(Correspondence of the Evening Bulletin.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.

We hadquite an animated controversy of faith it the Senate to day, resulting from a motion to take up Mr. Clay's resolution relating to the African slave trade. I was in error stating, yesterday, that the motion had been adopted—it elicited debate, but did not reach a vote before the close of the session. as I had, (being absent at the hour of adjournment) supposed it did. The controversy, this morning, originated with Mr. Hale, who has been the only senator, since the introduction of the resolution, to interfere and object to its passage. The inconsisteacy of his course with his public professions, causes much surprise, and is difficult of explanation. the Senate was stubbornly dull, and did no even to sement, and the country North and South, will sustain his present resolution, notwithstanding they could not, in some instances, wholly sanction the measures of the compromise. Had Mr. Barnwell Rheit, or Jefferson Davis, er Senator Yulee, assumed the ground occupied by Mr. Hale, such conduct would have been consistent with their course; but for Mr. Hale to object.—Mr. Hale the champion of universal freedom-Mr. Hale, the apologist of Free Soil fanaticism, and its recognized leader-Mr. Hale the slave's Martyr, and the convicted of universal liberty thrice over-Mr. Hale, who once declared in the hearing of a large gallery audience, and crowded chamber, that he "would offer his own life as a sacrifice for the enslaved African, if that would contribute to his freedom"-for him to object, is one of the strangest and most remarkable instances of humanichliquity, that the records of American legislation presents. Not so, however, had Mr. Chase or Mr. Giddings been the author of the resolution. Then his "whole soul would have been breathed through his lipa"-a favorite expression of his-in support of the measure; and "God; and Nature's God"—another set phrase—would have been invoked in its favor, to the confusion and humiliation of those, who were wrecked in the ill-fated "omnibus," from whom, he charges, the present resolution emanates.

But, after instance this moral, or sectional, or sentimental somerest, I have nothing to do with Ur. Hale. He is a gentleman in his private walks, and in every respect an examplary citizen. I allude to his public station; and in that capacity, while the country labors with domestic throes that have threatened its dissolution; we have the right to scrutheize his acts, in order to discover how sincere he is, and has been, and what future confidence to reothers of his creed are following his example—we have a curious indication of the deceitfulness of the human heart, which is constantly compelling us to a ates at variance with our conduct of yesterday, and which may be at variance with our conduct to morrow. It shows, too, the utter necessity of an organmetion-an organization without respect to the Presidency, or any other federal office-an organi zation of patriots North and South, East and West to stand by the Union in all emergencies, and to protect it from the vagaries, and incendiariems, and fatal stabs, of those mortals who bestride a weathervane, and crow eternally-but always with the current of the wind. Such an association is in progress, and has been in progress several days since -not the si'ly "Union party," puffed into being by the correspondence of the Baltimore Sun and Philadelphia Ledger; but the opposite of that abortion, which had placed at its head the name of a candidate who was to ride into the Presidency, and then the haves and fishes were to flow into the possession of the members of the fraternity, without respect to the wishes of the people at large. That scheme has been exploded. The organization now, alluded to, flax and wool and wool spun together in equal quan-has no such aspirations. I will send you in a day tities, the cost would be reduced nearly, one half. or inc. the names in full, and the public will ther judge how correctly I am informed in the matter. Meanwhile, as Mr. Hale rather sneered at the morement in his remarks this mornig, it is proper ne should weigh with his speers the character of the parties interested, in order the more clearly to arrive at the value of his contempt. Otherwise it might be supposed his denunciation of the project

No USR IN CRYING OVER SPILT MILK .- A Philadelphia correspondent of the N. Y. Herald relates I the following: - A romantic couple, who had been c andestinely married, on Christmas eve, by the Rev / John L. Grant, attempted to escape from this city. vesterday, but were overtaken at the Kensington i depot by the infuriated parents, who carried off their daughter by main force, and had the lover arrested for abduction, not knowing at the time he had a legal right to the lady. The vouthful lover was most shamefully abused by the father and brother of the ady, but bore it with gentlemanly forbearance; but not till he was before the magistrate, and his accusors had stated the charge, did he say one word in his defense, and then he produced the marriage certounded, but have probably since determined to setthe the matter amicably, as the marriage notice aplongs to a very respectable family in New York. The father of the bride is a retired umbrella merchant of Philadelphia.

