

WE SHALL SOON TALK WITH DEAD

Dr. Fallows of Reformed Episcopal Church Says Telepathy is a Fact

SPIRITS WILL SOLVE PROBLEM

Physic Phenomena Will Be Taught in Colleges—Churchman Calls It "Immortalism," Which, He Says, Will Soon Be Common.

Chicago.—"Telepathy is an established fact. In recent years great strides have been made in the explanation of psychic phenomena and in the years to come the science of communication with the dead will be made a part of the curriculum of great educational institutions. As its study becomes systematized and more widely spread greater advances will be made and as we now talk with material persons."

This statement was made to a correspondent by Bishop Samuel Fallows of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

Future advancement in the science of "immortalism," which is spiritualism with the "fakes" left out, will some day bring it to the point where it will be studied by the masses just as they now delve into Latin, arithmetic, geography or grammar, according to Bishop Fallows, who spoke at St. Paul's "Why Am I an Immortalist and Not a Spiritualist?"

The Bishop made some startling statements in discussing his sermon with the World correspondent to-day. He frankly states that he formerly fought shy of spiritualism and that he is just beginning to learn.

In the enlightened days to come, says Dr. Fallows, we shall be able to converse with spirits of departed friends and relatives. Their state will be made known to us through these communications. They will be able to advise us on knotty problems, he adds.

In his sermon Sunday, Bishop Fallows quoted a speech of Dr. Adam Clarke, in which that celebrated commentator said:

"I believe that spirits may, according to the order of God, in the laws of their place of residence, have intercourse with this world and become possible to mortals."

"Did you ever see a spirit?" Bishop Fallows was asked.

"No, I never have," was the answer. "But I know persons who claimed to have seen and talked with spirits, intelligent members of my own congregation, whose words I have no reason to doubt."

"I discourage them in their belief. I now feel that their experiences were of great value, and that I sustained an incalculable loss by not going deeper into the matter with them."

"You really believe, then, that spirits may be visible to material persons, and that they may talk with and influence a material mind?" he was asked.

"I do firmly believe that. There are well authenticated cases on record where important actions of noted men have been influenced by some supernatural communication."

"In many cases they were unable to identify the mysterious agencies. They had merely an intangible feeling that they should change their course. But in other cases they were able to remember the spirit who talked to them, to repeat its exact words and to describe its appearance. These instances cannot be doubted, as they come from men high in their professions."

"There are great truths in spiritualism. Many spiritualistic phenomena we cannot understand, but we have to admit them. I have called the new science 'Immortalism' because it depends for its existence upon the immortality of the soul, in which we all believe, and the preservation of identity beyond the grave. Immortalism is simply spiritualism with all the frauds and trickery eliminated. On account of these frauds spiritualism has been shunned by many right thinking people, but immortalism will claim their most earnest attention."

In support of his belief Bishop Fallows quoted from many eminent men who have expressed similar views.

Blackbirds Became Pests. Brazil, Ind.—A wholesale slaughter against blackbirds has begun in this town. The birds come from every direction in great flocks and thousands of them assemble nightly in the trees, their noise making the residents nearly frantic. Flocks of martins assemble in the same neighborhood and attack the blackbirds with great fury. The din has become unbearable, and the people have obtained permission from the officers to shoot the pests.

Landed 163 Pound Swordfish. Avalon, Cal.—While fishing off San Clemente's Island L. G. Murphy, of Converse, Ind., landed a swordfish nine feet seven inches long that weighed sixty-three pounds and was armed with a two and a half foot sword. These dimensions exceed those of any other fish of the species of which there is any record here.

Wants Women to Form "Rat Clubs." Denver.—"Rat Clubs" will be proposed by Wilbur F. Cannon, State Pure Food Commissioner, as a means of eradicating rodent pests and thus prevent spread of disease, at the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Leadville this week.

THE MIGRATION OF BIRDS.

Surprising Distances Traveled by Birds at Different Periods of the Year.

