Dress Goods.

We assert that our showing of Dress Goods for Autumn wear is without a peer in the matter of variety and refined selection—a claim that is supported by a volume of business which is wholly unprecedented and will rapidly grow.

Not superior, but the prices are most favorable.

These novelties must be seen to be appreciated.

Fall Capes AND JACKETS

This department is unusually active, and purchasers are reaping the benefit of the forehand methods which gave us a large stock of Jackets and Capes for this season's trade, at prices extremely low for first-class garments.

Fashion has been kind in her plans this fall. Her decree seldom bends with economy; but for once the two are yoke mates.

The latest Fall Styles are here at the LOW prices that have made this department so well known.

BE SURE AND COME IN EARLY.

J. B. SCHRIEVER.

SEGER's clothing house on Allegany Avenue was scene of a great slaughter—in prices—last week when Mr. Seger reduced the prices on his entire stock of men's and boys' clothing.

A MEASURING SOCIAL will be given under the auspices of the C. E. society of the Presbyterian church, at the residence of the R. R. McQuay, Friday evening, Oct. 27, 1899. During the evening there will be held a Waterman pen contest. 34-2t

DON'T MISS IT.—The recitals at the Baptist church next Monday evening by Ross d'Erica should not be missed by our citizens. They are well spoken of by all who have heard them. Don't forget the date.

S. E. MURRY, at his plumbing establishment on Broad street, has a large and fine line of gas stoves of the most popular makes. "The American Beauty," the popular gas, wood or coal range, is meeting with great success. Call and see Mr. Murry's line of stoves and save money.

NEW APRICOTS, PEACHES, FIGS. Fresh invoice. Shredded whole wheat biscuits, palatable—nutritious, 2 packages 25c. Just received a fresh lot of those Victoria chocolate creams and H. H. cocoanut Bon Bons 20c lb. They are fine. Our market is now constantly supplied with Fresh Home Made Sauage, in casings or not, as you like it. DAY'S.

WILLING WORKERS FAIR.—Don't forget the "Willing Workers" fair at the opera house next week, the 24th, 25th and 26th. See the unique miniature representation of various Bible history scenes as a side issue each evening. Wednesday evening, Humphrey's Cosmopolitan Quartette and Niver's Anamiscopic. This company comes very highly recommended by some of the best people of our state. Booths will be arranged in the opera house at which will be exposed for sale numerous useful and beautiful articles made and solicited by the girls. This band of young girls are interested in their work and deserve the patronage and encouragement of the public.

A Hammock Party.

Progressive hammock parties are the latest. A hammock is hung under the trees for each lady in the company. Each hammock is numbered, and the gentlemen draw similar numbers out of a hat. They seek out the proper hammock and the fun begins. They are allowed five minutes in each hammock, and progress until they have sat five minutes beside each lady in the party. The girls have nothing to do but sit still and look sweet until the end of the game when they decide by ballot which gentleman is entitled to the prize for being the most entertaining, and the chap who gets the fewest votes is the booby.

RENO GIRL FOULY MURDERED IN BALTIMORE.

Husband Tenderly Carries Young Wife With One Arm While Death Lurked in Other—Fatal Shot Fired in Presence of Others—Brought to Renoov for Interment.

Particulars of the shooting of Mrs. Harry Harris by her husband in Baltimore, on Friday morning, created considerable excitement in Renoov, and cast a gloom over the entire community as the victim of the felon's bullet was the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Jones, of the Renoov Hotel, and is a young lady universally loved and respected by all who knew her.

Harris' violent temper is said to have compelled his wife to leave him on several occasions. She had been at the home of her parents in Renoov and last week received a telegram that her husband was ill and she went to Baltimore to nurse him. On Wednesday Mr. Jones received notice that again there was trouble and he started immediately for Baltimore arriving there on Thursday, with the intention of taking his daughter home with him.

