LIKES NO BABIES, NO BALLOTS

Archbishop Falconio Sees in It Elements of an Excellent Plan of Suffrage.

Chicago.-The formula of "No babies, no ballots," has been approved by the Apostolic Delegate to the United States, Archbishop Diomede Falconio. He expressed his approbation of the doctrine a few hours after he had arrived in Chicago from Waskington to consecrate Bishop Edmund M. Dunne of Peorla in the Holy Name

"What do you think about the theory of 'no babies, no ballots?'" was one of the first questions asked the Archbishop. He looked a bit puzzled. Then he smiled and said: "You'll have to enlighten me a little. Just what does 'no babies, no ballots' mean?"

Thereupon the interviewer handed the Archbishop a clipping containing the suggestion formulated by Father Phelan of St. Louis two days ago, in which he urged that votes be given to a family in proportion to the number of children. The family would have votes for the father and mother and each child under the Phelan plan. A husband and wife with ten children, for instauce, would have twelve votes, while a husband and wife with one child would have three votes. But a man and wife with no children would have nary a vote between them. They would be disfranchised.

"Now, that is really a very good idea," he said, handing back the clipping. "It has the elements of an exceilent plan." The Archbishop reflected a moment, "Indeed, why not?" he inquired. "Women in some States are given a vote on a property qualification. Surely children are far more valuable than property. It would thus be reasonable to give votes to married persons on the basis of the number of their children."

Wrote His Own Obituary. Springfield, Mass.-Alfred G. Fisher, one of Springfield's best known business men, who died here aged sixty-six years, wrote his own obituary a few years ago. Copies were sent to the local newspapers, which printed it in fall with credit to the author.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptie "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and heed heres or a ranch covering built a county to raise males successfully has nen threshed out and exploded long inc. There are no extensive mule presding plants in Missouri, yet this State raises the largest and finest

A farmer with a hundred acres could raise a couple of mules every year. When three years old it a fair size, they will bring him $100 each. If extra large and well shaped they will bring simost as much more. There is always a demand and a ready murket for any mule, and the bigger the mule the bigger the price.

One man with a farm of 200 acres keeps one driving horse and ten mares. Each one of these mares raines a mule colt every year besides doing all the farm work, and on this particular form there is plenty for then to do

The colts are allowed to run with the mares until four months old. They are then placed in a pasture by themselves and are never allowed to stop growing until they have attained their growth. From the time they leave e mare until they are shipped to arket they are never fed hay or is. Sowed corn, bean fodder, corntalks and straw in winter and grass summer is their diet.

My experience," writes this farmr in Country Life in America, "has tagent me that mules thrive best on course food not fence rails and the vindy end of a barn, but any other on that hay or outs. My rations for y males engaged in heavy railroad astruction work are six quarts of ... a day for each, and one bundle the straw for two mules at night. "it would be hard to find a smothr, sticker bunch anywhere, and they ave not lost a week's work in ave years. They are groomed and curried every night, the same as any valuable working horse, and the drivers are never allowed to whip; any abuse or overloading results in the quick discharge of the driver, for a mule is of all working animals the most timid and shy. They will go any place and do anything if they know it is all right, and if they do not know it will nie do it."

SQUEEZED BY A PYTHON.

Big Snake Beaten Nearly to Death Before It Let Go.

Peru, Ind.-Gus Lambrigger, the showman of Orville, Ohio, had a terrible experience with a python here. The pythen is twenty-eight feet lorg, twenty inches in circumference and weighs about four hundred pounds. The reptile got out of its case and when Lambrigger tried to drive it back it attacked him and wound their about his body and began to crush blue

He called for assistance and it required the efforts of seven men, who heat the reptile nearly to death before it released its hold.

When the bell rings 12, if no one is around Kosse will bark loudly until someone goes to the 'phone. The deg pays not the slightest attention when the bell rings any other number.

Stripped Flock of Geese.

Mattoon, Ill.-A tornado struck six miles south of this city and destroyed the buildings on four farms. No rain accompanied the wind. A perculiar prank was played by the storm. The wind picked up a flock of seven geese swimming in a small pond in the farm of E. M. Thomas, at Sexton, picked off all their feathers and deposited them in a haymow.
