With my heigh-ho!

Whether or no. Kies me but once before I go, Under the tree where the pippins grow,"... My old machine fell involuntarily to work; and in test than five minutes, I "stood confessed" in her beautiful presence, reciting the following verses:

While little birds are going to roost, And covies to the tavern hier.
And flowers seem all to need a boost, And Philisic her trade doth ply. With my heigh-ho! Whether or no. I'll kiss thee once before I go, Under the tree where the pippins grow. I kissed her once, I kissed her twice, Though oft she said me nay; Prehaps she had me kiss her thrice Before she let me go away. Sighing, ho-hum! Gammon and kum. But kies me again before you go "hum," Under the tree where there are apples - some

A WESTERN COURT SCENE.

-of Missouri was, in many respects, a remarkable man. He stood six feet two in his boots, and was fond of a frolic as the most ratling lad in the country. He could drink liquor, "lift" a heavier "bag o' meal," and play a better game of "poker," than any man in the circuit. These admirable qualifications, of courserendered him the most popular judge on the bench of his State. Yet he never lost his dignity while on the bench. There, he was, storn haughty and dignified. The least approach to familiarily, while he was sitting in court, was always resented by a fine, and sometimes by impris-

Well, it happened one day, while he was "holding court," that Mr. Dewzenbury, a rough looking, but independent customer, came into the court room with his hat on his head. This the judge considered an indignity offered to the court, and forthwith ordered Mr. D. to take off his hat.

To this Mr. Dewzenbury paid no attention, which being observed by "his honor," he ordered the sher-iff to "take that man's hat off." "Take your hat off," cried the sheriff.

Mr. Dewzenbury remained motionless, while the judge proceeded to business. At last, raising his eyes, "his honor" again discovered the incorrigible standing with his hat on his head. "Sheriff!" cried the court, "take that man's hat

"I fine you five dollars, sir, for contempt of court." "Very well," said Mr. Dewzenbury as he carefully put his hand into his pocket and pulled out a fif-ty cent piece. "Very well, here's the money," handing the judge the half dollar; "this squares us, You owed me four dollars and a half when we quit playing poker last night, and this half makes

TAYLORISM IN VERMONT .- A gentleman of intelligence and respectability, residing in Winsor Co., Vermont, and a whig of many years standing, but a bolter from the Philadelphia ticket, states that the prospect for Taylor in that State is extremely dubious, if not utterly hopeless. The disaffection of the Whig ranks he declares to be universal. Having lately visited on business, every town in his own county of Winsor, the etrongest. Whig county in the State, which gave 3300 for Eaton, Whig, for Governor, last fall, to 1700 for Dillingham, he declares that he scarcely discovered a specimen of that rara avis, a Taylor Whig, in his whole route. No enthusiasm for the nomination, not the ghost of it could be any where seen. As an illustration of the state of popular feeling, he remarked that on the fourth, at, Winson, while some three or four thou-sand persons, mostly Whigs, were assembled in open air in the evening, to view the fireworks, a person who probably wanted an office under Taylor, having climbed a tree, protruded his figure at a moment he deemed favorable, and swinging his hat in the air with a gesture and manner which appeared as tho' he was mad with enthusiasm, and was confident of awaking it in others, shouted, "Three cheers for General Taylor!" There was no response but silence. Not one answering cheer! nothing but the echo of his own hoarse shout. Had he called for huzzas for Prince Metternich or the Ex-Dey of Algiere, he could not have made a more dead failure. The gentleman affirms that the same feeling exists throughout the State .- Boston Post.

FEMALE ADDRESS AND COURAGE.—In the interesting letters which Mr. Kendall is writing from guilty in these particulars; but it is claimed that he Paris to the New Orleans Picayone, a variety of raise the first are related exhibiting the bravery of the Parisian women, and their ingenuity in conveying messages to troops in different quarters of the city.

