The Democratic party will not likely endorse Henry Watterson's suggestion to make Admiral Dewey their candidate for President, particularly after they find out his opinion of a Democrat. Edson C. Brace, who was chief clerk of the capable naval officers were making an active search for this choice billet when it became known that Commodore Schley was to quit the shore and command the Baltimore, but Admiral Walker held it open several weeks for his friend Dewey, who was then just returning from the command of the flagship Pensacola in the Mediterranean, after quarrel with Admiral Sam Franklin. Having been until that time chief clerk of the bureau, I became by law the acting chief during this interregnum.

"In due season the new chief came along and took up his duties at the bureau. In the two years or less that I served with him there were many opportunities to study his character and find out his view, personal, literary and political. I will relate an incident. One morning the Commodore came into my room holding the Washington Post before him. He had been reading a report of David B. Hill's speech at Grafton, on the Baltimore & Ohio railway, I think, in which Mr. Hill sought to impress his personality upon the people as a Presidential aspirant by the fre-Presidential aspirant by the frequent use of a cabalistic phrase 'I lot feamsters passed through our burg enroute for Glen Hazel.

"I am a Democrat," repeated the Commodore, with the peculiar musing manner he sometimes fell into; his word for it was 'mulling.' 'What is a Democrat farmer in the spring. He has ordered some very fine stock and will start it

"It would take quite a little time, I think, to define that at this moment, was the reply of the subordinate.

"Well, I'll tell you what a Democrat is," said the Commodore with some asperity of tone, 'In time of war a Democrat was a damned traitor; in time of peace he is a damned fool.' "

Dangers of the Grippe.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe we have yet to learn of a case having resulted in pneumonia which snows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. It will cure la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by L. Taggart.

DR. BULL'S Cough Syrap cures all threat troubles. Why wear out your threat by incessant coughing, when this reliable remedy can be bought for only 25 cents a bottle?

ALL AROUND THE COUNTY.

In reply to the More Hill correspondent, in last issue of the Independent, who attempts to give the facts concerning the transportation of children to More Hill school by Wm. R. Johnson, will say that either through ignorance or jealousy of the nominal sum of $20 paid to Mr. J. for his services, (and which he certainly earns) he has told anything but the truth. In the first place the school board hired Mr. J. to haul all children, outside of the two mile limit, to More Hill school, for one dollar per day, a distance of 3 3-5 miles and up one hill and down another. It was certainly a wise move on the part of school board, for had they boarded the children or built a new school house, it would have doubled the expense over the present plan.

The school board did not hire Mr. J. to haul only five children, but to haul all the children outside of the More.

to had only five children, but to had all the children, outside of the More Hill school limit, going to said school, let there be more or less than five; all out of the limit was to be hauled, but owing to sickness there was two of the children who could not attend. Now, Mrs. W.'s children, one a girl of nine and the other a strong, buxom lass of fourteen summers, who live but one mile and eight rods from the school bayes, are, the selectors in this one mile and eight rods from the school house, are the sole factors in this controversy. Mr J. was kind enough to haul the younger one and would have hauled both had he had room, but the sleigh being crowded the elder girl had to walk, the children being in the school limit and no more entitled to ride than was the balance of the school. Mrs.W. failed to appreciate this, as she continually entered complaint. Owing to the deep snow and drifting of Brace, who was chief clerk of the naval bureau of equipment and recruiting, while Admiral Dewey (then Commodore) was its chief, in a communication to the Washington Post, says:

"The closest friend the Admiral has in the navy is Admiral John G. Walker, who, though raised in the West, is another type of the extreme abolition Republicanism of New England, where he was born and partly reared. It
