THE COLUMBIAN.
BLOOMSBURG, PA.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1909

AMONG MASONIC VISITORS.

Among the Masons who are here attending the sessions of Caldwell Consistory are Rev. J. R. Dimm of Selinsgrove, and Rev. John Hewitt of Bellefonte.

Dr. Dimm was pastor of the Lutheran church here from 1859 to 1867. In 1866, when Prof. Henry Carver came here and the Bloomsburg Literary Institute was organized, he was engaged as teacher of Latin and Greek. The school was opened in the old Academy, on the corner of Third and Jefferson streets, where Dr. Montgomery's residence now stands. Dr. Dimm's ability as a teacher is well remembered by a number of Bloomsburg people who are now long past middle age. He is now living at Selinsgrove, and is pastor of a church at Shamokin Dam.

Since leaving Bloomsburg he has held many important positions, one of them being the Presidency of Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove. He has preached for more than fifty years, and during forty years was a teacher of college students.

Rev. John Hewitt is also a former resident of Bloomsburg, having been rector of St. Paul's P. E. church from 1870 to 1877. In December 1871 Prof. Carver resigned as Principal of the Normal School, and Chas. G. Barkley, Esq., then County Superintendent, was temporarily elected by the trustees, accepting it on condition that he would serve only until a permanent Principal could be found, his official duties preventing him from giving the school but little of his time.

Mr. Hewitt, had had some experience in teaching, and the trustees prevailed upon him to accept the principalship, and he entered upon his duties in the fall of 1872, and very acceptably filled the position for two years.

Since leaving Bloomsburg he has had charge of parishes in Omaha, Neb., Columbus, Ohio, and other places, and for several years past has been the rector for the second time of St. John's Church, Bellefonte.

MAIN STREET PAVING.

The announcement that in a few days arrangements would be completed by the Town Council with every property owner on Main street from Iron to East for paving with brick, is a mistake on the part of somebody. The authorities of the Episcopal church are not aware of any such arrangement.

At the regular meeting of the vestry in September a committee was appointed to consult with the council and report to the vestry. A special meeting will be held probably next week some time. Until then no one has any authority to state what will be done. If the paving is done, it will cost the church over a thousand dollars, as its frontage is nearly four times as much as any other property owner in that square. Before rushing into it hastily the church officers want to know where the funds are to come from.

HE WILL BE THERE.

As usual J. Saltzer, the well known dealer in pianos, organs, and sewing machines, will have a fine display at the fair next week, and his booth will be one of the most attractive places. For many years he has occupied the same location in the Main Building, and the fair wouldn't be complete without him.

The new show windows in Reber's Hardware store are completed, and make a fine showing. They are much larger than the old ones. The entrance slopes up from the pavement, and is tiled.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The second week of Court opened on Monday morning. The following routine court work was done:

In the estates of Hester J. Barton, late of Bloomsburg, deceased, and Honora Burke, late of Centralia, deceased, application was made for the appointment of auditors to make distribution of the balance in the hands of the administrators.

After a hearing by the Court the restaurant license of John J. Haley, in Centralia, was transferred to Francis Nertney, Francis Shaun, Thomas E. Devine and Stephen Horan testified to the fitness of the applicant for a liquor license. E. J. Flynn, Esq., represented Mr. Nertney.

Upon a petition presented by E. J. Flynn, Esq., the Guarantee Trust, Savings and Deposit Co., of Mt. Carmel was discharged as administrator of the estate of Michael Babis, deceased.

Upon a petition presented by W. C. Johnston, F. R. Drake, guardian of Eleanor Hill, was authorized to pay her $5 per week from the funds in his hands as such guardian.

In the estate of H. C. Hartman, late of Bloomsburg, deceased, Clyde Yetter, Esq., was continued as auditor to make his report Saturday morning.

Tilley Harley vs. John Harley and Mary McCarty vs. John McCarty, both of which are suits for divorce, alias subpoenas and orders of publication were awarded.

In the divorce proceedings of Ida M. Bower vs. Odell S. Bower, Alex C. Jackson, Esq., made application for the appointment of a master.

The case of Tobyhanna and Pocomo Springs Ice Co. vs. J. H. Giger which was an appeal from the award of arbitrators was settled, and in the case of Harvey J. Sult, vs. Wallace Seybert which would have been the next case called for trial, the plaintiff took a voluntary non suit. This left but 7 cases for trial after Monday.

