instead of on the principles of the Compromise

But though we cannot, be otherwise than grateful for a FILLMOAN administration in the place of TAYLOR regency-and though we must admit that on the subject of slavery Mr. Fillmonn has done tolerably well for a wig; yet there is another view to be taken of the present administration's career. It is a view of certain features in it for which the whig puriz is responsible, even more than Mr. Fillmore himself. If my time were nut already exhausted, into many transactions of the present administration I should like to inquire. I should like, for instance, to ask why it was that when Spain broke the stipulations of her treaty with us and butchered fifty of our citizens without a trial, we had to make apologies instead of Spain. It matters not whether the participators in the Cuban afair were right or wrong. Admit that they were wrong. Still, 'nder the liberal stipulations of the treaty they were entitled to a fair and open trial, with torms distinctly designated. But they were buichered without a / It is with deep regret we asnounce this week the death "chance of law; murdered in cold slood; and then we of Wm. SEARIGHT, Esq., the Democratic candidate for apologized because an irresponsible mob, coming no obe knows whence, going no one knows where, tore down a house in New Orleans. The bloud of our countrymen cried from the ground, and there was no ear for the cry at Washington. But for the Spanish consul's house was made an humble apology we put onr forehead in the dust before offended roy alty ; and the flag of stars we trailed in the dust before the banner of Castile.

I should like to inquire, too, into the policy adopted by the whig party relative to the South American republics and the right of Great Britsin over Central America. I should like to know why it is that the United States cannot make treaties with independent powers on our uws continent without consulting the British cabinet, and without the interference of English agents. Would the Nicarangua business have stained the page of our diplomatic history, if a democratic administration had occupied the departments of our governments during the last four years? Could any others than whig publicans have truckled, as Clayton and his associates have done throughput that transaction, to British power?

I should like to have compared the extenditure coming important that the Democracy of the city and of the late whig administration with that of former | county should be thoroughly and efficiently organized. democratic governments. I should like to get some explanation why it is that the expenses of this government have suddenly increased from about thirty to near sixty millions of dollars. I should like to know why a whig administration cost more in profound peace than a democratic administration does during a great war. I should like to hear some explanation of the way

They promised that none but the incapable and the dishopest should be proscribed, and then they prescribed nearly every demecrat in office. Now, are we to understand that every democrat is incapable and dishonest? Does the Scarcely so. Yet such is the inference they would have others to make. Not content with depriving prisoner at Queenston-we'll assert even that he linked men of their bread, they turn then away with a tarnished name. I would not complain of the late proscription if the true reason was alleged for it. But what lagnage is too strong for the iniquity, the heart. less cruelty and selfishness of the insinuated slander behind which they seek shelter!

However, there will be no complaint on this score relative to their present candidate. He brandishes the sword in advance. He proclaims was without quarter beforehand, and comes at you in feather and epsulet. Well, my friends, if you are deluded by this man as you were cy Taylor, all that I can say is, that you deserve your fate. But I do not fear that you will or can be. We are now coming to aparties; and in such a contest when did we fail?- Speak up now like a maa-is it a bargain? Let us then go to work boldly. Let us throw false delicacy aside, and, disregarding whig friends, let us Sunbury and Erie Railrod expose the political conduct of bur adversaries with. out imitating their assaults upon private character. If, in so doing, we shall be true to ourselves, net ther abolitionism nor federalism will prevail against us, and the success of our principles, with the election of those who represent them, is already a foregone conclusion. [Tremendous and long-duntinued applause.]

Death of Mr. Searight.

Canal Commissioner. He died at his residence in Fay. ette county on Friday last week. Mr. S. was a man of first rate business talents, and an honest man, and if he had lived would have made one of the best officers our Commonwealth over possessed. His disease was Chronic Diarchons, with which he had been more or less afflicted for several years. The attack of which he died had prostrated him for several weeks, and his death had been looked for for some time.

His place upon the ticket will doubtless be supplied by the Democratic Convention which meets in Harrisburg on the 26th.

A Batch of Falsshoods

The Genetic has repented of so far having dess justice e the Democracy of New Hampohice as to have ewood that it requires a two third vote to amond the epocilityjon of that state. It now assorts that it was --mistaken, and the Observer is mistaken, in saying that it requires a vote of two thirds to amond the Constitution of New Humpshire. Any state can amend its constitution by the concurrence of a majority of its votes." This is. misrepresentation number one! "Any State" cannot amend its constitution by a simple majority, for New Hammehire cannot !- Rhode Island cannot !- Sogth Caroline cannot ; it requires two thirds of her legislature !--and there are several other states that require like meterities. But to return to Now Hampshire. Her constitution, after specifying here the sense of the people shall be accertained as to the necessity of a revision of the constituties, and providing how a convention shall be called if a majority declars for a revision, provides as follows:

"The delegates to be chosen in the same manner, and propertioned as the representatives to the general court; provided, that no alteration shall be made in this cousti stion, before the same shall be hid before the towns an unincorporated places, and approved by two thirds of the qualified voters present and voting on the subject."

So much for the repeated honesty of our cotemporary New for misrepresentation number two. "Neither 16 it, as the Buffalo Express remarks," continues the Gazette, "true that the Whigs have prevented a two-thirds vote in favor of the amendment striking out the "test." The record of the election shows, that where there were phig mejorities, the vote was strong against the 'test,' and where there were Locofoce majorities, the vote was strong for the 'test!' " Before we show the supremerfullacy of this, we may as well show from the "record" how the Democracy of New Hampshire stood upon the question, as indicated by the resolutions of their State Convention. In 1849, the Democratic State Convention of New Hampshire unenimously passed the following reselation:

Resolved, That we are in favor of a revision and emendment of our State Constitution to such an extent at least as well free it from religious tests, property qualifications, and all other illiberal and anti-rupublicu estures.

This is conclusive as to the position of the Democracy of New Hampshire on the "religious that," and now we will show from the "records" how they Earried this resolution into effect at the polls. Recollect this resolution was passed at their Convention in 1849-uow, at the election in the spring of 1850, sizty size towns gave majorities in favor of the amendment abelishing the religione test; of which forty five gave plaralities for the Dom-

Free Soil National Convention.

The free-soil national convention, at Pitsburgh, concluded its labors last week-baving adopted a platform, and presented John P. Hale of New Hampshire and Geo. W. Julien of Judiana for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. The chief actors in the affair were actors in the Buffalo performance-the platform is essentially the same sectional and abolition affair-and though other names figure on the ticket, they match well with the platform, and are in onlire keeping with the tenets and designs of abolition fanaticism. The only thing remark, able in all this performance is the nomination of Mr. Hale against his wishes, and the refusal to give him the usual official notification of the honor conferred upon that it is so bad as it would be likely to be made by any have anticipated his withdrawal, and lest they might be ; left without even a nominal leader, left him without the opportunity, unless he volunteers, to decline.
