Prospect of the Democratic Party.

There has not been a time for many years when the prospects of the Democratic party have been more flattering than at present. The principles which it maintained and advocated through the campaign of '44 though not adopted by the people by the election of Lewis Cass for President, have since most nobly vindicated themselves by receiving the support of the very statesman who arrayed themselves in opposition to the Democratic nominee. Compromises satisfactory to the great mass of the people have succeeded, with the exception of one or two fecalities, in the North and South, where extreme ultraism would set at defiance measures instituted for the good of our common country, a calm has followed the storm, which at one time seemed to threaten the Union. The Democratic party, satisfied in this result, are content to await the proper time for the election of a standard bearer for 1852, and seem determined that the energies of the party shall not be weakened by quarrels as to who among our many eminent Democrats shall be their candidate for the approaching Presidential campaign. True, each location has its preference and its man, but the forbearance exercised in pushing these claims, indicate that the next Democratic National Convention will meet in a spirit of conciliation and harmony, and that the nominee of that convention will be triumphantly elected. Not so with the whig party.—Already their camp is in confusion; a strife, hostile and bitter, has commenced, and marshaling of the clans engaged the energies of their leading journals. In this State the Seward faction, headed by the Tribune, and supported by the Legislative caucus of last winter, are out in favor of Gen. Scott, thus showing to the world that after the complete rejection of the "Higher Law Doctrine," they are ready to stake anything upon the popularity of a military chieftain—and one, too, whose principles are (any expression of his to the contrary) as different from theirs as daylight is from darkness. The Advertiser seems to bear all this as stoical as possible, but cannot forbear an occasional growl at the annoyances of their neighbor. In a similar condition is the whig party through all the States. Bitter feuds distract and divide, while many of their leaders, disappointed in receiving their share of spoils, or removed from comfortable quarters to make room for such men as "Parson Sprague," are only awaiting a convenient season to take a most summary revenge.

Many of the circumstances that leaded to our defeat in 1844 do not now exist. The history of a brilliant war has now become a well read page; and though our people will ever delight to cherish the memory of its heroes, yet we believe it is the slight of laurels won by recent deeds only, that will cause all principle, or nearly all to be sacrificed to a wild enthusiasm. Again the noble old "Key Stone," through whose delinquincy the last battle was lost, has wheeled into line, and is ready to atone for past errors, by taking the front rank in the coming contest. Then, under this state of affairs, all that is necessary to ensure success, is that the same quiet conciliatory spirit be continued between the different sections of the Democratic party. Our National Convention will then meet, ready to consult its best interests, and we doubt not that the result of its deliberations will meet with a hearty response from the democracy, and approval of the people at the ballot box.

SHARK HUNTING.—The exciting and manly sport commenced for the season on Saturday last. The carcass of an old horse had been procured, it was properly prepared and set adrift towards the close of ebb-tide, and having floated down opposite the Battery, its convulsive motion gave evidence that the sea wolves were at their feast. Three of our young gentlemen, who were enthusiasts in this sport, having provided themselves with the proper implements proceeded in a stout boat to the busy scene and soon found themselves in the midst of a large school of sharks, who not at all disturbed by their presence, continued their repast—the larger ones moving up to the carcas, fastening their teeth in it and with a jerk, rending off a limb or other portion, while the smaller ones would snatch at the fragments which escaped from their jaws.

Our young gentlemen soon went to work, and in the course of an hour an three quarters killed nine of the monsters, six of which they succeeded in bringing to the wharf The sport was of the most exciting character, the animals not only making play, but occasionally leaving fight. One of the largest, when struck, seized the boat by the cutwater, and shook it most violently, while another came up open-mouthed at a colored man, who was cutting a harpoon out of one of those captured alongside but was arrested by a well directed thrust of a spear, which penetrated far down his capacious throat.—The six sharks that were brought to the wharf were found to measure respectively as follows: 9 feet 3 inches; 9 feet 4 inches; 10 feet 1 inch; 10 feet 9 inches; 10 feet 9 inches; 11 feet 6 inches.—Charleston Mercury.