In the matter of the removal of the polling place in North West Election District in the Borough of Berwick, Alex C. Jackson, Esq., Monday presented to the court an agreement signed by the owners, the A. C. and F. Co., and the lessors, the Berwick Cornet Band, that the election could be held at 319 North Market street. The question of removal will be voted on at the November election, the Court having refused to submit the question to the electors until a place had been provided at which the election should be held in the event the voters decided in favor of a removal.

Judge Evans made an order in court on Monday to the effect that hereafter when a person living at Centralia or Conyngham township is summoned as a juror and desires to be excused from serving he must make his request before he comes to the county seat. This order was made when A. E. Fetterman, of Centralia, who had been summoned as a juror desired to be excused. The Court said that it cost the county about $12 to get a juror from that place, and it was not fair to the county for them to come, merely for the purpose of asking to be excused. Hereafter they must make their application before they come to Court.

Mr. Fetterman stated that one of the coal companies was taking coal out from under his property and his buildings were now supported by props. Under the circumstances he felt worried and thought he should be at home.

RETURNED FROM EAGLESMEERE.

After spending the summer at Eaglesmeere Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips and Mrs. M. M. Phillips returned home last week. For several years Mr. Phillips has conducted a photographic studio at that resort.

His Bloomsburg studio is now open and ready for business.

EDUCATING NURSES.

Free Scholarships Available.

Philadelphia, the city of Brotherly Love, has an exhibition of practical benevolence in the work of the Philadelphia School for Nurses which is of surpassing interest to every one interested in the care of the sick, the education of nurses and the promotion of public health and sanitation.

The annual report showed that during the past year, ten thousand, two hundred and seventy-five patients were supplied with nurses, who otherwise could not have secured skilled nursing care. Four-fifths of this service was rendered gratuitously. It was shown also that in teaching facilities, available workers and number of students, the School ranks as the largest school for nurses in the world.

Clara Barton, the world renowned nurse and manager of field hospital work, and organizer of the Red Cross Society, having for many years observed the efficient work of the Philadelphia School for Nurses, recently invited Dr. Eugene Underhill, founder of the institution, to visit her, and be present at a conference in her summer home in Oxford, Mass., for the purpose of considering the advisability of reproducing the work in the larger New England cities.

At a public reception, representatives from Lowell, Salem, Worcester, Springfield, Bridgeport, New Haven, Providence and other manufacturing centers, called attention to the need of this service for their respective cities.

Several large classes of students are about to be enrolled in the Philadelphia School for Nurses, who will, doubtless, witness the extension of the work of the institution in accordance with plans now developing as a result of the recent New England conferences. A large number of free Two Year scholarships are available to young women living throughout the entire country, preference being given to those from the smaller towns and cities, and the rural districts. These scholarships include room, board, laundering, uniforms, all necessary instruction, and railroad fare paid to the student's home town upon the completion of the course. A preparatory Home Study Course and a Short Resident Course are also available to those who desire to quickly prepare themselves for self-support, but are unable to devote two years to study. Any reader of this paper who may be interested in the general subject can, by addressing the school at 2219 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., get full details of the work, and the scholarships now available.

THOMAS A. WARNER.

The Muncy Luminary of last week contained the following article on the death of an aged gentleman who was known to a number of our citizens. It says:

"Friday morning, September 24th, at 5 o'clock, at his home near Pennsdale, Thomas A. Warner died at the advanced age of 83 years, 9 months, 23 days. Death was due to Bright's disease. A widow, one son and a daughter survive. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon, the 26th, from his late home, and the interment was made in the Friends' burying ground.

Deceased was descended from one of the first English-speaking settlers in the state of Pennsylvania. William Warner, the first of the family in America, was living on the banks of the Schuylkill as early as 1658, on the land now occupied by Blockley almshouse and hospital. He came from the parish of Blockley in Worcestershire in England and named his new home in memory of his old home. Later the name was given to the township.

Benjamin Warner, a great-grandson of William Warner, moved to Muncy township, this county, about 1786. He was the great-grandfather of Thomas A. Warner. The family have been members of the Society of Friends for several generations."

Mrs. Matilda Warner, the widow, is a cousin of I. W. McKelvey, her father and his mother having been brother and sister, and a cousin of Dr. I. W. Willits, their fathers having been brothers. She is also a second cousin of F. P. and Miss Georgie Pursel, her mother, Elizabeth Wilson Willets deceased, being a sister of Mary Wilson Pursel, deceased, their grandmother, so that she is the first cousin to Wellington B. Pursel, the father of F. P. and Miss Georgie Pursel.
