LOST IN THE WOODS-A THRILLING IN-CIDENT.

In Chambers' Edinburgh Journal we find the account of a surveyor being lost for five days in the forest of New Brunswick without food. The story is a thrilling one, and vouched for as true. After narrating the wandering for two days, the sufferer continues as follows:-I had felt, without at that moment comprehending them, very evident symptoms of approaching weak-I frequently heard the sound of voices quite distinctly, and stooped to listen. I whooped! but not a sound in reply. The stream murmurered on to its bed, the wind rustled among the leaves, or whistled through the long grase; but that was all; everything else was silent as the grave. In a short time after, a most extraordinary illusion occured .-My attention was first attracted by distinctly hearing a tune whistled in the direction of the river; and, on looking round, I saw through the trees an Indian with two squaws and a little boy. My joy at the sight may be readily conceived; their canne-I thought, could not be far off; and I already functed myself scated in it, and quietly gliding down the river. I hallooed! but to my utter amozement, not the elightest notice was taken, or reply made. The Indian, with folded arms, leant against a tree, and still continued to whistle his tune with philosophic indifference. I approached, but they receded, and appeared to shun me; I became annoyed, and persisted but in vain, in trying to attract their notice. The dreadful truth flashed upon my mind; it was really no more than an illusion, and one of the most perfect description. Melancholy forebodings arose. I turned away, retraced my steps, and endeavored to think no more of it. I had turned my back upon the illusion, but as I retreated, its accompaniment of ghostly music continued to fall upon my unwilling ear like a death-knell. A sort of mirage next appeared to me to spread over the low ground, so completely real in its effect, that frequently, expecting to step over my boot in water, I found that I was treading on long "dry grass:" to be convinced of the truth of which, I frequently felt with my hand. My first vision was undoubtly the result of "delerium tremens," brought by exhaustation: but BUSINESS DIRECTORY whether the latter arose from the same cause, or from real external phenomena. I cannot well deter-

I continued my toilsome journey along the alternately flat and tangled, or precipitous banks of the river, which, from being swolen, left me no heach to travel on. I crossed a large brook, which misto travel on. I crossed a large brook, which mistaking it for the Odell, led me to suppose myself brate, certificates of Deposite, Gold and silver coin, &c., &c but a little way from the settlement, (in reality, up wards of twelve miles off 1 1 had not adversely opposite the Eagle Hotel, Eric, Pa. wards of twelve miles off.) I had not advanced a great way further until I suddenly dropped down.— Supposing I had merely tripped and fullen I got up, and endeavored to continue the march, but agai staggered and fell. I got up a second time, and leaning against a tree, in the hope of recovering from what I at first imagined to be temporary indisposition, again made several fruitless attempts to walk, until at last the appaling fact forced itself upon me that I had really lost my strength; and as any further exertion of my own were now impossible, my case was indeed hopeless, unless discovered by some of the party, who I had no doubt were by this time in search of me; or, what certainly did appear improbably, by some persons going up the stream to Under these circumstances, I thought it best to endeavor to regain the bank of the fiver; but owing to my weak and disabled condition. I could scarcely do more than drag myself along on my hands and knees, and was consequently overtaken by the night and a sharp frost. I took shelter behind the roots of a fallen tree, and pulling off my boots, for the purpose of rouring out the water, and rendering my feet as dry as I could make them to prevent their being frozen; I found it qu'te impossible to get them on again. I lay down excessively fatigued and weak; yet other sensations of suffering, both mental and physical, kept, me, through another dreary night of twelve or thirteen hours, in a state which some may possibly conceive, but which I must confess my inability to describe. There was a sharp frost during the night against which my light jacket and trousers were but a poor protection. On the morning of the 8th, when it was sufficiently clear, I discovered that I was not more than a hundred yards from the bank of the river. On endeavoring to get up, I was unable, and found both my feet and hands frozen; the former, as far as my ankles, felt as perfectly hard and dead as if composed of stone. I succeeded, however with a good deal of pullful exertion, in gaining the bank of the river, when I sat as long as I was able, with my feet in the water for the purpose, if possible, of extracting the frost. The oiled convass haversack in which I carried my aketching-case I filled with water, of which I drank freely. The drendful gnawings of hunger had by this time rather subsided, and I felt inclined to rest. Before leaving the bank of the river, I laid hold of the tallest alder near, and drawing it towards me, fastened my handkerchief to the top, and let it go. I scrawled a few words on two slips of paper, describing my situation; and putting each into a piece of slit stick, threw them into the stream. I next moved back a little way among the long grass and alders; and striving to be as calm and collected as my sufferings and weakness would allow, I addressed myself to an all seeing and merciful Providence, and endeavored to make my peace with Him, and place myself entirely at His disposal -feeling assured that whatever the issue might be, whether for time or eternity, it would undpubtedly be for the best. I trust I was not presumptuous, but I felt perfectly calm and resigned to my fate.

