By the Galveston, from Galveston, last evening, Major Bartlett, Commissary of the Boundary Commission, arrived in this city. He brought a train of wagens down to Lavaca from El Paso on the 16th

A party under Dr. Well, Secretary of the Commission, sent forward to the copper mines to examine the conveniencies of the place, and returned with a favorable report, and a part of the Commission was to start the ensuing week to occupy a post at the mines. The difficulties with the Mexican Commissioners had been all adjusted, and the initial point on the Rio Grande settled. Captain Craig reported friendly conferences with the Indi-Capt. Craig was to lead the party to the mines, which are about 180 miles from El Paso. Major Bartlett narrates a horrible adventure which befel his party about 225 miles this side of El Paso. Discovering smoke, they sent out a party to recon-noitre, and discovered a negro man and woman in the act of cooking food, and on further search the head of a negro was found in the fire, and parts of abody on the fire. They said they had been compelled to kill one of their compenious for food.— They had been nine days out, their gun had bursted and they were in a state of starvation. The account they gave of themselves was this: they were slaves to a man named Owens, near Holly Springs, Miss., and had ran off together last corn planting, making for Mexico. The boy killed was about 19 years of age, named Arthur; the other is a black aged from 27 to 30, calls himself Henry; the girl, a bright mulatto, about 21, named Malinda. These last two were taken to San Antonio, and left in custody of one Antonio Navano.

Major Bartlett left all the members of the Com-mission in good health. He brings with hims howerer, accounts of some horrible acenes of disorder, riot, murder and execution, which took place at Secorro about the closing days of January. We have from a correspondent on the spot a long and minute account of the whole scenes of horrible outrages, retribution and punishment, but the late hour at which it was received compels us to defer its publication. It seems that bands of armed ruf-fans, discharged teamsters and soldiers, and frontier desperadoes, had been overawing the quiet inhabitants of Socorro, by parading the streets armed, and committing all manner of lawless acts. They robbed and killed openly, without provication or remorse. Instances are given of an unoffending man, taking away his gun and killing him with it, without cause or provication, and brutally beating the women. Through the 28th and 29th of January they ranged like wild beasts, committing all sorts of crime, when a pariy of the sitizens sent an express to the United States troops at San Elezario, about six miles off, asking for protection, which was declined, and the applicants referred to a civil power.

On the night of the 29th a most audacious outrage was committed. The robber band seeking a man named Clarke, (E. C. Clarke, said to be the son of J. W. Clarke U. S. Senator from Rhode Island,) went to a fandango or dancing party where he was, and maltreated the whole party of men and females. They placed sentinels at the entrance, nretoff pistols at the candle, and otherwise terrified the women, threatened death to man or woman who should stir: and finally, the leader, one Alexander Young, assisted by three others, John Wade, Marcus Butler, and Wm. Craig, fell upon Clarke and gave him nine or ten mortal wounds. Another

He was arrested on the 10th, brought to Socorro on the 11h. He immediately made full confession of his crime, but nevertheless was put on trial on the 12th. His own written confession, which he repeated and signed, was added to the other testimony. He was found guilty, condemned and executed on the same tree where his companions had been hung. Major Bartlett repeats, that since these dreadful xamples Socorro has been perfectly quiet and orparticulars this morning .- Picayune :

The last that was seen of him he was seen to turn from the road toward a piece of woods. He had hentioned his intention to take the next train for Emira, and left his value, coat, &c., at the tavern. His non-appearance induced a number of persons to rearch a little for him on the following Tuesday, but as his mode of life for two or three years past had not been unexceptionable, it was supposed likely he had suddenly made up his mind to depart without notice, and the search was abandoned.
