THE COLUMBIAN.
BLOOMSBURG, PA.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1910
Entered at the Post Office, Bloomsburg, Pa., as second-class matter, March 1, 1888.

The Ushers' Union of the Methodist Church will hold a banquet this evening.

Senator Dillingham on Monday introduced the Stated Bill for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona.

"Ignorance is more pretentious than knowledge."

At any rate, it requires a bigger bluff.

H. C. Frick, of Pittsburg, through the Red Cross society has donated $50,000 to the sufferers from the Paris flood.

A deadlock has existed in the council at Herndon, Northumberland county, since last summer, and efforts are being made to break it.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the old reliable cough remedy. Found in every drug store and in practically every home. For sale by all druggists, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 bottles. 1-20-41.

"Intolerance is usually the child of ignorance."

But not always; man's dislike of the mosquito isn't fostered by any lack of knowledge of the skittish ways of the beast, is it?

The Kentucky Senate killed all hope for prohibition legislation this year by referring a local option extension bill to an adverse committee.

Who ever expected Kentucky to go dry, anyway?

The following letters are held at the Bloomsburg, Pa., post office: Miss Sarah Crosby, Mr. Burton Keiper, S. F. Martin, Mrs. Roy Rishell. Cards, Miss Mary Deihl, Miss Dora Flick, Miss Ella Lawton, Mrs. Roy Rishell.

If You Are A Trifle Sensitive
About the size of your shoes it's some satisfaction to know that many people can wear shoes a size smaller by shaking Allen's Foot-Ease into them. Just the thing for Patent Leather Shoes, and for breaking in New Shoes. Sold Everywhere, 25c. 1-20-41.

Miss Eva Rupert, instructor in the Moody Bible School at Chicago, has been visiting Bloomsburg relatives. From here she will go to Hughesville, where she will spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Steck.

It looks rather ridiculous, doesn't it, to see Congress, the maker of the tariff, inquiring into the cause of high prices?

Seems almost like a pole kitty kicking because the atmosphere is unpleasant.

Meat dealers in the west end of Williamsport report that as the result of the anti meat eating crusade that has been put in force there their sales have fallen off one-third to one-half. But it is said that in another part of the city sales have been on the increase.

Don't Get All Run Down.
Weak and miserable. If you have kidney or bladder trouble, headache, pains in the back, and feel tired all over and want a pleasant herb cure, try Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. As a regulator it has no equal. All Druggists, 50c. Ask for it. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y. 1-20-41.

A swindler is going the rounds of the State getting merchants and others to give him small sums to get through Congress a bill requiring all railroads to carry passengers at two cents per mile. He did Lewistown, Lancaster, York, Harrisburg, Marysville and Duncannon. He has a new name in each town.

A FAMOUS HEALTH BUILDER.
A medicine that will cleanse the bowels and put them in condition to do their proper work unaided will do more than anything else to preserve health and strength. Such a medicine is the tonic laxative herb tea, Lane's Family Medicine. Get a 25c. package to-day at any druggist's or dealer's. No matter what you have tried before, try this famous herb tea.

Commander Robert E. Peary, the discover of the North Pole, has completed his tidal and other observations made for the coast and geodetic survey in the Arctic regions, and has been ordered to report to the Navy Department for assignment to regular duty. This will interfere considerably with his lecture plans.

According to a report from Harrisburg, the selection of Colonel Charles M. Clement, of Sunbury, as brigadier general for the new Fourth brigade of the National Guard, has been decided upon by Governor Stuart and will be announced in a few days. The Colonel has many friends in Bloomsburg who will be glad to hear of this promotion.

Probably the census to be taken this year will show about 200,000 more farmers than at the time of the census ten years ago, and the total should be about 6,000,000 farms and the corresponding number of people employed in agricultural pursuits. Any increase in number is owing, not only to new farms taken up, but to further division of farms in the other sections.

Authorities of Washington and Jefferson College at Washington are stirred by a charge made in a recent issue of a college magazine that students of the school are addicted to the use of drugs. The heads of the college are conducting an investigation. No victims were found as the result of one test although some suspected students were asked point blank if they were guilty. President Moffat will take up the investigation personally today although he has no faith in the truth of the charges.

FOUR YEAR COURSE AT NORMAL.

At the recent meeting at Harrisburg of the principals of the State Normal Schools the question of adding another year to the teachers' course was discussed. No definite conclusion was reached, although the sentiment greatly favored the change. The purpose is to afford more time for a more thorough treatment of required subjects, rather than for the purpose of broadening the curriculum.

CRAFTSMAN BEAT WHEELMEN.