I lay down among the long wet grass having placed my papers under my head, and my haversack, with some water, near my side. My weakness seemed to favor the most extraordinary creation of the brain. I became surrounded especially towards evening, with a distinct assemblage of grotesque and busy figures, with which, could I have spen them under different circumstances, I should have been highly amused. Yet do I believe them to have been a great relief from the utter loneliness that must otherwise have surrounded me, as it-really required an effort to establish the truth of my b ing alone .-I passed another long and dreary night; and from its being rather milder, had some little sleep, although of a distresing and disturbed nature, and not in the least refreshing. The morning of the 9th arrived, (and I could then with difficulty) support myself even on my knees. Still, after axtraordina-ry exertions, I procured a fresh supply of water, and lay down-I thought most likely never to rive ngain. A violent burning sensation in the stomach had now come on. A few mouthfuls of water allay ed it, but brought on violent spasms for five or ten minutes, after which I had, for a little while, comparative relief. In this state gradually growing weaker, I continued until the morning of the 10th. During the night it rained in torrents, which, although in some respects inconvenient and disagreable, had in a great measure drawn the frost from my feet and hands, which, as well to my face, had become much swollen.
In the course of the morning I thought heard the sound of voices. I raised my head a little from the ground-all I could now accomplish-and looking through the alders, I saw a party of men and some horses on the opposite side of the river, and scarcely a hundred yards distant from where I lay. My surprise and joy were of course excessive, yet I had of late seen so many plantoms, that I was quite at a toss whether to consider it a reality or not .-When at length convinced, I discovered, alas! that both my strength and voice were so completely gone that I could neither make myself seen nor heard .-All my exertions were unavailing; and my horror and disabpointment may be readily conceived at seeing them depart again in the direction they had comer and Borough surveyor—Office third story, No. 1, Perry come. I had now given up all hope, and once more resigned myself to my apparently inevitable fate.

April 23, 1818.

50 resigned myself to my apparently inevitable fate: -Three hours had passed, when I again thought I have Pounders, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Stoves, Hollow heard the sound of horses feet on the bed of the ware, &c. State street, Eric. river. On looking up I saw they had returned to the same spot. My efforts to make myself heard Wholersal and Reval dealers in Drigs, Medicines, Dyc Stuffs were once more renewed, and I at last succeeded in were once more renewed, and I at last succeeded in producing a howl, so inhuman, as to be mistaken by them for that of a wolf; but on looking up the stream they saw my hadkerchief, which I had fastened to the alder, and knowing me to have been missing before they left the settlement, surmised the truth, and came at once to my assistance. I was taken to a cabin built at the stern of the truth the stern of the truth to a cabin built at the stern of the truth the stern to's cabin built at the stern of the tow-boat, in which there was a small stove. They there made a bed for me, and covered me with blankets and rugs.—
They made a sort of pap with bread and surgar, which they offered me, and also some potatoes. Ideclined their kind offering has because it is a source of the s their kind offering, but begged to have a fittle tea, which they gave me, and I went to sleep. up the river with her freight, after which we returned, and got to Campbell's late in the afternoon, where, I met with every kindness and attention.— The house of Mr. Campbell, to which I was brought, was but a very ordinary log-house, yet with all its simple homeliness I felt quite comfortable, seeing I was surrounded with the most perfect cleanliness; and the good dame was, from long experience, well skilled as to the case she had to deal with, at the same time saying mine was the worst she had ever had under her care. I have thus sendeavored to give an imperfect sketch of my wanderings during the period of more than five days and nights without food, fire, or shel-ter from the inclemency of the weather. My recovery has been rapid; although I at first suffered a good deal, both from the returning circulation in my hands and feet, and after partaking of food. I was in a few days sufficiently well to be removed down to the mouth of the river Topique, where I found my poor wife anxiously awaiting my arrival. I must, in conclusion, say that my wonderful escape night at least to convince me that God is ever merciful to those who sincerely put their trust in Him.

