Learning the Exquisite Art of Pouring Tea the Newest Society Fad-To Become Proficient, it is Neccessary to Do a Deal of Practicing Before a Mirror

The newest society fad, only that it is not a fad at all, is a style of serving tea. Presumably the learner is a miss of no uncertain age, for the madam could not be trained down or up to artistic shape or formation. In fact, the hands play a very important part in serving tea. A great deal of ractice is required in private before a mirror that never tells tales out of school. The little finger of the pouring hand must never touch the handle of the urn, but remain detached and be made to keep up a constant quivering -not as if the teacup girl were at all nervous, but as an innocent and unconscious exhibition of finger gymnastics. While this finger play is going on, the other hand, with fingers shelves and draining board on either the turtle dove when trying to make up its mind whether or not it will light upon the near-by cherry tree and nestle among the extended in cold pantry. branches all laden with blossoms. But the tea has not left the urn. The eves of the teapot girl have a range of observation to cover, and yet never covering, only seemingly so to give time to the observers to observe the several eye-poses. In concert with the roaming of the eyes the head has its part to play, which it does by apparently conforming to the movements of the eyes, and meanwhile the teacup girl must have a facial exprescion that indicates so much joy that it is but natural that she should part her lips just enough to show her pearllike teeth as through a bank of American Beauties all tangled up in halflaughing smiles. Now the tea and the teapot are ready for service. But we give up the job. We are not proficient enough in word-painting and let an expert, an eye-witness and a woman, tell the rest of the story, which runs the ways in her own graphic style of telling the truth: "The teacup girl has the most charming hands. The fingers have very pink nails cut in the new fashion. They are short, but the flesh is pushed back to make a very pronounced "This moon requires daily attention, for it speedily wanes unless cultivated. It should be a half moon and its color must be a silver, never a dull blue. This, I am told, is all a matter of care and of annointing the finger tips at night.

'The teacup girl has hands covered with a velvety skin, which must be clear as cream. The brown hand is not fashionable now. The hand must be of that fascinating white which holds the eye, it is a plump, voluptuous hand, the fashionable hand, with wide deep nails trimmed close at the finger tips.

"Nearly all great beauties take finger exercises. Lantry for years praticed daily the art of separating her fingers two by two until she could move them in any group of two, a difficult task. The Russian ladies curl the middle finger. French women have a trick of closing the third finger while the others curl around it. These are little mannerisms of the hands, but they are telling when one is noting the beauty of the hand.

One Southern girl in New York has learned somewhere the Madrid art of making rose tea. Never have I seen this made except in Madrid.

"She wears always at her left side, just over her heart, a big pink rose. It is in full bloom with spreading petals just waiting to be pulled.

"At the critical time in the tea mak ing, which is after the rock candy has been laid in the cup and the tea has been poured, she touches the rose with her finger tips and pulls off a single petal, which she lays upon the top of the steaming cup. The action is very taking and the delighted man in waiting takes his cup and stands and sips it. He is too enthralled to stir more than half a step away.

"The tea table must be lower than the one who is pouring tea. Most hostesses sit very high and one woman has an ice cream soda stool such as is used in drug stores, because it gives her height and a chance to be naturally graceful. She looks almost as though she were standing; yet she is not getting tired. The stool is hung with cardinal velvet.

"The hat, if a hat is worn, must be tipped toward the light. A very bright glare thrown upon the countenance will make the tea pourer look haggard even though she be a belle. A big dark hat tipped lightward takes years off the complexion.

Have your hands charming. Make them so lovely that people will want to squeeze them. Let each finger be a poem. This can be done only by constant care in front of a mirror.

Tea pourers should remember that the figure is plainly on view when one pours tea and that one should be slim in the waist, slender in the hips, and broad in the shoulders-truly directoire if one is going to make a good appearance.

Rosy Cheeks. A good brisk walk in the early porning is the best way to bring colto a girl's cheeks. Rosy cheeks are most attractive when the color comes

A MODEL KITCHEN.

Simple Design That Will Delight the Fastidious.