The second Five Hundred contest between the Craftsman and Wheelmen Clubs was played Tuesday evening. The Craftsman won by the score of 22,050 to 20,610. As the Wheelmen won in the first contest, a deciding tournament will soon be held.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED.

Burglars entered the house of Mrs. Sarah Lewis, on Fourth Street, early Sunday morning, and ransacked the place thoroughly. They gained an entrance by breaking a window on the first floor. Mrs. Lewis was in New York at the time.

Sunbury May Boom.

That the Pennsylvania Railroad company is planning to erect large shops, either at the Sunbury shop site or near the big Enola yards is the information from an official source. In case Sunbury is selected the Baltimore and Elmira shops will both be removed to that place. If Enola is selected the two big shops will go to that point.

The consolidation of these shops with the Sunbury shops would mean that 7,000 hands would be employed there, the official said, and that the shops when completed would be as large as the monster shops at Altoona. New locomotives would be built as well as a general line of repair work such as is done at the three shops.

MINE ACCIDENTS.

The Annual Fatalities a Little Over Sixteen Hundred.

Government reports show that in thirteen years, beginning with 1896, and ending with 1908, there were 22,716 sacrificed in the coal mines of the country. In the year 1908, 2,450 miners were killed and 6,772 injured. While the 1909 statistics are not available, the mine disasters were equally calamitous as in previous years, the Cherry, Illinois, horror being still fresh in the memory. Naturally the facts have led to much discussion as to providing effectual means of prevention and also of facilities for rescue and for ready escape from perils of this sort. While a great deal has been done to safeguard the lives of miners, it is evident that neither here nor abroad has mining been made as safe as is desirable. Some of the greatest tragedies in the way of explosions and consequent loss of life last year occurred in foreign lands. Our country, on the whole, is as progressive in this matter as any of its contemporaries—in some respects probably more so. The states in which mining is most extensively carried on have laws intended to make conditions as safe as is practicable, considering the inevitable chances that must be taken in this sort of work, yet great disasters occur. Governor Deneen, of Illinois, moved by recent happenings, has sent to the Legislature of that state a message in which he recommends the establishment of rescue stations at points in close proximity to the mines. He believes, no doubt with excellent reason, that such stations would be of invaluable service as a means of affording prompt aid in case of accident. In fact, the experimental work already done under the direction of the United States Geological Surveys, which has a training school at Pittsburg, has shown what can be accomplished. Another bill, suggested by the State Mining Commission, and also approved by Governor Deneen, would establish miners' and mechanics' institutes in which men could be thoroughly instructed in the technique of mining. Scores of accidents occur through the ignorance of miners themselves, who, with better understanding of the forces with which they have to deal might learn to avoid much of the danger which now they too often directly invite.

Profit in Old Money.

In the redemption of gold and silver coins and paper money Uncle Sam makes a profit. While he loses a little by erosion on the coins, he more than makes up the difference by redeeming paper currency. While the exact amount is not stated, it is known that with every redemption of paper money Uncle Sam comes out ahead.

About 40 years ago the Government called in the little war shillings, yet during all this period and from various sources there have been coming back to the Treasury Department for redemption thousands of the 50-cent, 25-cent, 10-cent and 5-cent issues of paper. Millions of them. Treasury officials say, are still out.

According to the most accurate accounting, $15,236,721.28 worth of these shillings were issued, in 1862, 1863 and 1864. Congress, in 1879, decided that $8,375,934 worth of these bills had been lost or destroyed.

Law Doesn't Protect Fowls.

A farmer in New York State brought suit to recover value of some of his fowls that had been run over and decapitated by a speeding automobile on a back country road. The Court held that under the highway law in relation to stray fowls on any public thoroughfare, even in front of the residence of the owner, these are not only unprotected from such an accident as being killed by a motor car, but may be taken and impounded the same as cattle, horses or sheep. Owners or drivers of automobiles are not liable for the value of poultry that may be run over and killed on a public highway. The owner must take the risk of accidental loss.

Has Killed 100 Foxes.

William Seigfried, a well-known hunter, who resides at the foot of the Nescopeck Mountain, in Luzerne county, on Saturday shot two foxes, which totals 100 shot during his lifetime in that vicinity. Some time ago, when he had dispatched his seventy-fifth fox, he registered a vow that he would kill 100 foxes if his life was spared, and on Saturday his wish was gratified. He has killed eight foxes so far this winter.

BISHOP FOSS DIES.

Widely Known M. E. Clergyman Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis.

Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, one of the most widely known Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, died last Saturday night at 8:40 o'clock, in the Hahnemann hospital at Philadelphia after a ten days' illness, following a stroke of paralysis. The end came quietly, as expected.

