It is not a mulatto, but spotted. The face is black, with white spots on the forchead, and one on the chin. The legs and part of the body are white with black spots. The white is not like the Albino, but like the skin of the white race, with the blue veins showing themselves through it. The mother is said to have been during her pregnancy very fond of a spotted colt, fol-lowing it about and manifesting towards it the love of a mother for her child. Here is a question for his physiologist.-Louis. Journal.