Here is a plan of a model kitchen (scale: 1-8 in. is 1 ft.): A, cold pantry; B, kitchen; C, buter's pantry; D, back hall; E, dining room. 1. Window box to be used to keep food material pinched skin and boney fingers of the in cold weather. 2. Refrigerator with old maid or the chubby hands of the outside door for icing. 3. Kitchen cabinet. 4. Range. 5, Sink with extended, hovers above and about the side. 6. Door for passage of soiled cup not wholly unlike the wings of dishes from pantry into kitchen. 7. Door for clean dishes to be passed back. 8. Shelves in pantry. 9 and 10. Shelves with glass doors, 11. Shelves

LITTLE THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Silver polishing is made less laborious if badly tarnished articles are bolled in soda water before whiting is used.

Cracks in the woodwork around sinks may be filled with melted paraffin or bits of wax candle that are too small to use as lights.

Carpets can be cleaned and colors restored by going over them occasionally with a broom dipped in warm water to which turpentine is added.

Who Says That Fashions Change?

The Men-You are the only woman I have ever loved. The Girls-Oh, this is so sudden!

To Prevent Inhalation of Dust. If, when you are ready to do your weekly sweeping, you will place a small bit of cold cream in each nostril, you will prevent the entrance of dust to the lungs. It is especially bad for the nasal passages and is a frequent cause of catarrh. You will find that the dust will stick to the cold cream and can be easily removed with a handkerchief or a bit of tissue paper. This preventative is also to be recommended when riding in a dusty railroad train, or when going out into the frosty air of zero weather. It will often prevent a hard cold, and will be especially beneficial to all people who suffer from catarrhal or throat affections.

Feminine Nerves.

There are nervous women; there are hypernervous women. But women so nervous that the continual rustle of a silk skirt makes them nervous-no, there are no women so nervous as that.

Bathe the bust with warm water and then massage gently with the following cream: Lanoline, 2 ounces; cocoa butter, sunces; oil of sweet almonds,

To Develop the Bust.

VEAL AT ITS BEST.

Four Good Ways of Cooking Delicate

Veal Terrapin. - Cut into wide dice sufficient lean cooked veal to measure a heaping pint. Melt in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one large tablespoonful of chopped onion, and cook slowly for ten minutes without browning. Add one tablespoonful and a half of flour, cook two minutes, then stir in gradually one cupful and a half of hot milk. When smoothly thickened add the meat, salt and pepper to season and simmer for 15 minutes. Add the yolks of three hard-boiled ggs cut fine, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of mushroom catsup and two tablespoonfuls of sherry, and serve garnished with olives.

Veal a La Turque.-Put some cold cooked yeal through the food chopper, measure and add an equal quantity of fine stale bread crums. Seaon highly with salt, celery salt, paprika and onion julce, and to each upful add one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Moisten with beaten egg, mold into small balls or eggs and roll in warm boiled rice. Place in the bottom of a ancepan, half cover with hot stock, over closely and simmer gently for 45 minutes.

Breslau of Veal-From a stale enf of bread grate sufficient to give three cupfuls of fine crumbs. Chop fine rold yeal to measure one pint. Make a thin sauce with one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of flour, and half a pint of veal stock of rich milk. Add to this the crumbs. cook and stir for two minutes, then set aside until cold. To the meat add one teaspoonful of salt, one-half of a teaspoonful of pepper and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Mix with the cold sauce and add three well-beaten eggs. Fill small buttered molds with the mixture, stand in a pan of warm water, and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center when lightly pressed. Serve at once with a rich tomato sauce.

Veal Klopps.-With one pint of finely chopped cold veal mix one tea spoonful of salt, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper, ten drops of onion juice and the unbeaten whites of four eggs. Wet the hands and mold into tiny balls. Have ready a shallow saucepan partly filled with slightly salted boiling water. Drop in the klopps and poach for five minutes, then skim out, arrange on rounds of thin buttered tonst, and pour around them this sauce: Melt in a saucepan one tablespoonful of butter, add a halfteaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and one-half a cupful each of thin cream and veal stock. Stir until smoothly thickened, simmer for five minutes. When ready to take from the fire add one egg yolk with a spoonful of cream.

FOR LACES OR HANDKERCHIEFS

Cigar Box Appropriately Decorated is Useful Receptacle.