The fatal attack which made Bishop Foss helpless and only half conscious since January 18, occurred when he was riding in an Arch street trolley car. His entire right side was affected.

Vaudeville at the Columbia.

The Columbia Theatre which is on the circuit of the Aarons Associated Theatres with head offices in the Knickerbocker Theatre Building, 1402 Broadway, New York City, has as an attraction on February 2 and 3 for two nights, the first of a number of high-class vaudeville and moving picture shows which are now being organized to appear regularly and exclusively in this circuit of theatres. These shows will consist of several first class vaudeville acts and the latest moving pictures, with two performances each night, lasting an hour and a half each.

As a guarantee of the class of entertainment to be furnished the patrons of these companies, the vaudeville acts will be composed only of acts that are members of the White Rats of America, the leading vaudeville organization in the United States, and the pictures will be selected from the latest and best films to be had.

Each company will appear here from two to three nights and as often as the patronage requires.

The price of admission will be 5-10-20 cents.

These attractions will be known as the Aarons Associated Theatre Vaudeville and moving picture Companies, and it is the aim and intention of the management to produce only clean, up-to-date and meritorious shows, thereby securing the confidence of the public and assuring liberal attendance in all Vaudeville and moving picture shows appearing at the Columbia in this town and other theatres on the Aarons Associated Theatre circuit.

Too Much Cash!

Full as an old straw tick, the county treasury is stuffed with greenbacks and checks, says a despatch from Cleveland. Money of all descriptions lies around on counters and shelves. County Treasurer Myers would be violating the law if he placed the cash in a bank, and in the meantime hundreds of thousands of dollars paid in to him as a result of the December tax collection is protected only by the stanchness of an old safe, ordinary oak doors and a watchman.

Under the law, only a portion of the money can be deposited in banks, and as that amount is already on deposit, the balance must remain at the Court house. Myers is denied the privilege of putting the money in a bank for the reason that no provision is made for receiving interest on funds in excess of the amount named in the contracts with banks, and no money can be deposited that does not draw interest. The treasurer cannot receive the interest and then make the county a present of the earnings because, under the law, he would be acting without authority and might be convicted of conversion.

Suffragette Publishing Company.

The Suffragette Publications company of New York city has been incorporated with a capital of $5,000. The directors are Helen Murphy, Sofia M. Loebinger and Marie F. Ryan of New York city. The company will issue the American Suffragette.

Mr. Robbins' Property Burned.

J. M. Robbins of Market Street suffered a heavy loss by fire on Monday, when two of his properties in Sheuandoah were burned, entailing a loss of eighteen thousand dollars. There was no insurance.

TRIED REMEDY FOR THE GRIP.

PE-RU-NA FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

A Cheery, Optimistic Magazine.

A cheery, optimistic tone is characteristic of Lippincott's Magazine, and the February issue is no exception to the general rule. The number opens with a long and intensely powerful detective story by that versatile genius, Carolyn Wells. The new tale is entitled "The Gold Bag," and it is fully up to the standard of its famous predecessor by this author—"The Clue," which has been one of the most successful books of the season. "The Gold Bag" deals with a murder mystery, and is told in the first person by a young detective, who despite his own astuteness, finds it necessary to call on that past master of deduction, Fleming Stone, a character which has figured in other detective stories by Miss Wells. Numerous clues are in turn run down, but all lead to blind alleys until the remarkable Mr. Stone succeeds in nosing out the true scent. Bright, snappy dialogue and a love affair add interest to the narrative.

Another big feature is "Education Outside of Books," the second of an important series of six papers on "What is Wrong with Our Public Schools," by Joseph M. Rogers. The first of these articles, in January issue, attracted wide attention, and they will undoubtedly accomplish great good. Shorter articles—"St. Valentine's," by Thomas L. Masson; "Interpreting the Airship," by Clifford Howard; "The Water-Power and Coal Combines," by Willard French, and "The Decline in Poetry," by Ellis O. Jones—will be found in the department "Ways of the Hour."

Among the short stories is "The Legacy," a delightful Scotch tale by J. J. Bell, author of "Wee Macgregor." Marion Hill who wrote that entertaining book, "The Pettison Twins," contributes "On Society's Fringe," a funny story about a very human small boy. Other good ones are "A Second Adam" by Thomas L. Masson; "Her Heart's Desire," by Sarah Chichester Page; and "The Birth of a King," by Jane Belford. "The Tug That Stood By," by John Trevor Custis, is an original sketch which also deserves mention.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, John Kendrick Bangs, Chester Firkins, and Mahlon Leonard Fisher are among the poets represented in this praiseworthy issue of Lippincott's. Then there's "Walnuts and Wine," of course.
