THE WORLD'S WONDER .- For the following remarkable story we are indebted to the Milwaukie Wisconsin of the 10th. Mrs. Phelps, wife of Col. A. P. Phelps, of Oak Grove, died in August 1847, and was Buried in the yard of her son, at Oak Grove, Dodge county.

Subsequently Col. Phelps, having taken up his residence at Berlin, on the Fux river, desired to remove the body of his wife to that place; and accordingly the body was disinterred for that purpose .-The grave had been dug unusually wide, and a plank laid adross the same just above the coffin, to prevent the dirt from pressing upon it. The body, eleven days, at the time of the disinterment. On reaching the grave, the coffin-which was made of pine, and enclosed in an oak box-was found very heary-so much as to require the strength of five men with some difficulty to raise it. On bringing it to the surface, it was opened by Col. Phelps, the body discovered to be in a perfect state of petrifacation. A large chisel, used in opening, was tried upon the body, with no more effect than if ap-plied to brick or stone. The coffin was perfectly filled, and the body as hard and solid as a rock. The face and arms were as when first laid out, with to the invention, viz : that it is the one thing me the head slightly inclined to one side, and one arm a little fallen from its original position, probably occasioned by the conveyance. So perfect was the countenance, that the husband could at once recognise her easily among a thousand corpses. He de signs immediately in erecting an ample brick structure around the grave; and as this striking evidence of the wonder: workings of Nature may be thought worthy of scientific examination and inquiry, he is disposed to let those of the curious who may desire it to take such a view of the corpse, as it appears in the coffin, as they might prefer.

Rather Romantic.

The Cincinnati Enquirer relates the following, as an actual veriety :- "We heard of an incident, on Manlay last, from the lips of Esq. Taxlor, which partakes a good deal of the romantic, but which is pose the less true. In the fall of '45 a young man named Eleazer Fitch left here in company with Jub Kendall, on a flat-boat, for New Orleans, the boat being loaded with produce ewned by two men, which they succeeded in dispesing of without difficulty .-The whole receipts amounted to nearly $5,000, which they divided between them. Time passed, and Mr. Fuch did not come home, much to the surprise of his desparing wife, whom he had left behind with two children; nor could she gain any inigence of him, after Mr. Kendall parted with him at New Orleans, to return.

"It is true, the wife, soon after the arrival of Mr. Kendall, received a paper which contained an announcement of the death of Mr. Fitch, Killed in a gaming saloon, who hailed from Cincinnati; but still hope whispered that it could not be her husband. and yet he came not. A few months over a year flew over head, and then she gave up that her departed one must be lost. She had been addressed her condition in life being none of the best, she last Thursday afternoon. The hall was large yielded and married. Well, the long and short of chough to break panes of glass in different parts of who should walk into the presence of the double are glad to learn that no material injury has been wife, but Mr. Fitch himself. Of course a scene sustained by the fruit. The streams rose very enrued, but no damage was done. He then gave a rapidly and French Creek was soon in good reason for his long absence. On the day he receiving order, creating quite a stir along its banks among ed the money for his produce in New Orleans, he went to one of the gaming hells and lost all, shipwent to one of the gaming hells and lost all, ship- ern friends have left with their boats for the tived purpose, went into the employ of Capt. Sutter and good prices. - Cranford Dem. until the gold fever broke out, when he left for the mines, succeeded in gathering about $7,000 in the dust with which he started for San Francisco, where he established the first hotel that was opened in concluded to return home, and cill, as we have stated, with a pocket full of rocks.

"The remance is to come. He proffered to take her again as a wife, and als the little youngster she had by her second husband, to which she consented, in despite of all remonstrance, as her last marriage was not legal. The next day E.q. Taylor was call ed in, and united for the second time in wedlock, a man and his wife, who had been separated for a They will return in a few days to term of years. California. The Two Brothers.

It is not many years since two young men, without means, started in life. They were both brothere, and both printers. Both subsequently abandoned their proffession—after having earned public con-fidence in the editorial chair—and since then they followed—he ran to the spot and found his brother have pursued almost the same career, and though have pursued almost the same career, and though resident in different States, seem to have gone together, filling nearly the same public positions, and with the same public positions, and steady among all hearts by the gentle suavity and steady consistency of their character, and conduct. Both gether, filling nearly the same public positions, and they wish to have teeth inserted to go and steal consistency of their character, and conduct. Both are still very young men; and yet it is more than probable that both will in a few months rise to the Gubernatorial Chairs of Pennsylvania, the California of the Atlantic, and California, the Pennsylvania of the Atlantic, and California, the Pennsylvania of the Atlantic, and California, the Pennsylvania of the Pacific. The brothers alluded to, are of the Pacific. The brothers alluded to, are of the Rieler: now the conceded favoriare still very young men; and yet it is more than es for the highest honor of their respective States, and the admitted choice of the Democratic party in each. There is in this picture much of encouragement to the poor young man. Buth of these Brothers Bigler started life without money, and almost without friends. If the editor of the Scientific American would take the trouble to come to Worcester, we think he would be willing to acknowledge that there are some things in this world not dreamed of in his philosophy, and discontinue his ungenerous cavil against Mr. Paine .- Worcester Spy.

Re-Vaccination .- Medical men are very often asked if one vaccination is sufficient to protect the system through life; from small-pox; or how often it is necessary to have the operation performed? The late Dr. Fisher, of Boston, for a long time gave attention to this subject; and in January last bublished, with others, the following propositions, which are supported by numerous statistical facts, and are fully relied upon by the profession:

1. That one single and perfect vaccination d not, for all time in all cases, deprive the system of its susceptibility to variolous diseases. 2. That one or more re-vaccinations de ; and that consequently a physician should resommend relyaccination, when questioned as to its necessity. 3. The system is protected from variolous agion when it is no longer susceptible of vadeine influence, as tested by re-vaccination.

Every person, therefore, who would be fully protected from small pox, should be not only once reccinated, but should have the operation repeated one fected by the virus. For the most persons one opor more times, or until the system ceases to be af eration would be found sufficient, whiteothers would require several. Re-vaccination, at least once, should always be practiced. If this were the case gonerally, this disease would soon become unknown.

States and from what we know of their cost, and what we have seen of their consumption in the production of light, we think the expense of a light from a common argand burner could not exceed one mill or so per four. Mr. Paine informs us that he succeeded, two years since, is producing a brilliant light by his present process; but on account of some difficulty connected with the mechanical passage of the six hand of the apparatus, and the occupation of his and with other matters, he temporarily abandoned it.

But now, all difficulties are obviated, and the apparatus is in complete and successful operation in different places. The apparatus for lighting a large house, will occupy but little room, scarcely more than a large sized gasometre. Men of science fand gas company directors, have within a few days, given the whole matter a thorough investigation and so far, we believe there is but one opinion in regard at the invention, viz: that it is the one thing meaded to give a safe, unfailing stipoly of light at a series.