Harris seemed distressed. He asked her father if he would let Eva stay if he would behave himself. When told that she would return home with her father, Harris, who seemed rational and penitent of his treatment to his wife, walked quietly across the room to where she was standing and put his left arm around her neck as in a fond caress, while with the other hand he quickly pulled a revolver and pressed it to her head and sent a bullet crashing into her brain. The tragedy took place in the kitchen of the young people's home, in the presence of the girl's father and aunt and Harris' uncle, all of whom were powerless to prevent the crime. Harris fired the fatal shot at 9:15 a.m., the bullet passing through the brain and lodging over the right ear. He might have turned the revolver on the others or upon himself had not Mr. Jones sprang upon him and pinned him to the floor while the young man's uncle wrested the weapon from his hand.

Eva Jones three years ago was attending the Peabody Conservatory of Music. She had a fine voice and was taking vocal instructions. Six months after she first met Harris they were married. Their baby, a daughter, is nine months old. He is 29 years of age. She is 24 and a beautiful woman. Mrs. Harris died at the University of Maryland hospital early on Saturday morning, and was brought to Renoov on Monday and taken to the Renoov hotel where the remains lay in state until the funeral which took place on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. J. D. Cook, assisted by Rev. Robert McCaslin, of Emporium. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

Harris, who was employed as a railroad agent at Baltimore, languishes in prison at the latter place, awaiting trial for murder in the first degree. A strong guard has been placed over him to prevent any attempt at suicide, as he raves like a maniac.

Renoov News: It was exactly 1:30 o'clock when the funeral ceremonies began. Rev. Robert McCaslin, of Emporium, preached one of the ablest and most touching sermons ever heard here. He, in turn, was followed by Rev. J. D. Cook, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who offered a most devout and heartfelt prayer.

More Authority.

Constables now have powers identical with policemen, and can arrest without a warrant, and take before a local magistrate, any offender against the peace or violator of borough ordinances. The justice may impose fine and costs, the fine to be paid to the borough treasurer for the use of the borough.

"When a man marries," says the Chicago News, "he gives his name to his wife, but when he fails in business the akes hers."

BOUND FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Lieutenant McNarney Reaches Hawaiian Islands.

Gazette and Bulletin.

On board U. S. A. Transport Grant, October 1, 1899.—Well here I am for the sixth time on the sea on an army transport, in excellent health and getting fat. Lieutenant O'Shea, Fourth cavalry, Lieutenant Peck, Thirty-seventh infantry and myself, with 250 recruits for different regiments, went aboard the transport Grant with the Twenty-sixth infantry, (Colonel Rice commanding) on the 25th of September and after six days travel in the direction of the horizon (for that was the only thing in sight) we are now in sight of Molokai, in the Hawaiian islands, and settled partly by lepers. We will reach Honolulu to-night and go ashore in the morning, where we will lay for several days to coal ship.

My forty men are scattered all over the world. I have so far come up with fourteen of them. Nearly all of my men, however, have been made acting corporals, sergeants and first sergeants. Sergeant Mackey is two days ahead of me on the Sherman. Burnett is acting first sergeant still at the Presidio. Westfall and Rissell are aboard as noncommissioned officers in Peck's company. Rosecrans is his first sergeant.

I have a company of 130, all regulars, and don't know one of them, but they know me now and are thoroughly convinced that they have a company commander. All the men have been examined and vaccinated. The examination was very severe and some of the men were turned down after passing two previous examinations. I was vaccinated in Frisco and it is getting in its work now. Then the doctor on the boat gave me another for luck. I told him "thanks, that'll take as big as a dollar." He said, "here's another dollar; you have got your money's worth" and proceeded to write his check for the amount on my armband, so I have now three pets.

The present transport service (as compared with that at the beginning of the Spanish-American war) is a palace compared with a dugout. This boat is divided into fireproof compartments which are roomy and well ventilated. The decks are iron and are kept perfectly clean. Bunks are of iron with laced canvas boudoirs. Each compartment has two large double hatchways leading up "between decks," which is occupied as a dining hall and tables and seats are provided for all the men. The facilities for bathing, washing clothes, dishes, etc., are of the very best. The men do not live on travel rations, but are served with an abundance of food, well cooked in the ship's kitchen. All men are required to bathe every third day and are inspected in underwear the day following the bath. Every precaution is taken to prevent sickness. The ship carries in the cold storage (which is kept below the freezing point) every kind of meat, fish and poultry that can be conceived. The Twenty-sixth infantry band, which is an excellent organization, makes things lively with four concerts each day. My very kindest regards to all my friends.