New Orleans correspondent of the Boston Post: during the revolution. The following is an illustration of the thousand schemes resorted to by the insurrectionists in order to gain information, during posed to slavery, how comes it that he, Gen. Taythe time the conflict lasted, of the operations in lor, did, during the month of May last, purchase progress against them in the parts of the capital not of a negro trader in Esplanada street, between Modisaffected. All this was of immense importance reau and Victory streets, in this city, some four or in directing their movements:-

Bound heart and soul to the fortunes and person of one of the leaders of the insurgents was a young of another slave trader in the same street, two other and intelligent girl, whose resources in the way of procuring and transmitting intelligence were inex-haustible and never failed her. At one time, when the line of communication of the revolutionists had been cut by the capture of Cite, and when it was more important than ever to open a correspondence between the isolated parties still contending, the girl carried a letter safely through a score of lines of sentincle, although closely searched by all of them. And how? She tore the letter the leader of like being opposed to holding men in bondage?—one extremity of the line had just written into bits, What will those sticklers against slavery who were them. And how? She tore the letter the leader of and crumpling them up worked them into her hair hastily as hair papers! The ruse succeeded—she was not suspected. In a disguise admirably adapted to the part, she on another occasion accompanied a poer old blind flageolot player entirely through the lines which guarded every street, and pretending she was taking the mendicant to his lodgings, succeeded, by secreting a letter in his flagoelet, in carrying through intelligence of direst import.

Goop. -We know of a couple, not a hundred miles from the capital of Hocsierdom, who carried on their courtship in rather a novel manner. A young gentlement had fallen in love with the daughter of his employer; but from certain ideas of wealth, everything like a match was strenuously opposed by the father. The consequence was that the young man was forbid visiting at his employer's house. During the winter season, as the old gentleman was in the habit of wearing his cloak, the young couple made him the innocent and unsuspecting bearer of their correspondence. The young lady would pin a letter inside the lining of the old man's clock during the dinner hour, and when the father had returned to the counting hour e and thrown off his cloak, the young lover would go and take out the lady's epistle, read it, and send the reply back in the same manner. It is needless to say that love and ingonuity were finally successful-Madison (Ia.) Banner.

Apvier Throws Away .- "Indvise you not to get married," said a middle aged man to one that was about to get married. "For if you want to be happy, let the women alone. I was married about ten years and saw but two happy days during that in dress; a more determined adherence to that which time—one was when I got my wife and the other is right in oue's own eyes, rather than that which when she died." APRIVAL COT THE BRITANNIA.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

Naw Yoak, August 26-3 P. M. The Britannia arrived at Bondur at 9 j o'clock this morning.

Affairs in Ireland have not materially changed though every day seems to lessen the probability of any serious outbreak.

W. S. O'Brien was streeted on Saturday last, at the Railroad station at Thurles, whilst in the act of procuring a ticket for Limerick, where it is said he intended taking refuge among his friends. Immediately after his arrest he was marched to Bridewell, and subsequently conveyed to Dublin, and lodged in Kilmainham Jail. He is said to liave expressed himself satisfied of the hopelessness of accomplishing his object, and he was induced to leave his retreat in the mountains because the father he went the more the people seemed to fear any communication with him,

He is said to be cheerful, his wife is allowed to visi him, and his friend are permitted to converse with him, in the presence of the jail authorities. There does not appear to have been any serious disturbances since the Cambria sailed.

There does not seems, according to English papers, to be any prospect of an outbreak, as long as the government sustains the present a titude of repres-

Numerous arrests continue to be made. notice the names of Mr. Carn, Mr. Bergen, ship-broker, Mr. Nolan, of the United States. Richard O'Gorman, on attempting to escape from the country was arrested by the coast guard after he had crossed the Shannon in an open boat. Notice was sent to the police, but before they arrived O'Gorman had persuaded his captors that he was a mere traveller from Kerry to Clare, and was suffered to escape. He boarded a vessel for America, in which he has escaped. A war steamer has been despatched after the vessel.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.—Brendstuffs dull. Corn 30a32s. Flour 29a30s. Meal 15s 6da16s. Wheat red, 6s 10d; white, 7s 6da8s 6d. London Flour 24a 28s. Cotton easier; fair demand.

The steampacket Thames arrived at Kingston on the 1st instant, reported that great excitement prevailed at Bermuda, on account of the news received from the United States that the Irishmer residing there intended to attack that place, to rescue John Mitchell the Irish patriot.