DUNBAR's CONFESSION.—It appears that Dunbar, who was executed at Albany on the 31st ult., (yesterday) made a full confession of the awful crime of the Albany Journal, save:

"On the night of the 20th of December, Reuben A. Dunbar made to myself a full, frank and unqualified confession of the murder of D-vid L. Lester, and Stephen V. Lester, on Sunday, the 28th day of FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Nathan Wood, of Milafter his death.

As, by his written request, I have recently given be given to the public at such time, and under such morning. He was an estimable citizen and leaves circumstances as he may deem best, I am relieved a family to lament his loss,—Fredonia Censor. from all responsibility in reference to the copy thus delivered, and absolved from the promise to preserve the secret of its existence. I am informed, however, that it will be given to the public immediately after his execution:

His manner of making the confession—his appaural crime, -and his appearance generally, when subject to the severest tests which it has been in my power to apply, have left on my mind the im Pression that the confession is full and strictly true. The prisoner devotes himself, with much apparent earnestness, to the work of making a preparation to die-professes sincers pentience for his guilt, and his willingness to satisfy the demands of justice by the surrender of his life.

THE REVOLUTION IN YUCATAN.—The New Or leans Picayone gives the following particulars of the Pronunciamento in Yucatan:

"We learn from the Eco del Commercio that the has pronounced against the Supreme Government. The revolution contemplates the entire independence upon to-day to record the most horrid case of murder and suicide that has ever occurred in this connty. It took place in the town of Penfield, about ight miles from this city, between aix and seven o'clock last evening.

The person murdered was a yonug lady of a respectable family, named Sarah Sharp. The mur-derer was John Everets, the husband of Mrs. Sharp's sister-in-law, nearly as Millows: Miss Sharp was attending her eister, a Mrs Cambell, who was ill, at her residence, ses much surprise, and is difficult of explanation.

He assayed, this morning to "define" his position—s new platform or feature in about two miles, and a half from the bonse of Ever out of Mr. Campbell's house, and had been gone but two or three minutes before a noise was heard which appreciate his plea. Me. Ciay is sincere in his saused Mr. Campbell and a young man who was in his house to rush out to ascertain the cause. They had not proceeded more than ten feet from the door. when a horrid spectacle was presented to their view. Miss Sharp law upon the ground, with her throat cut from ear to ear, in the agonies of death, and near her lay Everets in nearly the same situation, with the bloody knife laying beride him. Both the murdered girl and her suicide brother-in law expired'un the spot. Rochester, Jan. 28-2 P. M.

Coroner Pullis held an inquest upon the bouies of Miss. Sarah Sharp and John Everstt, yesterday, in Penfield. Everett was a brother-in-law of Miss Sharp, and had for several years illigit intercourse with her. A man by the name of Charles Edwards, had lately became intimate with Sarah, which ere ated jealousy on the part of Everett. The evening of the murder he sharpened up a jick-knife, and proceeded to the residence of Mr. Campbell, where Miss Sharp was. Elwards was also at Campbell's house. Everett Firked about the house outside, watching to see if Elwards and Miss. Sharp were intimate. About eight o'clock she went out the door, but a minute after, a scream was heard, when Campbell and Edwards went out and found Miss Sharp's throat cut from ear to ear, and Everett in the same condition. Everett was about 40 years of age, and Miss Sharp about 30.

The following communication was found in Everett's pocket, by which it seems he contemplated his own destruction:

"My God! Sarah! could lever believed toless I had seen with my own eyes. Never did I think of seeing you letting such a man that so dimunitive man -toke my privilege that you have promised so ried, bu much. My God! Sarah! I had rather be dead match. twice. He will drive me mad. You don't know pose in his professions.

We have here a singular—no, not a singular, for parted. I see every motion. I see when you parted. I see that kiss. You made my feelings mad, and for this I die."