FRANK T. McNARNEY.

Fire Alarms.

Yesterday about two o'clock the fire whistles sounded and the entire department was called out. Smoke was issuing from Albert Haup's cellar, on Second street, caused by a leakage in gas pipe. The fire was extinguished with small loss. The next time Albert looks for a leak in the gas pipe he will not use a lighted match.

This Thursday morning another was started, this time from the west ward. R.R. McQuay's kitchen chimney took a notion to burn out and called a big crowd and some excitement. No damage was done.

Gen. Gordon's Lecture.

Gen. J. B. Gordon's lecture at the opera house Tuesday evening, on "The Last Days of the Confederacy" was the best and most eloquent address ever delivered in Emporium. Every seat in the large hall was taken and the vast audience frequently applauded the speaker. Miss Collins, our energetic County Superintendent, deserves the thanks for this treat.

HARRY S. LLOYD.

Republican Rally.

The Republican rally at the opera house last Monday afternoon was well attended for a day meeting. The stage was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting, under the direction of Mrs. E. C. Davison, assisted by Mayor Howard, Harry Hemphill and Orvis Hemphill. Promptly at 2 o'clock secretary of the county committee, C. Jay Goodnough, called the meeting to order and read the list of officers selected by the organization, as follows: President—Hon. J. C. Johnson; Vice Presidents—John Day, Sr., Geo. A. Walker, C. C. Fay, J. O. Brookbank, H. J. Darren, C. F. Mankey, Jos. Kaye, John Wygant, E. C. Davison, L. Lockwood, W. L. Thomas.

Secretaries—B. L. Spence, F. A. Hill, A. L. Ensign. Capt. Johnson called the meeting to order and introduced the Quintette, composed of five members of the Fighting Tenth Regiment, whose singing captured the audience. During the meeting the boys were repeatedly called upon and the hearty applause accorded them was evidence that their excellent singing was appreciated. Addressees were made by Capt. Frank Barr, of 16th. "A. Vols., Sergt. Jessie Wall, Corp. W. L. Dom and Lieut. A. B. Young, all of the Fighting Tenth Regiment. The audience was well pleased with the singing and addresses, yet were disappointed at not having the pleasure of hearing Gen. Gobin, who failed to get here.

Mark Twain on the Jews.

The Jew is not a disturber of the peace in any country. Even his enemies will concede that. He is not a loafer, he is not a sot, he is not noisy, he is not a brawler or a rioter, he is not quarrelsome.

In the statistics of crime his presence is conspicuously rare—in all countries. With murder and other crimes of violence he has little to do; he is a stranger to the hangman. In the police court's daily long roll of "assaults" and "drunk and disorderlies" his name seldom appears. That the Jewish home is a home in the truest sense is a fact which no one will dispute. The family is knitted together by the strongest affections; its members show each other every due respect, and reverence for the elders is an inviolate law of the house.

The Jew is not a burden on the charities of the State, nor of the city; these could cease from their functions without affecting him. When he is well works, when he is incapacitated his own people take care of him. And not in a poor and stingy way, but with a fine and large benevolence. His race is entitled to be called the most benevolent of all the races of men. A Jewish beggar is not impossible perhaps; such a thing may exist, but there are few men that can say they have seen that spectacle. The Jew has been staged in many uncomplimentary forms but, so far as I know, no dramatist has done him the injustice to stage him as a beggar. Whenever a Jew has real need to beg his people save him the necessity of doing it. The charitable institutions of the Jews are supported by Jewish money and ample. The Jews make no noise about it; it is done quietly; they do not nag and harass us with contributions; they give us peace and set us an example—an example which we have not found ourselves able to follow.—Mark Twain in Harper's Magazine.