General Taylor has written at letter accept ng the nomination for President by the citizens of Charleston. South Carolina, which nominated Butler for Vice President. He therein repudiates all political pledges.

Dates from Jamaica to August 5th says:-Ruin has already seized the greater part of the population. Starvation is fast following in its train .-Universal gloom is the only feature noticeable in our streets. Business is elso at a stand, and, in a word, the inhabitants of this Island look forward to subject.

It braces the whole system, renews permanently the natural enbodings. The Planter's Bank, at Kingston, stopped payment on the 28th ult.

THE PRIVATE AND THE OFFICER .- A COTOESPONdent of the National Intelligencer, who signs himself a private in the army, speaks in the following pleasant vein of some of the private soldier's misfortunes: It is also consoling and pleasant to us to know that our brave officers, who fought so well, (with a little assistance from the soldiers) have been recommended for their valor and patriotism. Some of them, I hear, are to have gold medals as big round as saucers, and half an inch thick. Who will now say that republics are ungrateful—to officers!— There's a few of us who will never be able to cance very well, and I myself have got only one leg; but but what afthat? The other was lost in the service of my country, and that country has generous-ly allotted me a pension of ninety-six dollars per anum for the balance of my natural life, which I gress does not see fit in its wisdom, to deprive me of it one of these days; and ninety-six dollars will clothe me pretty tolerably well, seeing that my pantaloons will come cheaper by one leg than they used to do.

You see, Messrs. Editors, losing a leg doesn' trouble meas much as it would some others, because it is a sort of hereditary misfortune. My grand-father lost a leg at Lexington, my father lost a leg at Lundy's Lane, and I lost one in Mexico; so that it may be said to run in the family; and by the time my son Ethan is old enough to go a soldiering, we shall most likely have another war, and Ethan will have a chance to follow in the footstep of his predecessors. Our family, with this exception, have always maintained a pretty good footing, although there are few who would be willing to stand in their shoes.

GEN. TAYLOR'S NEGROES .- It appears that Gen. Taylor denies having purchased land on the Rio Grande, and having sent $10,000 to the city of Washington, to be expended in the purchase of slaves; and therefore we must believe that he is not s a "Wilmot Proviso" man, and an enemy to the "If Gen. Taylor is, as alleged, a Wilmot proviso man, and indeed, as some presses have declared, opfive negroes in the name of his son Richard Taylor? Also he did, on the 6th day of June last, purchase slaves; he examined them, and had them disrobed, or undressed, if you please, to ascertain whether they were sound or not, and paid, $750 for each. These are facts, and I will send you on the documents:-Again, a certain house, no less than Beard, Calhoun & Co.. have now an order from the General to procure for him a slave who is a blacksmith, although purchased in the name of his son; he pays the money and superintends the purchase. Does this look and are willing to take Taylor as a good enough anti-slavery man because Fillmore is on the ticket, say to this?"

SECRET OF UNHAPPY HOMES -- Why goes, forth that man on Sunday evening from the roof under which his children live? Why turns he from t'ie engaging little attempts to detain him, and roughly moves them away, while he loves them dearly?-Why sits another by his fire, sullen, discontented, unwilling to speak the 'indly word, while his heart is yearning for converse and enjoyment? Why flies he cruel speech to her-for whom the strongest affection is nourished? And why, seaching into deep depths, does man become so often a tyrant, so often a criminal in his home! The truth has to be told: but, oh! listen to it kindly, for it is hard to-tell. It is because woman does not fully appreciate her mission in domestic life. Under the present condition of existence, she has become weighed down by cares. As a wife, she is different from what she was as a mistress. She is employed in drudgery or her children and household. She neglects her dress, she forgets her manners. Her husband sees the change; does not perhaps find sufficient excuse for it from the condition she labors under. He flies to the tavern and billiard table! and she increases n years. That much is owing to the present circumstances of social life is true; but that much of it is chargeable to a sad submission to those circometances, is also but too true. It is more or less in the power of women to make their domestic life more pleasant and attractive to their husbands, and more holy in its discipline and ends than they now do. A great regularity in time; a great simplicity apportioning of various periods for different occupa-

RHEVMATISM.