TERRIFIC HAIL STORM.—The north-western portion of Blair county was visited with one of the most violent hail storms on record on Tuesday evening last. It commenced about dusk and passed over parts of Logan and Antes townships, leaving in its wake desolation and destruction, not unlike the simoon of the Arabian deserts. In the neighborhood of Altoona the barn of Mr. John Hamilton was bloon down and his house unroofed. His loss is about $2000. Mr. Hamilton's orchard together with a number of others, was completely desolated, and for some two or three miles, both east and west of Altoona, nearly all the trees were stripped of their foliage. Whole fields of grain were cut down as low as if the sickle of the reaper had passed over it, and fences were prostrated for miles—immense trees were out of the ground, and even some of the telegraph posts were missing! In the vicinity of Collinsville the storm was very severe, and the amount of damage done is very great.

The storm was of a very short duration, but it left behind it a greater wreck of matter than any storm that has ever occurred in Blair county.—Hollidaysburgh Standard.

☞ HORACE GREELY, in writing from London, gives the following advice to such as design going to the World's Fair; "If the day of your embercation be fair, take a long, earnest gaze at the, sun, so that you know him again when you return. They have somthing they call the sun over here, which they show occasionally, but it looks more like a boiled turnip than it does like its American namesake.—Yet they cheer us with the assurance that there will be real sunshine here by-and-by."

LET HER BE.—One of the Detroit mercantile gentleman, who was travelling eastward a short time since, went to the clerk on one of the Ontario boats, to be shown his state room. The clerk handed the applicant a key, at the same time pointing to a door at some little distance. Our friend went in the direction indicated, but opened the door next to his own, where he discovered a lady passenger making her toilette, who, upon the stranger's appearance, uttered a low scream; "go away! go away!" cried she, "Letter B." screamed the clerk. I am not touching her at all!" returned the indignant merchant, SHOCKING DEATH BY HANGING.—We learn from the Canton Weekly Register, that a little girl at school, near Macomb, in McDonough county, Ill., came to a sudden and most shocking death last week, by her school mistress puting a handkerchief around her neck and raising her from the floor until her neck was dislocated. The teacher had accused the child of stealing a piece of money, and threatened to hang her if she did not confess the crime. The child persisted in its innocence, she proceeded to put her threat into execution, with the above mentioned result.

HORRIBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.—On Saturday afternoon a man named George H. Perkins, residing on Palmer street, a tinner in the employ of Messrs. John Otto & Co., went into the wood shed of his house where his son, a lad about twelve years of age, was at work, and seizing an axe struck him a heavy blow upon the head cleaving open the skull in a most terrible manner. The father immediately started for the Canal, which was at considerable distance, crossed several streets in his way thither, and arriving upon the bank jumped in, and was drowned before he could be rescued. It is supposed that he was insane at the time of this occurrence, as he had acted strangely at intervals for some time past.

The son was yet alive when we last heard from him, but from the nature of his injury no hope was entertained of his recovery.—Buf. Courier.

☞ The President recognizes Johannes Jacob Ludwig Herrlick, vice Consul of Sweden and Norway, for San Francisco.

THE RESULT OF KINDNESS.—The Jacksonville (Ill.) Journal says, when the Superintendant of the Asylum for the poor in that county first took charge of it, he found an insane man who had been loaded with chains for years. Believing that this cruelty kept him insane, he took the responsibility of taking them off, and gradually restoring him to liberty.—The man at first rated, expecting fresh torture; then he doubted, and finally realized he was free.—He was overpowered with delight, exclaiming constantly as he looked upon the outer world of sunshine:—"Oh, how beautiful!" Then gratitude to his liberator prevailed. At length he went voluntarily to work in the garden, though he had nearly lost all his locomotion, and became entirely recovered. He is now working on a farm.

CURIOUS STORY.—We clip the following from the interesting correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer:

A curious story is afloat in the upper part of the city concerning a rich old gentleman, who it is said was entrapped by a very handsom and dashing lady of English birth. It is said he became enamored of her—that she controlled him as she wished. To test his profession of love and attachment, she prevailed on him to transfer all his real estate to her, amounting in value to some $80,000. He did so. She sold out, pocketed the proceeds, and is now on her way to merrie England. There is more truth than poetry in the story.

DISSOLUTION.

THE co-partnership heretofore existing between the subscribers expired by its own limitation on the first of March. The Books and Notes of the late firm will be found at the store in the Bonnell Block till the first of April, after which they will be at his new store adjoining the Erie Foundry, where all who are interested are requested to call and settle with Walter Chester, who is authorized to close up the business. The importance of making immediate payment is too obvious to require further notice, and it is hoped that a resort to legal coersion will be unnecessary.

E. A. LESTER,
PARDON SENNETT,
Erie, March 3, 1851. WALTER CHESTER.
