Schedule for the Amendments. Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that-

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years. The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under ex-isting law, end in the year one thousand hundred and ten. the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall b held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all elec-tion officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thou-sand nine hundred and eleven. All offi-cers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thou-sand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, town-ship, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Health of the Farmer.

It is perfectly apparent to any one who is at all familiar with country life that many of the women who are called upon to preside over the farm house are properly equipped for the work that is set before them, says the Baltimore Sun. The outdoor life of the farmer should be the most healthful of lives, and yet it is, we believe, a fact that they are not longer lived nor more healthy than those engaged in sedentary occupations. There are various reasons for this. One is the farmer's own lack of care in looking after the sanitary condition of the surroundings. The air he breathes may be polluted by a pigpen near his back door; the water he drinks may be polluted by drainage from his backyard or by things which fall into his well. This is not the fault of the woman.

The average farmer is also notori ously careless about keeping dry. He is in and out in all weathers and is prone to sit with wet clothes or wet feet. The woman's contribution to ill health, when there is any, comes in the form of ill cooked and unwholesome food.

Illustration Incomplete.

Apropos of examination time, Professor Carl C. Peterson of Dubuque, related at a recent dinner some examiation stories.

I peeated the text: 'Arise and take the young child

"Once, in a Bible lesson," he said, and his mother and flee into Egypt." "And then I showed the children a arge picture that illustrated the text n bright colors.

"The children studied this picture eagerly. Then they all frowned; all coked rather disappointed. Finally a little girl said:

" 'Teacher, where is the flea?' "

Discretion.

Valor is often taken for discretion. During a certain battle the colonel of an Irish regiment noticed that one of the men was extremely devoted to him. Everywhere the colonel went, the soldier followed faithfully. A writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer tells the story. At last the officer remarked:

"Well, my man, you have stuck by me well to-day."

"Yes, sorr," replied Pat. "Shure, it was my mother said to me, says she, Just you stick to the colonel, Patrick, me bhoy, and you'll be all roight Them colonels never get hurted.'

A Bid for Fame.

For a long time there had been no sound in Neveda save the thuds of bottoms falling out of mining booms, "Nobody takes us seriously any more," grumbled the people. try to be taken as a joke."

Then the legislators proceeded to read a lesson to the Mikado, proceeding in such haste that they neglected to study the grammar first.

Ambition and Love. Life holds two things worth while -ambition and love. For where the desire for eminence is intermingled with the heavensent blessing of a good woman's love there is small chance for greed to gain the mastery.

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Last By Detention.

While a New York commuter was stalled an hour on a train coming to the city because the electric engine had blown out its fuses he walked through the train and made a calculation. "There are six hundred persons on this train," he said. "An hour lost for each person means a loss of seventy-five working days for one man. If we were all concentrated into one man and he had to suffer the loss don't you think he would feel that damage should be paid for the loss? Why does the distribution of the loss change the responsibil-Ity?"