It must have been the birds who set the fashion of going to Palm Beach or Hot Springs in search of summer when the cold weather comes. The distances over which birds migrate are often surprisingly great. The bobolinks, which rear their young on the shores of Lake Winnipeg and go to Cuba and Puerto Rico to spend the winter, twice traverse a distance exceeding twenty-eight hundred miles. The king bird breeds as far north as the 57th degree of latitude, and is found in the winter in South America. The biennial pilgrimages of the little red start exceed 3,000 miles, and the tiny humming bird 2,000 miles. The beautiful little summer yellow bird which sometimes builds its nest under our chamber windows sends some of its kin as far as the Arctic ocean, where they arrive the last of May, only ten or fifteen days after the sun has begun to ride continuously above the horizon, and yet they have come all the way from Guatemala, over a distance of 3,800 miles, leaving members even of their own species to spend the summer among tropical scenes. In a stomach no larger than a pea and an alimentary canal about six inches long, one of these birds will manufacture, from two or three slim caterpillars, a fly, a moth and a spider, its own fuel, and use it with such economy as to transport itself through the air during the whole night at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and at the same time maintain a temperature of 104 degrees Fahrenheit.

New York's Fat Women.

"What has impressed me more than anything else in New York," said a New Yorker who had been living in the west for some years, "when I got back here last week and since I've been about the town is the palpable fact that the majority of New York women are fat. Not fat enough to waddle, of course, but unmistakably stout. In some instances they are almost gross. I was the more surprised because from pictures I had seen I had come to the conclusion that the prevailing New York woman was of the long, lank and willowy kind. Curman has told me that it was because they ate too much rich food and took too little exercise. Possibly that may be the explanation. Speaking to an artist friend on the subject, he told me that it was almost impossible to find a model any more who did not have too much flesh to make her available, and he had to get his models from points outside of New York or do without them."

Valuable Eggs.

A moa's egg has been found in a mining district in Central Otago, New Zealand. There was a fall of earth in a dredging claim and presently the huge egg was seen floating uninjured in the water. The discovery is the more interesting from the fact that it is the second perfect moa's egg that has ever been found. The only other perfect specimen was unearthed by a man while digging in the alluvial soil at the Kalkoune Mountains in the early 60s. This egg, which was nine inches in length and seven inches in breadth, was taken to England and sold for $500. Some idea of the size of these eggs may be gleaned from the fact that a man's hat makes an excellent egg cup for them.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

Swiss funeral customs are most peculiar. At the death of a person the family inserts a black edged announcement in the papers, asking for sympathy, and stating that "the mourning urn" will be exhibited with in certain hours on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table, covered with a black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends and acquaintances of the family drop small black margined visiting cards, sometimes with a few words of sympathy on them. The urn is put on the table on the day of the funeral, and only men go to the churchyard, and they generally follow the hearse on foot.

Lead Pipe for Razors.

The man's own razor was dull, and for just once he had entrusted a face to a barber, whose line of talk was instructive. "Lead pipe will keep your razor sharp," said the barber, as he deftly garrotted the man with a steaming towel. "Get a short piece of the smallest, softest lead pipe your plumber has in stock, and when you are stropping your razor rub the pipe on the strop. Apply it to the unfinished side, and you will have a first-class edge on the tool. I don't know the scientific term for the chemical combination between lead and leather, but it's all to the good for the razor."—Kansas City Journal.

Hazing in Scotland.

They haze in Scotland, too, only there they call it "ragging." A recent exploit of certain St. Andrew's university students was to shave the head of an unpopular man and cover it with red paint. Then their vengeance fell upon one who had refused to join in their frolics. With great solemnity he was tried and found guilty of publishing libels against their supreme highnesses the king of Slam and the dey of Algiers, and for a punishment was forcibly carried to the Swilcan burn, a stream running through the famous links, and there ducked.

Cook Gets New Defender.

Walter Stiles, who has made numerous prospecting trips to Alaska, has made affidavit in Lewiston, Idaho, in support of Dr. Cook's assertions that he ascended Mt. McKinley. He affirmed that he and several companions, who were on a prospecting trip to Alaska in the summer of 1906, were at Tyonek when Dr. Cook's party returned from the attempt to ascend the mountain.

Stiles says he talked repeatedly with Dr. Cook and his guide, Barrill, both of whom described the ascent in detail. Barrill and Stiles were on friendly terms, and Barrill repeatedly declared that the summit had been reached and described how he had waved the Stars and Stripes on the peak.
