

General Cass.

There is in the following sentiments expressed by Gen. Cass... General Cass is a man of high character and ability...

FROM MEXICO.

Battle of Cerro Gordo.

Santa Anna again Defeated in a pitched Battle, by Gen. Scott—Six Thousand Mexicans taken prisoners—Five Hundred Americans Killed and Wounded—Gen. La Vega again a Prisoner.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE LATE BATTLE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30—9 o'clock, p. m. The Union of Saturday night has been Scott's official dispatch giving an account of the battle of Cerro Gordo.

THE OBSERVER.

Some few weeks since (April 23) the Gazette, in speaking of the present war with Mexico, made use of the following language: "It is true that the Whigs ever have, and now do, disapprove of the frequent cause of the present war, it is not true, that they have declined to aid in its prosecution, and the triumph of American arms would have been avoided without any sacrifice of national honor and dignity; but, once engaged in it, they have conceived it an imperative duty to lend a helping hand in carrying it on and bringing it to a speedy close."

THE OBSERVER.

Some few weeks since (April 23) the Gazette, in speaking of the present war with Mexico, made use of the following language: "It is true that the Whigs ever have, and now do, disapprove of the frequent cause of the present war, it is not true, that they have declined to aid in its prosecution, and the triumph of American arms would have been avoided without any sacrifice of national honor and dignity; but, once engaged in it, they have conceived it an imperative duty to lend a helping hand in carrying it on and bringing it to a speedy close."

A TEXT WITH A CONTEXT.

Or the way the Federalists lend a helping hand to carrying on the war. Some few weeks since (April 23) the Gazette, in speaking of the present war with Mexico, made use of the following language: "It is true that the Whigs ever have, and now do, disapprove of the frequent cause of the present war, it is not true, that they have declined to aid in its prosecution, and the triumph of American arms would have been avoided without any sacrifice of national honor and dignity; but, once engaged in it, they have conceived it an imperative duty to lend a helping hand in carrying it on and bringing it to a speedy close."

THE OBSERVER.

Some few weeks since (April 23) the Gazette, in speaking of the present war with Mexico, made use of the following language: "It is true that the Whigs ever have, and now do, disapprove of the frequent cause of the present war, it is not true, that they have declined to aid in its prosecution, and the triumph of American arms would have been avoided without any sacrifice of national honor and dignity; but, once engaged in it, they have conceived it an imperative duty to lend a helping hand in carrying it on and bringing it to a speedy close."