THE attention of the inusical public is respectfully invited to this new and beautiful instrument, now on exhibition at Stockton & Fuller's. The Boudoir is by professional men, acknowledged to possess atperfor advantages over all other Pianos now in use. The prominent beauties of this new invention are its deep, rich and exquisite tones, its touching delicacies, and the compartities of its form; and in connection with its outward ornamental and attractive appearance, must offer strong induceditients to any one who is on the eve of selecting a choice and desirable instrument. To appreciate its qualities needs only an examination. Its merits can be fully stested by calling at July 3 1852.