dr. Townsind's Sarraparilla. THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.—This extract is put up in quart bottles; it is six times cheaper, pleasquite, and warranted superior to any sold.—It cures diseases without vomiting, purging, sickening or debil-

GREAT FALL AND WINTER MEDICINE. The great beauty and superfority of this Sarsaparilla over all other medicine is, while it eradicates diseases, it invigorates the body. It is one of the very best Fal and Winter medicines ever known; it not only purifies the whole system, strengthens the person, but it creates new, pure and rich blood; a power possessed by no other medicine. And in this flest the grand seject of its wonderful success. It has performed within the past two years; more than 35,000 cures of severe cases of disease; at least 20,000 or these were considered incurable.

More than 3,000 cases of Chronic Rheumatism;

1,500 cases of disease of the Kidneys and Dropsy;
8,000 cases of Consumption;
And thousands of cases of disease of the blood, viz: Ulcers, Etysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pumples on the Face, &c., together with mamerous enses of Sick Headache, Pain in the Side and Chest, Spinul Affections, &c., &c.
This, we are aware, must appear incredible, but we have letters from Physiciaus and our Agents from all parts of the United States, informing us of extraordinary cures. R. Van Buskirk, Esq., one of the most respectable Pruggists in Newark, N. J., informs us that he can refer to more than 150 cases in that place alone. There are, thousands of cases in the City of New York, which we will refer to with pleasure and to men of character. It is the best medecine for the pres entative of disease known. Fundoubtedly saved

RHEUMATISM.

This Sarsaparilla is used with the most perfect success in Rheumatic complaint, howe; or severe or chronic. The astonishing cures it has performed are indeed wonderful. Other remedies sometimes give temporary relief, this entirely eradicates it from the system even when the limbs are dreadfully swollen.

The Rest Terry, one of the oldert and most re-pectable lawyers in Hartford, Conn. The following is an extract of a letter received from him:

DR, Towas, w. — I have used one bottle of vour Sarsaparilla, and find it is excellent in its effects upon a chronic Rheumatic particularly which I am subject, from an injury occasionate several years, and in a public stage. Please send me two bottles to the care of Dr. Seymour. I have conversed with two of our principal physicians and the received from the suffects upon a chronic Rheumatic particularly from the subject, from an injury occasionate several years, and in a public stage. TO MOTHERS & MARRIED LADIES.

This Extract of Sarsaparilla has been expressly prepared in reference to female complaints. No female who has reason to suppose she is approaching that critical period, "the turn of life," should neglect to take it, as it is a certain preventative for any of the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at this time of life. This period may be delayed several years by using this incidence. Not is it less valuable for those approaching womanhood, as it is calculated to assist nature, by quickening the blood and invigorating the system. Indeed this incidence is invaluable for all the diseases to which women are subject.

It braces the whole system, renews permanently the natural energies—by removing the imparities of the Fody—not so far stunitating the system as to produce a subsequent relaxation which is the case of most medicines taken for female weakness and disease. SCROPULA CÚRUD. This certificate conclusively proces that this Barsaparilla has reflect control over the nest obstinate diseases of the blood. Three persons cured in one-house is unprecedented. THREE, CHILDREN.

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir: I have the blessure to inform you that three of my children have been circle of the Serolials by the use of your excellent medicine. They were afflicted very severely with bad sores, have taken only four bottless it took them away, for which I feel myself under deep obligation.
