Stalwarts Continue to Win

The Republican stalwarts continue to win victories at the primary elections. The McKean county Republican convention on Tuesday last resulted in a rousing victory for the friends of Colonel Quay.

The resolutions specifically commend the action of Senator Merrick and Representatives Dempsey and Richmond, members of the legislature from this district, who are included in "the stalwart ninety-six," who went into the Republican caucus and voted until the end of the session for Colonel Quay for United States senator.

Resolved, By the Republicans of McKean county, through the county convention here assembled, that we affirm the principles laid down by the last Republican national convention; that we most heartily indorse the administration of President McKinley, and congratulate the people that through his wise administration prosperity has come to the whole nation.

The Cumberland county Republican convention, held the same day, proved to be a walkover for the stalwarts. Chairman Ruple made a few remarks, in which he said he believed the minority of the convention would vote with the party in November.

The following nominations were made for state delegates: W. R. Beaver of Shippensburg and R. P. Thomas, Jr., of Mechanicsburg, representing the Quayites, and M. P. Smyser of Lower Allen and Thomas R. Burgner of West Pennsboro the anti's. The vote resulted as follows: Thomas, 107; Beaver, 106; Smyser, 43; Burgner, 42.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows: "The Republicans of Cumberland county, in convention assembled, do hereby affirm the principles enunciated in the platform adopted by the national Republican convention in 1896.

Resolved, That we most heartily indorse the administration of President McKinley, which has brought prosperity to the whole nation and has elevated the standing of America among the nations of the world.

Resolved, further, That we recommend to our delegates this day elected to aid and assist in selecting at the state convention nominees for the offices to be selected at that convention which will best aid in harmonizing the party."

The resolutions were adopted by acclamation. The Republicans of Fayette county held their primaries on Saturday last and the friends of Senator Quay carried everything before them. C. B. Freed, Dr. L. F. Arensburg, Charles F. Smith and George F. Titlow were elected delegates to the state convention.

ELKIN IS DELIGHTED. Chairman John P. Elkin, of the Republican state committee, seems to be delighted with the news that comes to him from the several counties.

"The Republicans of Pennsylvania," remarked the state chairman, "seem to be thoroughly acquainted with the political situation, and they propose to sustain the party organization and the men who have stood for the principles of the party, rather than the selfish interests of a few men with political ambitions."

The Republican state convention will give expression to the will of the Republicans of Pennsylvania without dictation or interference from any one. The reports that this man or that man has been slated for this or that office are absolutely without foundation of fact.

These stories are on a par with the reports that were sent out affecting the actions of members of the legislature who declined to be influenced or intimidated by certain interests. There is a free-for-all contest for the several nominations to be made by the Republican state convention, and the nominees of that body will be triumphantly elected."

PENROSE HAS A PLANK FOR PLATFORM. The Distinguished Young Pennsylvanian Tells Why the President Has Won the Confidence and Admiration of the People.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, May 30.—Pennsylvania is likely to be the first state in the Union to declare through the Republican organization in favor of the renomination of President McKinley.

At the coming state convention Senator Penrose will advocate a plank in the platform which will not only commend the administration of President McKinley, but declare in emphatic language in favor of his renomination and re-election to the presidency. This program has the hearty approval of Colonel Quay, who will himself be a delegate to the Republican state convention, and who has already been suggested for the chairmanship of the committee on resolutions of that body.

The Beaver statesman, during his many years of successful leadership of the Republican party in the Keystone state, has had a hand in the drafting of many of the platforms upon which the party's candidates have been triumphantly elected.

Senator Penrose is proud of the fact that early in 1895 he publicly announced his preference for Major McKinley for the presidential nomination, and that on several occasions the president has, in the course of conversations, referred to this circumstance.

"I am unquestionably in favor of President McKinley's renomination," was the prompt and emphatic response which Senator Penrose gave when asked if he cared to discuss the national political outlook.

"President McKinley," continued the senator, "saved the country from the industrial depression and commercial uncertainty brought on by the free trade administration of Cleveland, and rescued our people from the dreadful apprehensions of disaster and revolution involved in the candidacy of Bryan. The results obtained by his election have been beyond the most sanguine expectations.

The country a short time after his inauguration and following the passage of the Dingley bill at the extra session of congress, so promptly and wisely called by him, entered upon a period of unexampled prosperity. In fact, never in the history of the world has such an exhibition of industrial and commercial development been witnessed.

The money question, while not definitely settled, has ceased to be a disturbing factor as long as a Republican president is in office and Republican majorities in the house and senate are assured to uphold the pledge in the Republican national platform for a sound currency. The question will be taken up at the approaching session of congress, and will be disposed of satisfactorily.

MCKINLEY'S GREAT WAR RECORD. "The unexpected event in the administration and one of the greatest events in our history was the war with Spain," continued Senator Penrose, as he took up the stirring period of the McKinley administration.

"Upon this occasion the greatness of President McKinley showed itself. He recognized early that the moral sentiment of the people were shocked beyond endurance by the cruelties and barbarities of the Spanish government. The greatness of the president was shown in the fact that at this critical juncture he made every possible effort to avoid a war.

He exhausted every method to counsel moderation among his own countrymen and to secure peaceful results by diplomatic negotiations. To the young, patriotic military spirit in the nation the condition of affairs had become intolerable, and war was forced upon the country. The splendid confidence felt at the time in the wisdom and integrity of McKinley was shown by the prompt and unanimous passage by congress of the first loan required by the war.

In a few moments, without debate and without restriction, the enormous sum of $50,000,000 was placed at the disposal of the president, and during the war both parties in congress at all times, by their vigorous support of the administration, gave evidence of their confidence in the president's high patriotic purpose.

"During the active operations of the war the president kept in close touch with all the military and naval maneuvers. No one who did not come in contact with the president at the time can appreciate the enormous responsibilities and burdens imposed upon him at this period. All through the day and often up until long after midnight the president endured an enormous physical strain, and with untiring industry and wise sagacity successfully met the serious problems which continually confronted him.

QUESTION OF NEW TERRITORY. "At the conclusion of the war the United States was obliged to face a serious problem of outlying territories, which were not wanted and were unexpectedly acquired. In dealing with this serious question the president again exhibited his clear political insight and his broad American patriotism. Cuba is temporarily under an American military protectorate until such time as order can be restored and a Cuban government established. In Porto Rico there were few difficulties, as the island became part of the United States with the full acquiescence of its inhabitants. The treatment of the Philippine islands involved more serious questions. I cannot now go into details to show how the United States had but one duty before it, and that was to retain possession of these islands under the terms of the Paris treaty. The reasons were satisfactory to the commission, composed of representative Americans, and were esteemed valid by a two-thirds vote in the United States senate on the confirmation of the treaty.

The president has taken the ground that by the time the present congress convenes matters will have settled down, and the way of making a fair adjustment of many difficulties will begin to be indicated. The president will send in his message and congress have to provide for the local government of our newly acquired territories. The question is not involved in any more difficulties than were successfully disposed of in the settlement of issues bearing upon the regulation of previously acquired territory. In the solution of these complicated and grave questions the experience and knowledge of the president and the confidence which he inspires in the country, regardless of party, will be an important if not a dominant factor in congressional legislation.
