CCARCELY have ten short years claped since an bundle at-Diempt was made to combine, in a sumble mellical preparation, a feel of the herbs of the Indian. All was dark at the time as to the result. The most that could be estimated was, that the princi-ple's adopted as the basis to build upon were sound. So much re-tinance was placed upon calonel and the lancet, that the ill success of the new experiment would have tended to confirm that reli-mance, while it shook the purpose of the projector. Now, however, all doubt and officinity is at an end. Every-where this medicine has been greeted with welcome; everywhere has its use been attended with the most gratiying success. From small beginnings, its sales are now counted by millions t and it is held in higher estimation at the present time than when it was originality introduced.