A cigar box decorated in the way shown in our sketch makes a very handsome receptacle for laces or handkerchiefs, or even jewelry. The lld of the box is slightly padded with cotton wool and then covered with a pretty piece of silk brocade, the sides, likewise, are upholstered with the same materials. The inside of the box is padded with cotton wool, and then lined with white satin. There are two pieces of ribbon by which the box may be fastened with a smart little bow. Care should be taken to cover the box as smoothly as possible with the silk, which can be fastened on just inside and underneath with Pointed Finger Nails Frowned On. Fashions change even in finger nails, and the pointed nails of a few years ago are looked upon as almost barbaric at present. It also seems that women are becoming sensible in another digital detail. High pollahing is no longer the rule, as of course, it never was practiced by women of fine taste. The pointed nail and the high polish have passed out, and the chances are historians in future days will look back and rank them with crinoline as evidence of a crude and undiscriminating age, Apple Gustard.

Take four applies, pare, quarter, and cook as for sauce, leaving little ice. A few minutes before removing from the fire stir into the apples the following mixture: One quarter nutmeg, grated; one large tablespoonful butter; the yolk of one egg, and sugar to taste. After the custard has been removed from the fire spread over it the white of the egg. which has been beaten stiff, with a tablespoonful of sugar.

A Pointer. When the rubber plant droops, leaves turn yellow and drop off, try putting a teaspoonful of ground mustard in a cupful of boiling water, cool a little, and pour on the soil in the pot; sometimes a long, black, hard shelled worm springs to the surface, and if you kill the worm the plant will usually recover.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness-womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross. Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indeli-cate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

INVENTORS POORLY PAID.

British Admiralty Niggardly in Its Rewards to Clever Workmen.

The Lords of the British Admiralty issued a circular to the officials of the various naval dockyards some time ago in which a system of pay ment for suggestions made by the workmen employed in all departments was introduced. This, it was hoped, would encourage the men, but the scheme is now practically defunct owing to the extraordinary parsimony of the Admiralty officials.

The workmen manifested keenness in applying their minds to mechanical appliances for saving labor and cost, but after waiting for months received a few paltry dollars as their rewards. Some of the inventions are valuable and will save the country large sums of money, but in no case has any man received more than $25 for his ingenuity. The men complain that they have spent their spare time in patient study to receive in return grants which are ridiculous.

As an instance of the Admiralty's niggardliness one man submitted an invention which enables a diver in difficulties under water to attach another air pipe and cut the pipe which is entangled in wreckage. Until this ingenious device was submitted such a thing was thought impossible. The Admiralty officials adopted the idea and awarded the clever inventor the sum of $15.

What Happened to Amos.

Mr. Amos Cummings used to tell this story about Horace Greeley. "He always called me 'Asa'—never could remember 'Amos.' One day I went out to see Greeley at Chappaqua about some newspaper business. The old gentleman saw me coming as he stood looking out of the window and opened the door himself. 'Come in here, Asa,' he said, as he led me into a parlor. I followed him into the room, and as I was only going to remain a moment, I laid my hat, gloves and cane upon a center table.

"Greeley and I had just immersed ourselves in a talk when Mrs. Greeley swept into the room. The moment she entered the door her eyes fell indignantly upon my hat, gloves and stick on the table. Without a word she swooped on the outfit like a fishhawk, and threw them out of the window. Then she left the room without pausing for speech, as one who had taught somebody that the hall was the place for hats and canes and similar things.

"I was inclined to get a trifle warm; but Greeley stretched out his hand in a deprecatory way, and, cheered me with the remark: 'Never mind her, Asa; she thought they were mine."

Great Ingratitude.

The late Mrs. Calara Dewey How of Philadelphia, whose philanthropic work among immigrants made her well known, had a trenchant wit, and one afternoon, says the Washington Star, discussing the woman suffrage movement with a clergyman, she said:

"You men are all alike. You all reser ble the orphan that Mrs. Stanton on her friends brought up. They sent in through school and made a mineter of him.

"This young minister, the work of their hands, reached his first sermon in their church. That was a proud Sunday morning for the good ladies. They thought they had at last firmly planted among the male sex a strong and splendid supporter. So in their best omess they filled the church.

"longine their emotions when the youth arose in the pulpit, looked calmand even sternly over the congregation, and announced that his text would be from St. Paul:

"Let the women keep silence in the
