PRIMITIVE ANIMALS RETURNING

Wild Creatures of Which Kansans Thought They Were Rid of.

Some time ago Kansas newspapers printed a line or two about the discovery of a white weamel at Oak Mills. adding that white weasels are extremely rare. Lewis and Clark, in 1804, in the journal of their famous expedition, speak of having procured from an Indian on the Missouri "a weasel which was perfectly white, except the extremity of the tail, which was black." Po spa this vessel was the progenitor of the Oth Mills andmal. By the way, it recons that Kansas is coming back to its primitive condition again, especially as regards wild animals.

Many wild creatures that were thought to have long slace disappeared from our soll are making their appearance again. A little over a year ago a paroquet was killed on the Remsburg farm east of Petter. Paroquets swarmed in this locality in the early days. A beaver is occasionally seen in the Missouri River along the Kansas shore. They were formerly as plentiful in Stranger Creek as muskrats are now. Last year Herbert Rogers caught a beaver in the Kaw-River near Lecompton.

Sam and Will McConnell killed a large black bear near Elk City some time ago. John H. Hicks of Kingman county killed a fine specimen of a bald eague out there recently. John Burns caught a white squirrel near Salina last January. It was a perfect albino and had pink eyes. Charles Husted, near Lawrence, comes forward with a black pocket gopher, captured near that place. It is on exhibition at the State university.

Some time ago a deer was roaming about in the western part of Atchison county, but we have not heard whether it was captured or not. Deer were once plentiful and Atchison county About $100,000,000 is to be ex- has a stream named for them. Writing of the local patrol wagon or imperfect hearing, and when it the Penang correspondent of the Straits Times, Singapore, says: forcibly calls to mind at first sight a four wheeled baker's cart, bar the fact that it is drawn by about the slowest pair of bullocks in the settlement. There is nothing grim at all about it, for it is commanded by a sleepy Malay constable perched on the box; its roof and sides are formed of white canvas, and it has no door to close at the back, but merely an opening in which another Malay constable half slumbers. Two or three other constables ride inside sitting on the benches with the prisoners, who seem to be struck with novelty of the ride to make any attempt at escape. I should say that an escape from this prison van would be as easy as falling off a log."
