuisance, says The Freeland Tribune.

Woman's Home Companion for April.

The Woman's Home Companion for April is full of Easter suggestions, spring fashions, Easter entertainments and Easter dishes. Grace Margaret Gould describes and illustrates the new styles in gowns, shirt waists, hats and in dress accessories. Fannie Merritt Farmer, the greatest cook in America, gives the recipes for many delightful spring dishes. It is a big magazine, cram full of interesting articles, stories, illustrations and valuable information.

Maxine Elliott tells how she built her theater in New York. Dr. Woods Hutchinson gives expert advice on what to eat in the spring. There is an interesting article on the Emmanuel Movement, entitled "How Psychotherapy Works." Prof. Frank A. Waugh explains "The Foundation of Good Gardening." We are told how to make window and porch boxes for plants. A milk expert tells how to make sure that milk is clean.

Cyrus Townsend Brady's new novel, "Hearts and the Highway," is begun in this issue of the Companion, and there are stories by Nellie L. McClung, Laura Spencer Porter, Izola Forrester and Florence Morse Kingsley. The illustrations, as usual with Woman's Home Companion, are by well-known artists, and are the very best.

Of Distinguished Ancestry.

Mrs. Sarah Richard Butler Woodward, widow of the late Judge Stanley Woodward, who died on Friday night at her Wilkes-Barre home, at the age of 77, was of distinguished ancestry. Her maiden name was Sarah Richard Butler. She was a descendant of the late Colonel Zebulon Butler, of the Continental Line, in 1775-1778, who commanded the American forces at Wyoming on July 3, 1778. She was the daughter of Colonel John Lord Butler and a granddaughter of General Lord Butler, who was the first postmaster of Wilkes Barre. On her mother's side, Mrs. Woodward was a great-granddaughter of Captain Samuel Richards, of the Continental line 1775-1781, and a member of the Connecticut Society of Cincinnati. She was married to Judge Stanley Woodward in 1857. Judge Woodward died three years ago. Two children survive.