This Saraparilla is used with the most perfect success in Rheumatic complaints, however severe or chronic. The astonishing cures it has performed are indeed wonderful. Other femedies sometimes give temporary relief, this entirely cradicates it from the system even when the lumbs are dreadfully swollen.

Thear Mr. Sept Terry, one of the oldest and most respectable lawyers in Hartfold, Com. The following is an extract of a letter received from him: lawyers in mattiora, Com. The mooning is a received from him:

Ds. Townsend.—I have used one bottle of your Sarsaparilla, and find it is excellent in its effects upon a chronic Rheumatic pain to which I am subject, from an injury occasioned several years jago, in a public stage. Please send me two bottles to the care of Dr. Seymour. I have conversed with two of our principal physicians, and they recommend your Sarsaparilla.

Br. Townsen.—Bear Sir. Nearly twenty years ago I took a violent cold which settled on my lungs, and affected severely; indeed, finally it became a constant backing cough, but not so severe as to prevent me from attending to my business. Within the last few years it increased on me gradually. At last I became reduced—I breathed with difficulty, and raised with my Colgh much bad matter, and for the last nine months previous to my lasing your Sarsaparilla, had regular night sweats; indeed, my friends and myself supposed that I would die with the consumption: but I have the happiness to inform you that to my surprise, after using three bottles of your Sarsaparilla, I find my health restored. It relieved me gradually, and I am enjoying better haalth than I have for 20 years. I had almost entirely lost my appetite, which is also teturned. You are at liberty to publish this with my name in the papers, if you choose.

GIRLS, READ THIS.

You who have pale complexions, dull eyes, blotches on the face rough skin, are "out of Spirits," use a bottle or two of the Bocto Townsend's Satespartila. It will cleanse your blood, temove the freekles and blotches, and give you animation, sparkting eyes, the spirite, and featufful complexion—all of which are of immensory value to unmarried ladies.

To MOTHERS & MARRIED LADIES.

This Extract of Sarsaparilla has been expressly prepared in reference to female complaints. No famale who has reason to suppose she is approaching that critical period, the turn of lite, should neglect to take it, as it is a certain preventative for any of the numerous and horrible discases to which females are subject at this time of life. This period may be delayed several years by unsing this medicine. THREE CHILDREN.

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir: I have the pleasure to inform you that three of my children have been curred of the Scrofula by the use of your excellent medicine. They were afflicted very severely with diad sores, have taken only four hottles; it took them away, for which I feel myself under deep obligation.

INEMENT, has received the above title from thousands who have been benefitted by its use. Its operation is wonlierful. Never failing to give immediate relief, and permanently during the discases for which it is recommended. For the last year I have placed before the public testimony of undoubted character from many persons well known throughout the county of Westchester, where the great reputation of this medicine was trist established. During the past year I have received from all parts of the equuty a mass of evidence of the great value of this celebrated remedy sufficient to fill volumes, of which I have selected a few certaincates. For the following discases Hunt's Liminent is a certain, safe and speedy cure.

Rheumatism, Spinal affection, Weakness and Pains in the back and chest, contractions of the muscles, sore Throat, Quincey, Is-Rheumatism, Spinal affection, Weakness and Pains in the back and chest, contractions of the muscles, sore Throat, Quiney, Issues, Ulcers, Ague in the breast and face, Tooth ache, Sprains, Brutses, Salt Rheum, Burgs, Croup, frosted Fect, Bunious, Corns, and all diseases of the Nerves. As a strengther of the Nervous Spatem it exceeds all the plasters and medicines in the world. It is only necessary to try it to be convinced that it will do all that the proprietors professes. Its reputation is constantly increasing, and in every instance where it has been used it is always kept as a necessary Family Medicine. Read the evidence from abroad.

CERTIFICATE.

Geo. E. Stanton—Dear Sir, I consider it my duty to express my sentiments in behalf of your invaluable medicine, than't Limitent.

I have for some time past used the Limitent in my practice, for various diseases, and feel satisfied, from the success attending its applications, that it merits all that can be said in its behalf. I consider it one of the best external remedies I have ever used in case of Tetter, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Pains, Bruijes, Swellings, Cuts, &c. The cheap rate at which the article is to be had, places it within the renet of all. It should fourther universal external it within the renet of all.
